

AN Eloquent Discourse Entitled: "IMITATORS OF GOD."

The Rev. Dr. John H. Moore, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, delivered this discourse at the annual conference of the denomination at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 10, 1906.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Dr. John Reid, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, preached an eloquent sermon Sunday morning. His text was taken from Isaiah 66: 2: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children." Dr. Reid said: "The Revised Version gives a better and stronger translation: 'Be ye therefore imitators of God, as beloved children. Imitators, as children. Being children of God, be ye imitators of God.'"

Truth is practically always achievement, and achievement is the result of the truth. There are what the metaphysicians call "immediate truths," that is, truth in connection with which our knowledge is intuitive, and where it comes in as the direct and undeniable testimony of the senses, but as a general truth, acquired truth is the result of work done, the issue of a battle which has been won. In other words, truth has to conquer before it can command. But in conflict or warfare of whatsoever kind, disguise is ever a worse foe to us than the enemy.

Photo Public Workmen.—European inspectors take snapshots of men engaged on public work. The photos, in some cases, are more eloquent than any report could be. One showed a group of thirty men on a road-paving job. Two of the thirty were at work.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or impaired hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Since cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free. F. J. CLEMENT & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The New Megaphone.—The day of the brass megaphone is over. The latest thing in a megaphone mouthpiece is one built like a big morning glory, and colored accordingly, red, white or blue. They are very showy and dealers expect a big sale for them.

PITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use. Dr. R. H. Kane's Great Nerve Restorer, 611 North 1st Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The game of chess is still taught in Russian schools.

Pico's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure. J. W. O'Brien, 323 Third Avenue, N. Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1906.

The pack horses of Nagasaki, Japan, wear shoes of straw.

A dude preacher generally produces dead sermons. So. 46.

Celebration in Rural England.—In certain districts in England a mixture of butter, sugar, spices and rum, called "rum butter," is made when a child is born. A special bowl of the delicacy is hidden in some out-of-the-way place in the house. Then a number of young fellows of the neighborhood search for it. Sometimes they succeed in locating it and at other times they fail. After eating the rum butter a collection is made among those present, and the money contributed is placed in the bowl for the newborn child, and returned along with the bowl to the house where it was procured.

Garman Scholar Honored.—Kuno Fischer, the renowned philosopher and teacher of Heidelberg, among the most distinguished of living professors and the last representative of a great school of German scholars, reached his eightieth birthday recently. In spite of the old man's protests thousands of students who have sat at his feet and gone to their reverential and affectionate feelings by messages and otherwise. Even the grave old senate of Heidelberg rose to the occasion and established an honorary Kuno Fischer prize. The great old man is rapidly declining.

There is a good deal of difference between the sensation of the Gospel and the gospel of sensation.

Miss Whittaker, a prominent club woman of Savannah, Ga., tells how she was entirely cured of ovarian troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and I never had a very truly woman. Miss EASY WHITTAKER, 604 39th St., W. Savannah, Ga.—$500 forfeit if I am not cured by your Compound.

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women prove beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM.

The Rev. Dr. John H. Moore, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, delivered this discourse at the annual conference of the denomination at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 10, 1906.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Dr. John Reid, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, preached an eloquent sermon Sunday morning. His text was taken from Isaiah 66: 2: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children." Dr. Reid said: "The Revised Version gives a better and stronger translation: 'Be ye therefore imitators of God, as beloved children. Imitators, as children. Being children of God, be ye imitators of God.'"

There, for instance, is the somewhat trite truth that Christianity is a narrow way in its spirit and contracting in its effect: under it as a system men do not attain the highest possible development, and that it is frequently affirmed as a trite truth; namely, that the Christian religion has always suffered more from those who, sometimes intentionally and sometimes unintentionally, have perverted and misinterpreted it, than it has ever suffered from those who have even formally opposed it.

Yet from the beginning to end this whole criticism that Christianity is narrow in its spirit and contracting in its effects moves directly against the life of the church. It is bound by a lifeless process. It is of necessity linked to a living Person. And in Christianity, it is the Almighty God who is the standard. Men are everlastingly exhorted and expected to ascertain His will, to keep His word, to lay hold of His strength, to walk in His light, and so to do as they see Him do.

God Dominates All.—The mountains of Fujiyama dominate the landscape in Japan, as the temple hills of Jerusalem dominated the scene far all around, so we believe in the supremacy of this vast community, so as to dominate it all. The sense of God is not fading; it is increasing. To Him we lift up our eyes as unto the mountain and the hills, and to nourish this consciousness of God, and to express it in lives of spiritual power. Oh, then, how one comes to love the church when once her rest is made in God. We are set to invite the world to come to this true home. Wandering hearts, unsteady consciences, troubled souls, come to the home of homes, let God's great love and blessed service. Let the wide, wide, that the multitudes may press into the home of their hearts. Oh, church of God! let your faith be large and bright, that the world may see in you that the world may come to God who dwells in you, and more become a home to the children of men, through Jesus Christ, the Saviour.

The Christian's Answer.—This is the reply we Christians make to those who say that religion is mythical and that it retreats into some secret place where no mere intellectuality can wholly follow it. It is surely mystical in these intimate experiences of the soul, but does it come forth again into the open air of the activities of human life, out in the open world a chastened, beautified and purified spirit? This is our answer. God's dominion over all things is not still our answer. God is our home. Slowly we yield our stubborn natures to His constant pressure. His presence is our best education. He is the great teacher of human life. Differ as we may in our needs and philosophies, this is the issue of religion, this is the product of fellowship with Him, our Father, our God, our eternal refuge and home.

An Impressive Spectacle.—When you stop to consider what the church of God is, the spectacle of hundreds of thousands of millions of souls wending their way to the places of worship throughout the land becomes impressive. Why do they come? What is the permanent element in life that maintains this vast interest? Changes occur among nations, institutions rise and fall, traditions wax and wane, creeds are made and unmade, and yet men continue to worship.

Lead a Simple Life.—Be content to lead a simple life where God has placed you. Be obedient; bear your little crosses; you need them, and God gives them to you out of pure mercy.—Fenelon.

"Poor White Trash."—Stanford White, the architect, has a sad for collecting statuary which often affords his friends a chance to air their wit. He has set so many sculptured figures on his lawn—Gramercy park and Lexington avenue—that he has had to put some later acquisitions across the street on the grass plot of his friend, H. W. Poor, the banker.

Oliver Herford, whose caustic wit does not all go into his books, passed these decorated lots with a friend from New Orleans.

"What's all that?" asked the stranger.

"Oh, just some Poor White trash," answered Herford.—New York Times.

To Put Police on Watch.

The Rev. Dr. John H. Moore, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, delivered this discourse at the annual conference of the denomination at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 10, 1906.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Dr. John Reid, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, preached an eloquent sermon Sunday morning. His text was taken from Isaiah 66: 2: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children." Dr. Reid said: "The Revised Version gives a better and stronger translation: 'Be ye therefore imitators of God, as beloved children. Imitators, as children. Being children of God, be ye imitators of God.'"

There, for instance, is the somewhat trite truth that Christianity is a narrow way in its spirit and contracting in its effect: under it as a system men do not attain the highest possible development, and that it is frequently affirmed as a trite truth; namely, that the Christian religion has always suffered more from those who, sometimes intentionally and sometimes unintentionally, have perverted and misinterpreted it, than it has ever suffered from those who have even formally opposed it.

Yet from the beginning to end this whole criticism that Christianity is narrow in its spirit and contracting in its effects moves directly against the life of the church. It is bound by a lifeless process. It is of necessity linked to a living Person. And in Christianity, it is the Almighty God who is the standard. Men are everlastingly exhorted and expected to ascertain His will, to keep His word, to lay hold of His strength, to walk in His light, and so to do as they see Him do.

God Dominates All.—The mountains of Fujiyama dominate the landscape in Japan, as the temple hills of Jerusalem dominated the scene far all around, so we believe in the supremacy of this vast community, so as to dominate it all. The sense of God is not fading; it is increasing. To Him we lift up our eyes as unto the mountain and the hills, and to nourish this consciousness of God, and to express it in lives of spiritual power. Oh, then, how one comes to love the church when once her rest is made in God. We are set to invite the world to come to this true home. Wandering hearts, unsteady consciences, troubled souls, come to the home of homes, let God's great love and blessed service. Let the wide, wide, that the multitudes may press into the home of their hearts. Oh, church of God! let your faith be large and bright, that the world may see in you that the world may come to God who dwells in you, and more become a home to the children of men, through Jesus Christ, the Saviour.

The Christian's Answer.—This is the reply we Christians make to those who say that religion is mythical and that it retreats into some secret place where no mere intellectuality can wholly follow it. It is surely mystical in these intimate experiences of the soul, but does it come forth again into the open air of the activities of human life, out in the open world a chastened, beautified and purified spirit? This is our answer. God's dominion over all things is not still our answer. God is our home. Slowly we yield our stubborn natures to His constant pressure. His presence is our best education. He is the great teacher of human life. Differ as we may in our needs and philosophies, this is the issue of religion, this is the product of fellowship with Him, our Father, our God, our eternal refuge and home.

An Impressive Spectacle.—When you stop to consider what the church of God is, the spectacle of hundreds of thousands of millions of souls wending their way to the places of worship throughout the land becomes impressive. Why do they come? What is the permanent element in life that maintains this vast interest? Changes occur among nations, institutions rise and fall, traditions wax and wane, creeds are made and unmade, and yet men continue to worship.

Lead a Simple Life.—Be content to lead a simple life where God has placed you. Be obedient; bear your little crosses; you need them, and God gives them to you out of pure mercy.—Fenelon.

"Poor White Trash."—Stanford White, the architect, has a sad for collecting statuary which often affords his friends a chance to air their wit. He has set so many sculptured figures on his lawn—Gramercy park and Lexington avenue—that he has had to put some later acquisitions across the street on the grass plot of his friend, H. W. Poor, the banker.

Oliver Herford, whose caustic wit does not all go into his books, passed these decorated lots with a friend from New Orleans.

"What's all that?" asked the stranger.

"Oh, just some Poor White trash," answered Herford.—New York Times.

To Put Police on Watch.

At Hartford, Conn. it is proposed to sound a certain alarm on the fire system immediately after each murder, as a signal to put the officers throughout the city on their guard at once. All suspicious characters could then be taken in hand on the shortest notice.

WOMEN

BROWN SWELL POPULAR.—Brown will be held in more favor than ever in the coming season. It is remarkable how the color has lasted during the last couple of years. Unlike blue, green or red, brown goes completely out of fashion at times, reappearing for a season or two. Rarely has it lasted as long as during its last revival.

AS TO BODICE FULLNESS.—One must have sufficient fullness for the front of the bodice, and yet not too much, nor in the wrong place. The bodice must neither look baggy nor should it pouch. The fullness must be from side to side, but there must be little or no drop to the folds or pleats. The fullness must be kept well to the front and not be allowed to push around under the arms.

The lack of pouching is especially noticeable in evening gowns, as distinguishing them from those made last season. Bodices worn in the daylight hours are permitted somewhat more drop.

The next arrangement of bodice fullness is more noticeable in profile than in front view.

CONTROL YOUR NERVES.—When you sit down to rest, be still, and do not start at every little noise. A long continued noise might have a wearing effect upon the nerves, but the little noises that are over in a moment hurt no one, and it is quite absurd to jump and start as some people do at them. Control of nervous movements acts beneficially on the nerves themselves; whereas, if the nerves are allowed to run riot, bodily health is impossible. Uncontrolled nerves are responsible for terrible disasters caused by panics in fires and other accidents, which often result in the loss of hundreds of lives. Giving way to nerves without a struggle for mastery over them is, therefore, not only very bad for oneself, but exceedingly selfish to one's neighbors. Every one should strive to attain a quiet, even manner under all circumstances, and then, when an emergency comes, the chances are that they will be able to act with cool courage.

IF YOU ARE GOING ABROAD.—For an ocean voyage and for short trips when in Europe, be content with as few clothes as you think will suffice. Here are some suggestions as to what have been found necessary and appropriate: A dark tailor suit, soft silk, flannel or cotton blouse, tie, combination underwear, shorts, overshoes, a wrapper, thick shoes, overshoes, slippers or low shoes, damp-proof hat, raincoat, and a China silk, black groundine or chiffon dress over black silk for evening wear at hotels. To this list it is advisable to add a rainy day dress with shorter skirt to save the tailor suit.

Some preferred pongee or wash silk night dresses, which may be easily washed and need no ironing. For a trip by sea it is a good plan to wear old underwear, which may be discarded at the end of the journey; so if worn underwear is mended and put aside in anticipation of a trip, a large laundry bill may thus be avoided.

Money and valuables may be carried in many ways, in safety belts, in envelopes of linen or chamois worn about the neck, or in safety pockets. Carry in your purse only what money you can think you will be called upon to use in the course of a single day.

RENOVATING A FARM HOUSE.—The problem of renovating an old farmhouse is always a fascinating one, says Harper's Bazar, in answer to a correspondent. The difficulties are often many, but one can enjoy satisfactory results all the more on that account. Gray paint, with white trimmings, will be very attractive among the green trees, especially when you have succeeded in covering it with ivy.

Keep the gray as light as possible, so as to avoid the gloomy appearance which a darker color is apt to give. Your idea of keeping the rooms in harmony by using tones of the same color is a very good and very interesting work up. Taking up the parlor first, let this have a pale yellow daisk paper. Paint the woodwork white, and remove the rail, since it seems to lack purpose here. Have a rug on which old blue or dark blue is the predominant color, combined with yellows and browns. Cover your furniture with yellow and old blue brocade, but instead of denim for your portieres, have a soft losey woven mercerized cotton or linen, preferably of golden brown.

In the drawing-room, the woodwork can be painted white. For the walls two schemes have suggested themselves. Move your rail up until it is about four feet from the floor, for the first scheme. From the base board up to this rail have a golden-brown burlap, and from the rail up a heavy paper in large conventionalized figures of a rich yellow, toning into the brown of the burlap. For the second scheme move your rail up to within two feet of the ceiling, or, if you have a picture molding there, remove it entirely. Have a paper of the same character as that just suggested, but in shades of wood browns and tans. Above the rail have a plain tan paper and continue it to the ceiling. In the small room back of the dining room, have plain yellow or tan paper to harmonize with that in the dining room. The east bedroom would be very attractive with a dainty yellow and white flowered stripe on the wall, especially if you combine with this some of the fascinating English chintzes with corresponding design. Both will harmonize with your black walnut furniture. Upstairs the maids' room can be in Delft blue and white, and the other room in pink and white. Use white enamel furniture in both these rooms. Wax all your hardwood

WOMEN

FOR THE BABY.—Many a mother is puzzled to know how to feed her young child. She knows how to feed a baby, she can manage a child of ten or twelve, but the little one at four is at a puzzling age. With a view to solving this problem, the students at Teachers' College have made out several model diets for a child of this age, in accordance with Prof. Atwater's standard. These diets formed a part of the exceedingly interesting exhibition just held by the domestic science department in the Educational Museum.

Professor Atwater's standard of nutrition for a child of four calls for twelve per cent. proteins, nine per cent. fat, 35 pound of carbohydrates and 1420 calories. The average, scientific mother is not supposed to know much about fats and proteins, of course. The thing to do is either to accept the ready made menus of authorities on dietaries, or to model some of one's own very closely upon them.

Here is one of the Teachers' College series of a day's menus:
For Breakfast—The juice of half an orange, four tablespoonfuls of farina, half a cup of milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one slice of bread, half a teaspoonful of butter, one cup of milk.
For 10 O'clock Luncheon—One cup of milk, two tablespoonfuls of stewed raisins, one slice of bread, half a teaspoonful of butter.
For Dinner—One ounce of lamb chops, two tablespoonfuls of green peas, three tablespoonfuls of boiled rice, half a slice of bread, half a teaspoonful of butter and half a cup of junket.
For Supper—One cup of milk, one egg, one slice of bread, half a teaspoonful of butter.

The peas and rice are to be served with butter. The slice of bread is cut half an inch thick, from a square loaf, and equals an ounce. The materials are weighed before cooking. Highly interesting also is the hygienic outfit for an infant, with its pasteurizing plant, its schedules of quantities, and its little hospital bottles containing each the exact amount prescribed by the medical profession for stated periods in the infant's life—so many feedings a day for the first four days, up to four weeks old, six weeks, eight weeks and four months. In this connection of special interest is the table giving the cost of feeding the first year of its life. If you buy modified milk, it will cost you just $180; if guaranteed milk, then the cost drops to $52.75. But if certified milk is used, then one may keep a baby for only $41.80 for the whole year. All this milk is of superior quality, and comes from dairies with big names. The table ignores the seven-cent-a-quart baby, a: the three-cent-a-quart skim milk corner grocery baby is not in it.—New York Tribune.

FASHION NOTES.—Burnt orange is the very latest tint in leather.
Walking skirts of cream rep share favor with the lineas.
Tan bags with braided handles of a darker shade are just out.
Colored leathers are to be more used than for many seasons past.

It is said that the new jacket will certainly be long and close fitting. Many military ideas are prominent in the new autumn leather exhibits. Already sleeves are beginning to spring direct from the shoulder line. Browns and tans, combined with creams and greens, will be much worn. There seems to be a decided tendency toward the evolution of handbags without frames. A mottled seal in every conceivable shade to match a variety of costumes is a novelty. Fancy a hat of cigar brown tulle with crown of nasturtiums and saucy tulle strings.

The world-be modish girl will need to make her full cut sleeves tight for fashionable wear.
A collar much liked is the buttoned embroidery hand edged with a frill, a colored ribbon running around through the band to tie in a bow in front.
Carriage, hat-iron, envelope, vanity, Peggy, Boston, auto, avenue, military, promenade double frame Nettske and chaineau bags are with us, which will give milady a large choice to pick from.

Fighting "En Deusthelle." It is reported from Liao-Yang, says the Westminster Gazette, that owing to the heat the soldiers often fight in their underclothes. The most remarkable instance of fighting on despicable clothing is that of the soldiers of the 3rd Division of the 2nd Army, which took place in 1544 on the shores of Loch Lochy, in the Highlands of Scotland, between a band of Frasers and Macdonalds. The day was so hot that the combatants threw off not only their plaids, but the rest of their clothes, and went at it in their shirts. Even then the heat was unbearable, and many, wearied with the big two-handed swords, rushed into the cool waters of the loch and fought there with their dirks. Lord Lovat, whose desperate valor earned for him the name of "Cruaidh Chosair" (the hardy slaughterer), and his son were killed. In fact, it is said that only four of the Frasers came out of the fight alive, and not many more of the Macdonalds, who, however, secured the victory.

The promoters of the Irish Industrial Exhibition of 1906 are getting on. They have gathered in £100,000 of the £150,000 they aim at before beginning the building.

WOMEN

Election Returns That Interest All Parties.

CASCARET
BEST FOR THE BOWELS
CANDY CATHARTIC

GUARANTEED CURE for all bowel troubles, appendicitis, biliousness, bad breath, bad pain on the stomach, bloated bowels, foul mouth, headache, indigestion, pimples, regularly you are sick. Cascaret kills more people than all other diseases together. CASCIARET today, for you will never get well and stay well until you get your bowels money refunded. Take our advice, start with Cascaret today under absolute guarantee to cure or booklet free. Address Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

WINCHESTER
RIFLE & PISTOL CARTRIDGES.
"It's the shots that hit that count." Winchester Rifle and Pistol Cartridges in all calibers hit, that is, they shoot accurately and strike a good, hard, penetrating blow. This is the kind of cartridges you will get, if you insist on having the time-tried Winchester make.

ALL EMERGENCIES IN THE FAMILY OR ON THE FARM FOR MAN OR BEAST
SLOAN'S LINIMENT
KILLS PAIN KILLS GERMS
DR. EARL S. SLOAN 615 ALBANY ST. BOSTON, MASS.

ORN MILLS
If in need of Corn Mill or Millstones you will find it interesting to correspond with CAROLINA MILLSTONE CO., of Gastonia, N. C., Manufacturers of CORN MILLS from the famous Moore County Grit.
CURED Dropsy
Remove all swelling in 10 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 40 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing but the fairer. Write Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Specialists, Box 5, Atlanta, Ga.

THE FISH BRAND SLICKER A VALUED FRIEND
"A good many years ago I bought a FISH BRAND Slicker, and it has proven a valued friend for many a stormy day, but now it is getting old and I must have another. Please send me a price-list."
(The name of this worthy doctor, obliged to be in all sorts of weather, will be given on application.)

A. J. TOWER CO.
TOWERS COMPANY, Limited Toronto, Canada
Wet Weather Clothing, Suits, and Hats for all kinds of wet work or sport.

W.L. DOUGLAS
W.L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.
PISO'S CURE FOR
W.L. Douglas uses Corona Coltskin in his shoes. Corona Coltskin is the best Patent Leather made. East Color Shoes are the best made in the world.