

THE HARRY DISPATCH.

The Harry Dispatch
IS ISSUED EVERY
THURSDAY MORNING
AT CONWAYSBORO, S. C.
BY GILBERT & DARR.

TWO DOLLARS invariably in advance. No paper will be sent out of the District, without the money accompanying the order.
Advertisements inserted at Seventy-five cents per square, (12 lines or less) for the first insertion, and half that sum for each subsequent insertion.
The number of insertions to be marked on all advertisements, so they will be published until ordered to be discontinued, and charged accordingly.
One Dollar per square for a single insertion. Quarterly and monthly advertisements will be charged the same as a single insertion, and semi-annually, the amount will be paid in advance.

Massachusetts and England.
It is noticeable that the 27th of May, 1862, is the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. It is also the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence of the Southern States. The Southern States have declared their independence of the North and the American Union.
When the sons of Massachusetts were assembled in England, they had to their credit, and when they had exhausted their resources, they had to their credit, the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The Southern States have done the same. They have declared their independence of the North and the American Union.
The Southern States have done the same. They have declared their independence of the North and the American Union.

Harry Dispatch

EDITOR,
JOSEPH T. WALSH.
Thursday Morning, May 16.

The Editor and Proprietor of the Harry Dispatch, will be glad to receive communications from our readers, and to publish them, if they are of interest to our readers. All communications should be addressed to the Editor, and should be accompanied by the name of the author, and the address to which they should be sent. The Editor will not be responsible for the return of communications, unless accompanied by a return address. The Editor will not be responsible for the return of communications, unless accompanied by a return address.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.
An absolute necessity for the country, to have an existing General Election, has been declared by the Executive Council of the State.
The bodies of Pendleton, S. C., quite a small town, have been offered to the people of the State, for sale, at a price of $100,000.
The bodies of Pendleton, S. C., quite a small town, have been offered to the people of the State, for sale, at a price of $100,000.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.
An absolute necessity for the country, to have an existing General Election, has been declared by the Executive Council of the State.
The bodies of Pendleton, S. C., quite a small town, have been offered to the people of the State, for sale, at a price of $100,000.
The bodies of Pendleton, S. C., quite a small town, have been offered to the people of the State, for sale, at a price of $100,000.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.
An absolute necessity for the country, to have an existing General Election, has been declared by the Executive Council of the State.
The bodies of Pendleton, S. C., quite a small town, have been offered to the people of the State, for sale, at a price of $100,000.
The bodies of Pendleton, S. C., quite a small town, have been offered to the people of the State, for sale, at a price of $100,000.

THE SEABOARD.
The people of our country, and the people of the world, are largely dependent on all our war, as volunteers, or hired riflemen and horsemen, with our railroads extending in every direction, and with strongholds in every swamp, it will be scarcely possible for an army to land anywhere on our shores, save at the risk of being overwhelmed by numbers.
With a few pounds of parboiled grain of Indian corn, and a little of dried beef, and a tin cup to dip water from the brook, a blanket, water-proof cape, his rifle, bow-knife and revolver, the pioneer might strike the field and keep it for a fortnight, without the encumbrance of baggage, or of a commissary department. Acting with promptness, he might, in large bodies or in small squads, thoroughly acquainted with the woods, water courses, swamps and paths, expert boatmen and well accustomed to the stratagems of the sportsman, he might spend all the hours of the day and night, and by this exhausting process arrest the advance of invaders, till more regularly drilled forces could be brought to bear on them.

VERY MEMORABLE.—The Boston papers publish the following "mild" proposition which they report to be the universal sentiment of Yankeeism. On reading them, Southerners will doubtless hasten to disperse and retire to their respective homes.
CONDITIONS OF PEACE REQUIRED OF THE SOVEREIGN STATES.
Article 1. Unconditional submission to the Government of the United States.
Article 2. To deliver up one hundred of the best traders to be hung.
Article 3. To put on record the names of all ships who have been traitorous to the Government, who shall be held infamous and dishonored forever.
Article 4. The property of all traitors to be confiscated to pay the damage.
Article 5. The Seceded States to pay all the balance of the expense, and restore all stolen property.
Article 6. The payment of all debts due to Northerners, and indemnity for all indignities to persons, loss of time, life and property.
Article 7. The removal of the cause of all obstructions which can only be done by the immediate and unconditional abolition of slavery.
Article 8. Until a full compliance with all the above terms, the so-called Seceded States to be held and governed as United States Territory.

Hampden's Legion.
We have been authorized to state, that a company for this legion is being organized in this section, and that an opportunity will be offered to our District to assist in its organization. The object and nature of which are fully explained in the sheeting given below. It is believed that a post of high honor will be assigned to this corps, and we hope that the men of Harry and God of such a position. Persons desiring to volunteer, should apply at this office.
Editor Mercury: As various inquiries have been made by reference to the Legion which the President has honored me with a commission to raise, I beg you to allow me to give, through your paper, such information as may be necessary to those who wish to enlist in this corps.
The object of those who are organized in this matter, is to raise an Independent Legion, to consist of six companies of Infantry, or Volunteers, four of Cavalry, and one of Flying Artillery. The Field Officers to be appointed by the President, and each company to elect its own officers, who will then receive commissions from the President.
As soon as the organization of this corps is complete, it will be received into the Provisional Army of the Confederate States for one year, unless its services should not be required for so long a time, in which case the President can discharge it. The Legion is to serve wherever it may be ordered by the President and is to be on precisely the same footing, except as to its peculiar organization, as the rest of the Provisional Army. The cavalry will furnish their own horses, and as far as possible, their own arms and equipment. A man must have a sabre and two of Collets. Should any horses be lost in the service, they will be paid for.
The Infantry I wish armed with Enfield Rifles, and the Governor has kindly promised to furnish them as far as he is able to do so, and he will also provide the battery. As soon as the companies report themselves ready for duty, they will be ordered into camp for the purpose of drilling together. It is very desirable to have this corps ready at an early day, as I have every reason to hope that it will at once be ordered into active service. Any one desiring further information on this subject can apply to Lieut. Col. B. A. Johnson, Charleston, or to myself, at Columbia.

Raymond's wise Plans.
Raymond of the New York Times, now and then astonishes his readers, with his mighty skill and military wisdom, evinced in his plans for a successful invasion of the South. He has long ago pronounced Lincoln to be incapable of executing these plans, and as they have not yet been noticed by Scott, he hints that he will be the president and his general man must have a sabre and two of Collets. Should any horses be lost in the service, they will be paid for.
The Infantry I wish armed with Enfield Rifles, and the Governor has kindly promised to furnish them as far as he is able to do so, and he will also provide the battery. As soon as the companies report themselves ready for duty, they will be ordered into camp for the purpose of drilling together. It is very desirable to have this corps ready at an early day, as I have every reason to hope that it will at once be ordered into active service. Any one desiring further information on this subject can apply to Lieut. Col. B. A. Johnson, Charleston, or to myself, at Columbia.

Some what Relieved.
The New York Times in an article headed, "All Right Now," expresses a degree of satisfaction at the results of the recent and early display by Lincoln in gathering a mob of ruffians at Washington, and proclaims the earnest desire that this mob will not stop at that city, but will extend its march over the whole South, conquering and to conquer every rebel against Republican tyranny. The Editor is unwilling that it should stop at Washington—that city is too near to New York, Ellsworth's Five Zouaves, and Wilson's Pet Rabbits, the First Point Cohorts, and the Cow Bay Legions, after having been well armed, and raised with a military power, might take it into their heads, that it would pay better to retrace their steps, and seek home again, where plunder would be more easy, and abundant, than in the South. Well may Mr. Raymond, and all the arch deists, of the Northern Press, be a little more at ease. Tens of thousands of poor hungry wretches, at the point of starvation, were just about awaking to the knowledge of the fact that the very men were the cause of their

Some what Relieved.
The New York Times in an article headed, "All Right Now," expresses a degree of satisfaction at the results of the recent and early display by Lincoln in gathering a mob of ruffians at Washington, and proclaims the earnest desire that this mob will not stop at that city, but will extend its march over the whole South, conquering and to conquer every rebel against Republican tyranny. The Editor is unwilling that it should stop at Washington—that city is too near to New York, Ellsworth's Five Zouaves, and Wilson's Pet Rabbits, the First Point Cohorts, and the Cow Bay Legions, after having been well armed, and raised with a military power, might take it into their heads, that it would pay better to retrace their steps, and seek home again, where plunder would be more easy, and abundant, than in the South. Well may Mr. Raymond, and all the arch deists, of the Northern Press, be a little more at ease. Tens of thousands of poor hungry wretches, at the point of starvation, were just about awaking to the knowledge of the fact that the very men were the cause of their

THE SEABOARD.
The people of our country, and the people of the world, are largely dependent on all our war, as volunteers, or hired riflemen and horsemen, with our railroads extending in every direction, and with strongholds in every swamp, it will be scarcely possible for an army to land anywhere on our shores, save at the risk of being overwhelmed by numbers.
With a few pounds of parboiled grain of Indian corn, and a little of dried beef, and a tin cup to dip water from the brook, a blanket, water-proof cape, his rifle, bow-knife and revolver, the pioneer might strike the field and keep it for a fortnight, without the encumbrance of baggage, or of a commissary department. Acting with promptness, he might, in large bodies or in small squads, thoroughly acquainted with the woods, water courses, swamps and paths, expert boatmen and well accustomed to the stratagems of the sportsman, he might spend all the hours of the day and night, and by this exhausting process arrest the advance of invaders, till more regularly drilled forces could be brought to bear on them.

VERY MEMORABLE.—The Boston papers publish the following "mild" proposition which they report to be the universal sentiment of Yankeeism. On reading them, Southerners will doubtless hasten to disperse and retire to their respective homes.
CONDITIONS OF PEACE REQUIRED OF THE SOVEREIGN STATES.
Article 1. Unconditional submission to the Government of the United States.
Article 2. To deliver up one hundred of the best traders to be hung.
Article 3. To put on record the names of all ships who have been traitorous to the Government, who shall be held infamous and dishonored forever.
Article 4. The property of all traitors to be confiscated to pay the damage.
Article 5. The Seceded States to pay all the balance of the expense, and restore all stolen property.
Article 6. The payment of all debts due to Northerners, and indemnity for all indignities to persons, loss of time, life and property.
Article 7. The removal of the cause of all obstructions which can only be done by the immediate and unconditional abolition of slavery.
Article 8. Until a full compliance with all the above terms, the so-called Seceded States to be held and governed as United States Territory.

Hampden's Legion.
We have been authorized to state, that a company for this legion is being organized in this section, and that an opportunity will be offered to our District to assist in its organization. The object and nature of which are fully explained in the sheeting given below. It is believed that a post of high honor will be assigned to this corps, and we hope that the men of Harry and God of such a position. Persons desiring to volunteer, should apply at this office.
Editor Mercury: As various inquiries have been made by reference to the Legion which the President has honored me with a commission to raise, I beg you to allow me to give, through your paper, such information as may be necessary to those who wish to enlist in this corps.
The object of those who are organized in this matter, is to raise an Independent Legion, to consist of six companies of Infantry, or Volunteers, four of Cavalry, and one of Flying Artillery. The Field Officers to be appointed by the President, and each company to elect its own officers, who will then receive commissions from the President.
As soon as the organization of this corps is complete, it will be received into the Provisional Army of the Confederate States for one year, unless its services should not be required for so long a time, in which case the President can discharge it. The Legion is to serve wherever it may be ordered by the President and is to be on precisely the same footing, except as to its peculiar organization, as the rest of the Provisional Army. The cavalry will furnish their own horses, and as far as possible, their own arms and equipment. A man must have a sabre and two of Collets. Should any horses be lost in the service, they will be paid for.
The Infantry I wish armed with Enfield Rifles, and the Governor has kindly promised to furnish them as far as he is able to do so, and he will also provide the battery. As soon as the companies report themselves ready for duty, they will be ordered into camp for the purpose of drilling together. It is very desirable to have this corps ready at an early day, as I have every reason to hope that it will at once be ordered into active service. Any one desiring further information on this subject can apply to Lieut. Col. B. A. Johnson, Charleston, or to myself, at Columbia.

Raymond's wise Plans.
Raymond of the New York Times, now and then astonishes his readers, with his mighty skill and military wisdom, evinced in his plans for a successful invasion of the South. He has long ago pronounced Lincoln to be incapable of executing these plans, and as they have not yet been noticed by Scott, he hints that he will be the president and his general man must have a sabre and two of Collets. Should any horses be lost in the service, they will be paid for.
The Infantry I wish armed with Enfield Rifles, and the Governor has kindly promised to furnish them as far as he is able to do so, and he will also provide the battery. As soon as the companies report themselves ready for duty, they will be ordered into camp for the purpose of drilling together. It is very desirable to have this corps ready at an early day, as I have every reason to hope that it will at once be ordered into active service. Any one desiring further information on this subject can apply to Lieut. Col. B. A. Johnson, Charleston, or to myself, at Columbia.

Some what Relieved.
The New York Times in an article headed, "All Right Now," expresses a degree of satisfaction at the results of the recent and early display by Lincoln in gathering a mob of ruffians at Washington, and proclaims the earnest desire that this mob will not stop at that city, but will extend its march over the whole South, conquering and to conquer every rebel against Republican tyranny. The Editor is unwilling that it should stop at Washington—that city is too near to New York, Ellsworth's Five Zouaves, and Wilson's Pet Rabbits, the First Point Cohorts, and the Cow Bay Legions, after having been well armed, and raised with a military power, might take it into their heads, that it would pay better to retrace their steps, and seek home again, where plunder would be more easy, and abundant, than in the South. Well may Mr. Raymond, and all the arch deists, of the Northern Press, be a little more at ease. Tens of thousands of poor hungry wretches, at the point of starvation, were just about awaking to the knowledge of the fact that the very men were the cause of their

Some what Relieved.
The New York Times in an article headed, "All Right Now," expresses a degree of satisfaction at the results of the recent and early display by Lincoln in gathering a mob of ruffians at Washington, and proclaims the earnest desire that this mob will not stop at that city, but will extend its march over the whole South, conquering and to conquer every rebel against Republican tyranny. The Editor is unwilling that it should stop at Washington—that city is too near to New York, Ellsworth's Five Zouaves, and Wilson's Pet Rabbits, the First Point Cohorts, and the Cow Bay Legions, after having been well armed, and raised with a military power, might take it into their heads, that it would pay better to retrace their steps, and seek home again, where plunder would be more easy, and abundant, than in the South. Well may Mr. Raymond, and all the arch deists, of the Northern Press, be a little more at ease. Tens of thousands of poor hungry wretches, at the point of starvation, were just about awaking to the knowledge of the fact that the very men were the cause of their

THE SEABOARD.
The people of our country, and the people of the world, are largely dependent on all our war, as volunteers, or hired riflemen and horsemen, with our railroads extending in every direction, and with strongholds in every swamp, it will be scarcely possible for an army to land anywhere on our shores, save at the risk of being overwhelmed by numbers.
With a few pounds of parboiled grain of Indian corn, and a little of dried beef, and a tin cup to dip water from the brook, a blanket, water-proof cape, his rifle, bow-knife and revolver, the pioneer might strike the field and keep it for a fortnight, without the encumbrance of baggage, or of a commissary department. Acting with promptness, he might, in large bodies or in small squads, thoroughly acquainted with the woods, water courses, swamps and paths, expert boatmen and well accustomed to the stratagems of the sportsman, he might spend all the hours of the day and night, and by this exhausting process arrest the advance of invaders, till more regularly drilled forces could be brought to bear on them.

VERY MEMORABLE.—The Boston papers publish the following "mild" proposition which they report to be the universal sentiment of Yankeeism. On reading them, Southerners will doubtless hasten to disperse and retire to their respective homes.
CONDITIONS OF PEACE REQUIRED OF THE SOVEREIGN STATES.
Article 1. Unconditional submission to the Government of the United States.
Article 2. To deliver up one hundred of the best traders to be hung.
Article 3. To put on record the names of all ships who have been traitorous to the Government, who shall be held infamous and dishonored forever.
Article 4. The property of all traitors to be confiscated to pay the damage.
Article 5. The Seceded States to pay all the balance of the expense, and restore all stolen property.
Article 6. The payment of all debts due to Northerners, and indemnity for all indignities to persons, loss of time, life and property.
Article 7. The removal of the cause of all obstructions which can only be done by the immediate and unconditional abolition of slavery.
Article 8. Until a full compliance with all the above terms, the so-called Seceded States to be held and governed as United States Territory.

Hampden's Legion.
We have been authorized to state, that a company for this legion is being organized in this section, and that an opportunity will be offered to our District to assist in its organization. The object and nature of which are fully explained in the sheeting given below. It is believed that a post of high honor will be assigned to this corps, and we hope that the men of Harry and God of such a position. Persons desiring to volunteer, should apply at this office.
Editor Mercury: As various inquiries have been made by reference to the Legion which the President has honored me with a commission to raise, I beg you to allow me to give, through your paper, such information as may be necessary to those who wish to enlist in this corps.
The object of those who are organized in this matter, is to raise an Independent Legion, to consist of six companies of Infantry, or Volunteers, four of Cavalry, and one of Flying Artillery. The Field Officers to be appointed by the President, and each company to elect its own officers, who will then receive commissions from the President.
As soon as the organization of this corps is complete, it will be received into the Provisional Army of the Confederate States for one year, unless its services should not be required for so long a time, in which case the President can discharge it. The Legion is to serve wherever it may be ordered by the President and is to be on precisely the same footing, except as to its peculiar organization, as the rest of the Provisional Army. The cavalry will furnish their own horses, and as far as possible, their own arms and equipment. A man must have a sabre and two of Collets. Should any horses be lost in the service, they will be paid for.
The Infantry I wish armed with Enfield Rifles, and the Governor has kindly promised to furnish them as far as he is able to do so, and he will also provide the battery. As soon as the companies report themselves ready for duty, they will be ordered into camp for the purpose of drilling together. It is very desirable to have this corps ready at an early day, as I have every reason to hope that it will at once be ordered into active service. Any one desiring further information on this subject can apply to Lieut. Col. B. A. Johnson, Charleston, or to myself, at Columbia.

Raymond's wise Plans.
Raymond of the New York Times, now and then astonishes his readers, with his mighty skill and military wisdom, evinced in his plans for a successful invasion of the South. He has long ago pronounced Lincoln to be incapable of executing these plans, and as they have not yet been noticed by Scott, he hints that he will be the president and his general man must have a sabre and two of Collets. Should any horses be lost in the service, they will be paid for.
The Infantry I wish armed with Enfield Rifles, and the Governor has kindly promised to furnish them as far as he is able to do so, and he will also provide the battery. As soon as the companies report themselves ready for duty, they will be ordered into camp for the purpose of drilling together. It is very desirable to have this corps ready at an early day, as I have every reason to hope that it will at once be ordered into active service. Any one desiring further information on this subject can apply to Lieut. Col. B. A. Johnson, Charleston, or to myself, at Columbia.

Some what Relieved.
The New York Times in an article headed, "All Right Now," expresses a degree of satisfaction at the results of the recent and early display by Lincoln in gathering a mob of ruffians at Washington, and proclaims the earnest desire that this mob will not stop at that city, but will extend its march over the whole South, conquering and to conquer every rebel against Republican tyranny. The Editor is unwilling that it should stop at Washington—that city is too near to New York, Ellsworth's Five Zouaves, and Wilson's Pet Rabbits, the First Point Cohorts, and the Cow Bay Legions, after having been well armed, and raised with a military power, might take it into their heads, that it would pay better to retrace their steps, and seek home again, where plunder would be more easy, and abundant, than in the South. Well may Mr. Raymond, and all the arch deists, of the Northern Press, be a little more at ease. Tens of thousands of poor hungry wretches, at the point of starvation, were just about awaking to the knowledge of the fact that the very men were the cause of their

Some what Relieved.
The New York Times in an article headed, "All Right Now," expresses a degree of satisfaction at the results of the recent and early display by Lincoln in gathering a mob of ruffians at Washington, and proclaims the earnest desire that this mob will not stop at that city, but will extend its march over the whole South, conquering and to conquer every rebel against Republican tyranny. The Editor is unwilling that it should stop at Washington—that city is too near to New York, Ellsworth's Five Zouaves, and Wilson's Pet Rabbits, the First Point Cohorts, and the Cow Bay Legions, after having been well armed, and raised with a military power, might take it into their heads, that it would pay better to retrace their steps, and seek home again, where plunder would be more easy, and abundant, than in the South. Well may Mr. Raymond, and all the arch deists, of the Northern Press, be a little more at ease. Tens of thousands of poor hungry wretches, at the point of starvation, were just about awaking to the knowledge of the fact that the very men were the cause of their