The hesitating "No," is so faintly pronounced that the young man, hitherto preoccupied with business looks up. "That 'No' sounded like 'Yes!' Who has been here?" "Only my brother George," Fanny answers in a low voice, and Mark, frowning, turns away and takes up a book. "My brother George" is his aversion, and the torment and trouble of his wife's family; always in difficulties, no sooner rescued from one scrape than rushing headlong into another, sometimes invisible for months, and suddenly reappearing receiving papers?" Their little servant, receive similar usage, and then, from behind all the rest, Fanny triumphantly takes out the small brown-paper parcel, and seals it with pink tape, and sealed with the office seal. Crying and laughing in one breath, the happy little wife is the next moment in her husband's arms, kissing and being kissed ad libitum. Little explanation was needed. The young man's brain, excited by extreme anxiety regarding his trust, had led to a search in every box, and drawer where he could possibly find such a packet to be afterwards remembered, as the

A New Translation of Scripture. The Macon Telegraph puts forth the following, which is a literal copy from a passage in the tenth chapter of Joshua, except the proper names: 1. Now it came to pass when Abe Lincoln, King of the Abolitionists at Washington city, had heard how Jeff. Davis had taken Fort Sumter, and how the inhabitants of Virginia had made peace with the children of Jeff. Davis, and were among them: 2. That he

LITTLE-OR-NOTHINGS. A sensible woman, the mother of a young family, taught her children to consider ill-humor, from the earliest childhood, as a disorder which was to be cured by physic. Accordingly she had always small doses ready, and the little patients, whenever it was needful, took rhubarb "for the crossness." No punishment was required to quell their ill temper, and they were cured in their infancy.

[From Dispatches to the Associated Press.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Upon charges made by Col. Blair, Major General Fremont has been ordered to report himself for trial by court martial. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 3d.—Dr. White, of Mulligan's brigade, brings information from Lexington, Mo., up to day night. Gen. Price had left Lexington, Mo., and his main body was moving Southward to effect a junction with Gen. McCulloch, and give Fremont a battle. Gen. Price anticipates an easy victory over Gen. Fremont. The Confederates then move to St. Louis, where 24,000 Secessionists will rise and welcome the Confederates with arms in their hands. Zollicoffer has broken up three regiments in Kentucky, capturing

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT. CHARLESTON, September 27, 1861. BY HIS EXCELLENCY, E. W. PICKENS, GOVERNOR AND COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF IN AND OVER THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

WHEREAS, information has been received at the Department, that LEWIS, a negro slave, the property of William Varn, of Darlington District, was tried and convicted of an atrocious offence against the dignity of the State, was sentenced to be hung on the 8th of November next, and escaped from the custody of the officer who had him in charge: Now, therefore, I, F. W. PICKENS, Governor of the State of South Carolina, do hereby offer a reward of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for his apprehension and delivery into any Jail in this State. The said LEWIS is about six feet high, weighs about one hundred and eighty pounds; has

PROSPECTUS OF THE "PORTFOLIO."

AT this particular time, when we have severed every political tie which bound us in vassalage to an oppressive North; when we have plucked our stars from the hateful and contaminating atmosphere of fanaticism, and placed them in the clear blue of our own Southern sky, that they may shine encircled with a halo of truth, adorning our own bright sunny land with their glorious lustre: when we have erected a new Republic, declared our independence to the world, it peculiarly becomes us as a people, to withdraw that patronage, hitherto so liberally bestowed upon those who have proven themselves our worst enemies, and extend a helping hand to those "to the manner born," who are true to our institutions, true to our principles, and to our native home: we should throw off all shackles that hold us in any wise dependent upon a section whose creed is inimical to our dearest rights; and whose people we can no longer contemplate with the pure and holy love of brotherhood.

The intelligence of a people is ever estimated by the character of their literature. We have intellects which will pale before none! Authors, whose graceful pens drop inklets of gold, and strew shining pearls of thought. Let us, then, turn our faces from the North, and seek literature for old and young within our own borders—establish literary enterprises of our own, and foster and maintain them. Believing that it is the desire, nay, intention, of our people to do this, we propose to establish

NOTICE.

MAJOR T. H. HOLMES, will act as Recruiting Master, to recruit for the ranks of the "Horry Volunteers," now in Virginia. Authority will be conferred on him to give free transportation by Railroad to the Company. Able-bodied men who have the patriotism to sacrifice their time, and life if needs be, on the altar of their country's liberty, will be gladly received. I appeal to the men of Horry, to show themselves worthy sons of their sires who so freely bled and died, that the blessings of a free government might descend to their children. The battles of the South will be fought in Virginia. On her day will be gained, or utter ruin will befall us.

To the Managers of Elections.

IN ISSUING WRITS RECENTLY TO THE Managers of Elections, the fact was overlooked that our State Constitution was changed by the two acts from which extracts are quoted below, and but one day was allowed for holding the polls, instead of two, as formerly; Managers of Elections will therefore take notice, and hold the election for one day only, and count and return the votes as required by law. It will be seen that the acts below are intended to regulate our State election, but the Constitution of the Confederate States does not establish a uniform day in the holding the elections of Members of the Act of Congress, passed July 13, 1861, which provides that the day in October
