[For the Horry Dispatch.] CONWAYBORO', S. C., March 22d, .1862. . }

Mn. Eprron,-My object is to call the attention of a few patriotic farmers. I have been recently informed by "one who knows," that in some parts of our District as well as in Conwayboro', that soldiers' wives and families have been charged as high as one dollar and fifty cents for one bushel of corn, twenty cents for fresh pork, and forty cents per pound for bacon. Now why is this? While the poor soldier is away from home protecting and defending your honor as well as your corn and bacon, is It right to consume his scanty pay for your benefit? Don't you think your consciences would be more at case and your sleep more pleasant, should you make a distinction between the poor soldier and the "Home Guards" in your prices.

Speak out gentlemen and let your District hear from you as well as A SOLDIER.

[For the Horry Dispatch.] CAMP ---- NEAR GEORGETOWN, S. C., March 10th, 1862.

DEAR DISPATCH-My last left me enjoying the hospitalities of my soldier friends near by, and since then, by invitation, I have found many warm friends with the principal part of the "Army of Winyaw," many old faces greeted me here, among them, Capt. McMillan sorts,-and ret, "the battles of the South must be fought in Virginia." Liquors of any kind are strictly prohibited on the Islands, and it is amusing to see the many dodges the boys give the "officer of the day." One was known to fill his jug to within two incluse of the top, place a cork on that, then fill up with molasses, another cork on that. Another sends his boot up to Town every third day to have it patched. When he stepped on the wharf, the "Captain" asked him what he had in his boot, he ccolly remarked that it was "the last." Another came on the wharf with one bottle of "bomb-shell" in his hand, and another in his pocket. Staggering up to the Captain, he addressed him with "'Mornin' Cap'a-hie-how-hie-dy do?" "First rate," replied the Captain, "what is this?" at the same time cate?ing hold of his bottle. "Well Cap'n-hic-you see it is-bic-a little-bichic-sperits for the old 'oman to make Camp-fir.

One pstriotic gentleman in these parts made a trip to Buncombe, North Carolina, a short time since, and on his arrival there, the ladies met him, and bade him return to bis home, "on the coast" said they "where you will find the enemy. Our husbands are off and we don't want you here." The consequence was, he returned home, and is now a prominent high private in the "Georgetown Home Guards." You know that "Buncombe" is a great resort for health. It is a great pity but what the ladies of Georgetown and Horry would follow the example of to de what they should have done twelve

State of South Carolina.

Cotton is an article which comes nearer to gold and silver, in the adjustment of balancas between nations, than any other production; because, with the exception of costs as tion; because, with the exception of costs as to transportation, it has nearly universality of demand and universality of value, and is tot perishable. Unless it can be procured by treating those who produce it with equality in their intercourse with other nations, then we should refuse to produce it and determine to destroy what we have if necessary. To control this power effectually to our advan-tage, there must be concert of action, and I tage, there must be concert of action, and I sarnestly entreat every patriotic man to comply, for at least one crop, with the suggestion of this proclamation.

The wealthy farmers owe it to the wives, daughters and sisters of our brave soldiers in the field to raise enough provisions not only for themselves, but to see that there is no want around the homes of our gallant men want around the nomes of our gallant men who are in active service. The enemy threat-ens a large portion of the rice-growing region of our State. This source of supply, which has heretofore been so abundant and so essential in our domestic economy, may be largely diminished and this is an additional reason why every planter in the interior should enlarge his crop of breadstuffs. We have all the means of productive supplies within ourselves, and now is the time to enlarge all these supplies so essential to the support of our armies, and so necessary to our permanent independence. OWE UPON WHICH SHE SITS, AN ENTHRONED MONARCH."

Capt. Johnson, Capt. Bell, Lieutenants Ford, Boston, Stackhouse and Harrell-800

I had the pleasure yesterday of seeing several fine Companies manœuvre in "Battalion drill," and their movements and exercises were gone through, with exactness, and the regular precision of "old veterans." A few mouths ago, and these men were taken from the plough handles and their various trades and professions, and now one is struck with astonishment at their high soldierly bearing and proficiency. A better drilled regiment I never saw. I have seen some famous and erack Regiments in the "Army of the Potomac," but none to equal the "10th." All praise is due Mrs. J. R. Cooper to their gallant Colonel Manigault, for Master J. M. Cooper is exertions to perfect his Regiment; Master Olis Cooper he has never yet led them Miss Carrie Cooper

The resignations of Drs. Bonneau and Cain have been tendered-the more to be regretted, since this Regiment loses two able officers. Dr. Cain was in Paris at the time of the State seconding, and was then tendered a position. He left the pursuit of his profession, in order to be of service to his State, and was soon after appointed Assistant Surgeon of this Regiment, and as an organization it was placed in Confederate service. It now scems hard that he and Dr. Bonneau should be cramined, in order to retain their positions. In the same way my old friend and elassmate, Dr. Turnipseed was compelled to resign.

As far as I can learn, very little is said in the Regiment about re-enlisting. There can be no doubt, however, as to this, as our late reverses in North Caroline, and again in the West, will stimulate these men to remain in the service at least, till South Carolina is rid of the presence of the Hessians. But I forget that, the "battles of the South must be
