LOCAL NEWS.

The Baptist State Convention convenes in Aiken to-day.

Mrs. E. W. Nolley is visiting relatives in Fayetteville, N. C.

Notwithstanding the hard times our subscription list continues to increase.

Mr. A. C. Murrell carried Walter Green, colored, to the Asylum last Tuesday.

Don't forget the oyster supper at the Burroughs Academy tomorrow night.

Mr. R. Jordan, formerly of this county, but now of Georgia, was in town last week.

Mr. D. T. McNeill left yesterday to take in a portion of Welcome Week in Wilmington.

Capt. R. G. Dusenbury, of the Government works on Wateree river, was in town this week.

The matter for our educational column for this week came in too late to appear in this issue. It will come through next week.

The Legislature is now in session. What they will do isn't known. All we have to do is to stand back and not crowd the monkey.

Mrs. F. M. Potter, of Poplar has placed upon our table a potato that measures 15 inches in circumference, and is of the yam variety.

Mr. J. A. Mayo and two daughters, Miss Lottie and Miss Anna, Mr. R. B. Scarborough, and Mr. W. R. Lewis are in Wilmington taking in Welcome Week.

Mrs. W. E. Hardwick, who has been spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. A. F. Joyner at Chadborn, N. C., returned home last week.

Mr. W. E. Hardwick fell from a step ladder in Mr. Croft's store last week and was hurt pretty badly. He was confined to his bed for several days but we are glad to see him up again.

If you want to find the men with whom to spend your money, read our advertising columns. Mess. Burroughs & Collins has an advertisement in this issue of the HERALD that should inspire every person who has a few dollars to spend.

Dr. E. A. Gasque, of Marion, will arrive in Conway on December 12th, next, and remain for one week, for the purpose of executing any kind of work in the dentist line. Dr. Gasque is a thoroughly experienced dentist and all who have work to be done in that line will do well to call on him while in Conway.

Some people says it does no good to boom a town too much. Did you ever hear of a progressive town without its boom? We need more booming, and less "bumming." Let every citizen of Conway take an interest in building up the town, and lend a helping hand in every enterprise that will induce more capital in our midst.

The Superintendent of Education recommends that the State College be abolished and that the buildings be turned over to a normal college for males and females. It is not at all probable that this recommendation will be adopted, because the administration is pledged to a liberal support of the college, but if it should be there will be a little inducement for other towns to bid for the location of the girl's industrial school.

On last Thursday while a number of men from Marion were getting near Mullins, a gun in the hands of one of the party was accidentally discharged and the entire load lodged in the face of Mr. E. W. Mullins. A portion of the load entered the mouth, removing three teeth. One eye is entirely gone with only a faint hope of restoring the other. The wounds are serious and extremely painful, if not fatal. Mr. Mullins is a son of the late Col. W. S. Mullins, and a nephew of Dr. J. C. Mullins of Marion. He has a wife and several small children.

Like flakes of snow that fall unperceived upon the earth, the seemingly unperceived events of life succeed one another, so are our habits formed.

Keep up your reading on political and economic subjects. Your own knowledge is the only protection you have against legalized oppression and unjust laws.

A progressive farmer is one who pays more attention to the making of manure than to anything else on the farm. It is not the adding of all kinds of materials to the manure heap that makes it valuable, but the preservation of the material so that it will not deteriorate or lose any portion of its plant food.

The farmers' notes that are given for guano are used as collateral by the fertilizer companies to get money for use during the summer. Why can't the farmers put their notes together, get the money, pay cash for their fertilizer and pocket the profit in the transaction?

Ernest Gary of Edgefield has been elected Judge of the 5th Circuit in place of Judge Kershaw who declined re-election. Edgefield can furnish a few more officers for lucrative positions in the State Government.

The legislature has got down to actual work and there are some important measures before it to be disposed of. The prohibition bill has been introduced, but what its ultimate fate will be it is premature to predict; but it is hardly uncertain.

The town of Yorkville suffered from a ravaging fire last Monday. The Court House, Opera House, a large store and two office buildings were burned, involving a loss of $33,000, with only $7,000 insurance. The fire department of Chester and Rock Hill were called on for assistance.

A new publishing Company has been established at Hartsville, Darlington County, S. C. known as the Hartsville Publishing Company, with a capital stock of $1,500. Mr. T. J. Drew, formerly of Marion and once assistant editor of the Darlington Herald, is one of the corporators. Mr. Drew is an industrious young man and a practical printer.

The Ladies Aid Society was organized November 24th, 1892. Number of members twenty-two.

Names of officers—Mrs. B. G. Collins, President; Mrs. J. M. McKeithan, Treasurer; Maggie Williams, Secretary. The regular meetings will be held at the residence of Mrs. E. Norton every other Friday. MAGGIE WILLIAMS, Secy.

A South Carolina editor makes the following appeal to those indebted to him: "Wanted, at this office, anything and everything that can be used by human beings for what is due us. Wood, corn, chickens, meat, lard, cash, and other things too numerous to mention.

We are nearly in the same fix of this editor. We will take any kind of country produce that is eatable for what is due us on subscriptions. So don't wait until you get the cash, but bring on your chickens, eggs, corn, potatoes, pork, etc.

Judge J. B. Kershaw, of the fifth circuit, whose term expires next June, has declined to be a candidate for re-election on account of his failing health. It is generally believed that Ernest Gary, of Aiken, will be elected as his successor. Judge Kershaw's services on the bench have been most acceptable to the people of the State and he will retire to private life with the consciousness of having discharged his duties faithfully and well, and enjoying the full confidence of those who have delighted to honor him in the past.

The recent session of the South Carolina Conference in Charleston appointed a committee, consisting of John O. Wilson, W. J. Montgomery, S. B. Jones, W. D. Kirkland and J. C. Kilgo, to organize, if practicable, a joint stock company for the publication of the Southern Christian Advocate. This enterprise can be made a success if properly and prudently managed. The men composing the committee are men of affairs and withal prudent and considerate, and we think, will exercise great caution and prudence in inaugurating it.

What are we waiting for? Isn't it time for Conway to wake up and get a move on her. Go to work with a view to build up the town. It is very nice to have a good time, but we are getting behind at it. Let's have a little more bustle. With a very little effort Conway can be made one of the busiest towns in the State. Conway needs more Hfs and more people. What shall we do to bring these things about? If our citizens will go to work with a public spirit, these things will inevitably come. One enterprise brings on another. Let the public spirited men of Conway get together and discuss the establishment of some factory. There is no better site in the State for a canning factory or wood factory than Conway. We have spoken of these enterprises indirectly before but unless we can start something of this kind we will continue in our lethargic snooze.

Cleveland's Advice to a Young Man.

When Mr. Cleveland was President he wrote the following letter to a young man who sought an official favor at his hands:

"There are no persons so forlorn and so much to be pitied as those who have learned in early life to look to public positions for a livelihood. It unfit a man or boy for any other business and is apt to make a kind of respectable vagrant of him. If you do well in other occupations, and thus become valuable to the people, they will find you out when they want a good man for public service.

You may be sure that I am, as you say, the friend of every boy, willing to help himself; but my experience teaches me that I cannot do you a better service than to advise you not to join the great army of office seekers."

Little River Locals.

Since Cleveland's election and the consequent (?) advance in cotton and other produce, our merchants and farmers (those who still have theirs on hand) put on a cheerful look, and declare that never before was business more lively, and prospects more promising.

One of our enterprising farmers, Mr. H. J. Vereen now has on hand over sixty bales of cotton of his own make which he is still holding for higher prices and expects to realize this before the season closes.

The "Clam trade" is becoming quite lively. The clams are going and the money is coming.

Mr. Stevens, a young man representing Southport Clam Factory has located here for the purpose of purchase of clams for his firm. Immense quantities are shipped from these waters, and are made into what is known as "clam juice," a favorite dish among the people of the North and West.

Mr. J. F. Gooding, living near Wampsee, on the evening of the 24th, inst., took his wife with a child of three months of age, and brought them to Mr. Julius Lewis, on Cherry Grove, arriving there about midnight.

Leaving his wife and child he set out presumably for Wilmington, N. C., and has not been heard from since. The child was very sick the next day and seemed to be suffering from the cold. Waking on Saturday morning, Mrs. Gooding found her baby laying motionless by her side—dying in a few minutes. A jury of inquest was summoned by Trial Justice Moseley, the jury rendering the verdict, that the "deceased came to her death by imprudence on the part of her parents in exposing her to severe coldness.

Mrs. Bolton and two sons, of whom some mention was made in last week's HERALD, passed through this village last Thursday en route for Wilmington, N. C. Mr. Bolton, her husband, was but a few hours behind in vigorous pursuit. He was joined by a band of our sympathizing citizens, who succeeded in chasing them beyond the State line. At this writing it is said that they are still giving him the "dodge" in the bays of Brunswick. D. November 28th, 1892.

What the Electropoise will do.

It will completely exterminate the germs of disease, and effect a permanent cure where drugs and stimulants are powerless. The following letter from a prominent clergyman will be of interest to sufferers:

ATKINS, S. C., Sept. 19, 1890. The Electropoise has worked wonders in my household. I introduced it to Mrs. Cuthbert last March as a remedy for rheumatism, and since then she has laid aside sticks and crutches and is able to attend to all of her household duties. Another member of my family by using it is better than she has ever been, and I myself find it an admirable tonic when tired out after three services on the Sabbath. Several parties have invested in this instrument because of my experience and expression of opinion. Very gratefully, Rev. LUCIUS CUTHBERT.
