

BUSINESS MEN COME ON TOUR

The acquaintance tour committee of the chamber of commerce and interested business men of the city who see in the recent road and bridge developments of the lower part of the state an opportunity to make Spartanburg a greater business center, are planning an automobile acquaintanceship tour from Spartanburg through the Pee Dee section to Myrtle Beach, thence to Columbia and back to Spartanburg, says the Spartanburg Herald.

It is the desire of the men interested to sign up fifty or sixty men who will make this tour by automobile. Present plans call for the tour to begin about August 15. Five days, it is declared will suffice for the tour.

As seen by the committee the trip offers an opportunity to become acquainted with much of the low country trade that will be so swung to the Piedmont section as the roads become more traveled.

The trip has been planned for August in that next month is the month preceding the fall business, and also because it is a favorite month for vacations. The committee feels that many men whose business would prevent them from going now could so arrange their affairs as to get away for five days during August.

Local entertainment will be carried along and Spartanburg will be thoroughly advertised all along the tour. In each town stops will be made and men of the party will tell the story of Spartanburg. Officials of these towns will respond and in this way it is hoped that an "entente cordiale" can be built up.

An advance party will precede the main party by one day and will make all arrangements for lodgings and meals, so that when the tourists arrive at a town where they must spend the night there will be no confusion nor disappointment in the matter of lodging for the night.

Once at Myrtle Beach the party will take a day off from "selling Spartanburg to South Carolina" and will enjoy the invigorating breezes and fine salt water of the beach. Leaving Myrtle Beach, it is planned to run to Columbia.

The Florence Times, in a recent issue, comments on the acquaintance tour that business men of Spartanburg will make, and says that a number of business men have signed up for it and that still others will come in on it.

It is believed that exact dates will be published later and the towns along the route where the business men will stop can get ready to shake hands with them.

Tobacco farmers have been kept busy in their tobacco crops for several weeks now and have not been coming to Conway except when compelled to do so to attend to business. They will be coming in now to attend the tobacco sales at the various warehouses of the town.

WHY PATRONIZE THE HORRY TOBACCO MARKETS

Editor the Horry Herald:

Why should not growers of tobacco in Horry County patronize the local markets? Is this question being satisfactorily answered by the farmers who have been hauling their weed to markets outside of the County, such as Mullins, Nichols, Fair Bluff, Marion, and Mt. Tabor? Have these farmers thoroughly considered the fact that instead of helping to make Conway, Loris and Aynor better markets and larger towns, they are building up the towns outside of our county and in two or three instances outside of our state? The writer has nothing against any of the towns mentioned, but does feel that it is the duty of all true citizens of Horry to help to build it up and make it a better place in which to live, instead of supporting towns not in the least interested in the upbuilding of our county and communities.

One sometimes hears the remark made that a better price for tobacco is paid in these towns mentioned. This might be true, but it hasn't been proved. The same tobacco with the same attention will sell for as much on an Horry market as it will in Mullins, or either of the other markets referred to. It is a fact that when a farmer decides to take a load of tobacco to Mullins or some other distant market, he and his family will spend a day or two trying to get it in good condition so as to get the highest possible price. One ventures to say that should the grower give his tobacco the same attention and spend the same amount of good condition, and then take it to Conway, Loris or Aynor, he would receive just as many dollars for it as if it had been put on the market elsewhere. One of the main troubles is, the farmer is not as particular with the weed he puts on the local market as the one he carries over into Marion, as well as other counties.

One knows farmers in his own community, only seven miles from Conway, who last year would take loads of tobacco over to Mullins, Fair Bluff and other towns, thinking they were going to reap a fortune when in the long run they lost. Being only six and seven miles from Conway, good roads all the way, they could easily have brought it to Conway and received as much, in most instances, as they did get. And where they did happen to receive one or two dollars more on the hundred, after they have considered the expenses, such as having to leave home the night before, driving their mules nearly to death, or having to pay a high price for a truck, buying something to eat, do they lose or gain, is a question to answer.

Sell your tobacco on the Horry markets and by so doing you will help to make our county a better place in which to live, and our towns better places in which to attend to our business. "Horry always first, and then our State."

Citizen of Horry County.

VIRGO NOTES

The Virgo School Improvement Association met last Saturday and held its regular monthly meeting in form of a picnic. Quite a number of the members (and pupils of the school) were present. After spending an hour in both business and social chatting about the school grounds, the crowd was invited up to the table where a nice picnic lunch was spread, and to complete the meal, delicious hot coffee was served, for which we give credit to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alford.

Just as dinner was being served, Mr. Allen and three of his friends, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Nichols and Miss Simpson, of Conway, joined the merry party, and were gladly welcomed.

After luncheon the audience was delightfully entertained with good heart-to-heart talks from the visitors. Mr. Lewis is teacher of the summer school at Conway and gave some bright ideas on improving the future educational conditions. And as he usually does, Mr. Allen gave one of his always good and heart thrilling talks, which was flavored with good cheer. Then Miss Simpson said a few words to the audience in a kind and pleasant manner, which was very much appreciated. The S. I. A. thanks them and it hopes they will come again.

On August 18th the S. I. A. meets again in the afternoon. It invites the members and all the school patrons to come and clean up the house and the grounds as the next session of school begins real soon afterwards. Bring tools to work with. Sec.

MAPLE NEWS

The B. Y. P. U. of Maple, met Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock with one of the largest crowds yet present to be entertained by a religious program, rendered by Group 2, composed of the boys and girls of this community interested as much or more so than many of the older people in the uplift of Christianity. We have now three groups, each trying to see which can do the better in the way of training up the young boys and girls in the way we would have them live. After the meeting of the B. Y. P. U. many remained in to here Rev. W. L. Parker of Conway preach. The Maple B. Y. P. U. meets every Sunday afternoon at straight 4:00 o'clock.

Reuben Long, Johnnie Cox, Teddie Ludlam and Wilbur Jones were to leave early Wednesday morning for Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, N. C., to spend a month in training in athletics.

Mrs. Mack Moore and Misses Essie Marsh and Sarah McMillan, of Conway, have accepted the position as teachers at Maple this year, it is said. Under their leadership Maple should have a fine school this time. Mrs. Moore and Miss Marsh are said to be college graduates, while Miss McMillan is one of the most efficient teachers in the county, having taught at Maple for the last two sessions.

The Maple School Improvement Association will meet on Thursday night of this week. It is hoped that a large audience will be present.

Miss Mabel Hardee was the guest of Miss Ruth Phipps Sunday afternoon.

Miss Leila Holmes of the Good Hope community spent Sunday afternoon with friends in this section.

Prof. S. T. Smith of Myrtle Beach spent the week-end at home, returning to his duties as principal of the Myrtle Beach school Monday morning.

STOPS ENGINE FROM HIGHWAY

The tractor engine and boiler which was used by the Ward-Bate Company in cutting up many timber trees on the Dog Bluff road and was sold some time ago to J. L. Bagley, has been tied up near Poplar church by orders of the road commissioner.

It is against the law to use vehicles of this kind on the public roads. It has broad wheels with cross bars on the face of them to aid in pulling it along the road. These bars cut up the road wherever they go. This machine is very heavy and was left where it was found by the officer late last week and a notice posted up on it to the effect that it must not be used along the highway.

Enquiry elicits the fact that Bagley intends to move this machine over to Red Bluff where it is said he has purchased some timber or timber land, and where he proposes to run a saw mill.

the first of the week.

The Social Committee of the B. Y. P. U. is planning to have a social in a few weeks. Plans will be made public at an early meeting of the B. Y. P. U.
