

SHERIFF STOPS SALE OF LAND

Case of A. W. Hodges
Against L. V. Todd

HOMESTEAD FIRST SET OFF

Land Was Advertised to be Sold Early in August

The sale of land described as the property of L. V. Todd, and described in a notice of sale appearing in the Horry Herald during the month of July was stopped by an order of injunction from the office of Judge S. W. G. Shipp.

This property had been advertised for sale on the first Monday in August. It was stated to be the third interest of Mr. Todd in all that tract of land in Simpson Creek township, bounded by Simon Barnhill, Marion Wade and J. B. Hughes.

This land had been levied upon under an execution issued upon a judgment in the case of A. W. Hodges & Son against L. V. Todd. Examination of the records show that early in 1922 the firm of A. W. Hodges and J. C. Hodges, engaged in the livestock business at Loris, brought suit against L. V. Todd on a promissory note. The suit was not defended by Todd and it resulted in a judgment against him on March 10, 1922 for sum of $368.00 and cost amounting to the sum of $4.15. It was under this judgment that a levy had been made.

Information had been received at the sheriff's office that the defendant had moved away to Wilmington, N. C. Under the assumption that the defendant had become a non-resident of this State, the sheriff's office acted under the execution which had been placed in the sheriff's hands for collection of the amount due on the judgment.

The defendant applied to Judge Shipp under an affidavit which he made and which reads as follows:

L. V. Todd, the plaintiff, being duly sworn says:

1. I am a citizen, resident, and head of a family, the father of several (8) children of whom four are minors and who live with me in Horry County, South Carolina. I have continuously resided in said State and County for many years and as such am advised that under the facts herein am entitled to a homestead in lands property under the Constitution and Laws of South Carolina.
2. That I have read a notice of sale in the Horry Herald, a newspaper published at Conway, said State and County, wherein the defendant, J. A. Lewis, as Sheriff of Horry County, S. C., offers for sale under execution my property described as follows: "All and singular the undivided third interest in fee of L. V. Todd in and to that certain tract in Simpson Creek township, bounded Northwardly by the Simon Barnhill land, Eastwardly by Maria Wade lands, Southwardly by lands of J. B. Hughes and Westwardly by lands of John C. Rheurk land and land of L. D. Todd; being the tract that was conveyed to Ellen Todd by J. E. Prince on March 1st, 1912."

3. That the execution and levy under which the said Sheriff advertises the said lands for sale purports to be out of and under a judgment of the Court in the case of A. W. Hodges and J. C. Hodges, copartners trading under the firm name and style of A. W. Hodges & Son, plaintiffs vs. L. V. Todd, defendant, about which said judgment, however, I know nothing other than on information and belief.

4. I only knew of the Sheriff's purposes to sell the said lands after reading the Horry Herald of date July 26, 1923, and immediately after seeing same I saw the Sheriff in person and ascertained from him that it was his purpose to sell the property as advertised. He stated to me that I had forfeited my homestead by reason of leaving the State for a few months the first of this year and procuring work at Wilmington, N. C. In relation to this the facts are as follows: My efforts to support myself and children for the two preceding years by farming had failed and necessity forced me to procure work of another kind to support them and I did go to Wilmington and work up to June, 1923, but I maintained a home for myself and children in Horry County and the children lived in it and I visited them constantly and made it my home and still have it for home. Have no intention of leaving the State or abandoning my children or home.

The order of Judge Shipp which stopped the sale only requires that a homestead be laid off to Mr. Todd before selling any of his property. The law provides that in such cases that the defendant shall pay the cost of laying off the homestead.

It is understood that the plaintiff in the action will insist that the homestead be laid off and the remainder sold to apply on the judgment.

canned tomatoes. Out of these four things we won on bread and canned tomatoes. We always had classes in the morning and after dinner. We also had health lessons and if it were the afternoon to go in bathing we could stay in about an hour. At night we had good movies to which every girl was required to go. I hope every girl will get a chance to go some day.

Dear Miss Carraway:
I am going to write you about our trip to Winthrop. I was sorry that you could not be with us for it certainly was a grand trip. I enjoyed meeting the different people, the lectures on our work, the movies, and also enjoyed the gymnasium. Mother Walker, Mrs. Plowden, and Miss Carson were all up there. I surely did enjoy being with them, but Mrs. Plowden got sick and had to go home.

We were the smallest girls of all the counties, but we won on judging bread and canning. I surely was glad when I saw it on the blackboard at the post office. They gave us a chance to cheer ourselves up every night by reading out all who had won on different things during the day.

They had a hen party one night that two of the women had made up themselves. I surely did like it. Every afternoon they had a little part of the play "Dorothy Jane," and after they had all of the play they gave each of the girls the little book. I brought mine home with me.

I did not break a health rule while I was up there, but our health officer could not stay until the time was up.

Miss Carraway, I can't begin to tell you all about our trip and can't tell you how much I appreciated your giving me the chance to go to the short course. I surely would have written to you while I was at Winthrop if I had known your address. I will tell you more about the trip later.

Yours truly,
Venna Shelley.

Dear Club Members:

Thursday, June the 7th, was a great day for me. That was the day I left home for the ten days short course at Winthrop. I had heard so much about Winthrop I was happy to be going there. I left along with other Horry County girls early Thursday morning, and arrived at Columbia about noon. A lady met us and told us what to do, and where to go. We left Columbia about 3:30 o'clock and got to Rock Hill about 6:00. The train stopped at back campus for us to get off. My certificate showed that I was to go to Baneroff hall; I didn't know where it was but ladies were there to tell us.

When we got settled in our rooms the supper bell rang and I followed the crowd. When I got into the dining room I thought, "Well, Winthrop must be a big place." It was lighted up and the long rows of tables with flowers on them looked so pretty that I just wanted to go round everywhere, even though I was hungry. I wondered how they ever cooked enough for us, and how they ever cooked it so good. I liked to go back in the kitchen so that I could see how the cooking was done.

The next morning I had a chance to look at the buildings and the beautiful campus. Later we went into the library where there were the most books I have ever seen. We also went into the big, new students' building, where we were told the girls in winter have good times.

The time seemed very short for we were kept busy from breakfast until supper. A lady from New York told stories on the front campus and in chapel, which we had in the large auditorium. Sometimes at night we went to a picture show instead. I wanted more spare time to slide down the fire escape, play on the play ground, or go to the museum to see the wild animals, rocks, dolls, shells, and even a human skeleton, but our classes needed our time. We had classes in sewing, judging food, health, and lectures on good manners. In our class work we were divided up into teams to work against each other. Horry and Kershaw were together, and we won in judging tomatoes and bread. We had another class in athletics for which we went into the big gymnasium where there were bars, rings, swings, and ladders to play on. I liked this but the very nicest thing was the big white swimming pool with clear running water in it. I learned to swim the length of it.

We did so much in the few days I can't tell all of it. I just know I want to go back some time. The Horry girls were sorry that Miss Carraway was sick and could not be there, but every one was nice to us, especially Mother Walker, and I think everyone of us enjoyed our trip. I did not feel homesick at all and several asked me if my mama was along to keep me from crying.

On our way back home in Columbia I went on a street car to Columbia College and also went to the Capitol where I enjoyed looking at Wade Hampton's monument, the Confederate monument and others. I went inside the Capitol and saw our governor and where our laws are made. I arrived at Nichols Friday night filled with lots of things to tell about Winthrop and the short course.

Eunice Causey.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

From Specialists' Correspondence With Farmers

What is the best variety of asparagus and where may I get seed?—R. M. R., Columbia.

The Washington variety is probably the best and this seed can be obtained from the Pedigreed Seed Company, Hartsville, S. C.; Peter Henderson and Company, 35-37 Cortland Street, New York City, or almost any of the seed companies.

My fruit trees are growing too fast. Am I working them too much?—C. W. K., Dalzell.

I do not think you are working them too much. The primary in cultivating the soil is to keep the crust broken at all times and in order to do this it should be cultivated after every rain. If the peach trees are growing too fast I presume the soil rather rich in nitrogen and you would not gain anything by cutting them back at this time of the year. In fact, it would cause the trees to put out more growth, and they would grow later in the fall than they would otherwise.

Please tell me how to control worms in apples.—H. W. M., Spartanburg.

For the control of worms in apples they should be sprayed with arsenate of lead, made by mixing 1 pound of arsenate of lead powder in 50 gallons of water. For smaller amounts use 4 ounces of powder in 12 1-2 gallons of water. It is now too late to spray for these insects this year for they are already in the fruit and can not be reached. The insect you refer to is no doubt the codling moth and sprays for it should be applied:—First, in the spring before the calyx cup closes; second, about two weeks later. In most cases these two sprays will control.

Habitual Constipation Cured in 14 to 21 Days

"LAX-FOS WITH PEPSIN" is a specially-prepared Syrup Tonic-Laxative for Habitual Constipation. It relieves promptly but should be taken regularly for 14 to 21 days to induce regular action. It Stimulates and Regulates. Very Pleasant to Take 60c per bottle.

trol this insect when the spraying is well done. Sometimes it is a good plan to make a third spraying of arsenate of lead.

Is there any danger in grazing pregnant sows on sorghum?—W. T. A., Spartanburg.

If the sorghum makes normal growth there is no danger whatever in grazing these animals on it. Sometimes if it is exceptionally dry the sorghum contains what is known as Prussic acid.

MAPLE LOCAL NEWS

On Sunday afternoon many were in attendance at our B. Y. P. U. meeting. After the program for the afternoon had been carried out, Mr. E. C. Allen of Conway, who together with Mrs. Allen and another lady was present, delivered an interesting address in reference to the B. Y. P. U. and its work. Several visitors were present.

Mr. Ned Sessions, father of W. E. Sessions, formerly of this section but now of Rose Lake, was buried at the Thompson cemetery Saturday. Mr. Sessions was well known by many of the older citizens of the Maple community and they grieve his loss. He was an old man and seemed to be of a quiet and peaceful nature. The cause of his death had not been learned at this writing. Rev. T. H. Patterson, pastor of Maple church conducted the funeral services. Many Maple people sympathize with his loved ones in their bereavement.

Revival services will begin at Maple the first Sunday night in September. Large congregations are expected.

The next session of Maple school is expected to begin next Monday. The teachers are Mrs. Mack Moore, Miss Sarah McMillan and Miss Essie Marsh of Conway.

Mr. Wilson Edge, of near Horry, who died some few days ago, was the father of Mr. Hamp Edge of this section. He was well known by many of the citizens of this community.
