TRUTH, LIKE A TORUH, THE MORE IT'S SHOOK IT SHINES.

EASLEY, SOUTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1884.

[NO. 33.

Che Casley Messenger.

S. C., as Second Class Matter.

J. R. HAGOOD, Editor and Prop'r.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, strictly in advance $1,00 Six months

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

One square (1 inch) 1 insertion......75c Each subsequent insertion 40c Liberal discount on contracts or by the column, half or quarter column. Marriage notices free and solicited Obituaries over 12 lines charged for Correspondents, to insure attention must give their full address.

We are not responsible for the opin ions of our correspondents.

All communications for the pape must be addressed to the Editors business letters to the Publisher of the MESSENGER Easley, S. C.

THE BAD BOY AND HIS PA.

The Old Gentleman Inveigled Into a Big Blunder-Mistaking an Old Maid's Pet Dog for a Baby-Trouble Caused by an Absence of Spec tacles.

man to the bad boy, as he came thing?" Well, I thought I should that he knew that it wasn't a ba in the back door hurriedly and jest melt and run through the per- by all the time."--Peck's Sun. bolted it, and hid behind a barrel, forated seat of the car. The wo-"what you coming in the back man said it was only 11 months door for in that manner, like a pi-old, but she looked as though she rate of the Spanish main? My didn't know as it was any of his other customers don,t sneak in the business anyway. I tried to get back door and hide behind things. pa to change the subject and talk What ails you?"

if you have seen a chubby-faced "Little one always been healthy I 'cause he isn't responsible," and out that it had always been the boy pulled a coffee sack down healthy enough, except when it off a barrel to cover himself up.

expecting, and what have you began to look at pa and smile, and done?" asked the groceryman.

got out of the car without coming of a cyclone, and I pulled pa's through the window, he is liable sleeve and told him I wouldn't to show up here pretty quick. You talk to strangers that way if I was see pa has been trying to make us him, but pa he punched me in the believe he could see just as well as ribs with his elbow, and told me he ever could, and he has quit to mind my own business, and I wearing spectacles, and gets mad went to the end of the car near the every time anybody suggests that door so as to get out quick in case he can't see very well. Ma says of an alarm of fire. Pa returned he is ashamed to have folks think to the assault, and it made me perhe is getting old. Some times I spire. "Is it a boy or girl!" said come in the room and pa snaps his pa, and the lady's face colored up fingers and says "Hello, Bruno, and she pulled the strap to stop good dog," thinking I am the dog, the car. Just as the car stopped -Many of the new jetted shouldsome day some person would play would have just laid right down The fringes are spiked jet.

a joke on him and convince him in the straw in the car and blafear he will pass some lady that hands, and had grabbed pa's hand he knows and not speak to her, he and was chewing his mitten and get cross to have a stranger speak an old wretch and said he ought to them, but pa has such a inno- to be arrested for going around in cent, benevolent, vacant sort of a sulting unprotected females, and l street car, and on the other side of dog off. The woman came out of ward her and pointed to the dog from out of his necktie, and ex with me, but when he gets to talk-"Shh! If a man comes from ing with a woman that settles it, the street car in about two min-and he told me to hush up and utes with one coat tail torn off, look out of the window at the scenand pieces of umbrella frame stick- ery. Then pa smiled again and ing out of hisself like porcupine got one eye on the lady and one on quills, his hat gone, and a scared the supposed baby, which she had complexion on his face, and asks wrapped a shawl around, and said. little boy, you drive him out doors, suppose?" The woman snapped was cutting teeth it had a sort of "Who is the wild man you are distemper. The other passengers the lady was beginning to blush, "Sh s sh! It's pa. And if he and I could see distant mutterins that he was near-sighted, and he ted. When the driver opened the Entered at the Postoffice at Easley said they might try all the jokes door I flew out and just then I they wanted to on him. Well, pa looked in and the dog had got is awful polite to ladies, and for mad at pa when he put out his speaks to all of 'em. Some of 'em growling, and the lady called pa look when he smiles, that they go saw her umbrella go up in the air on thinking he has escaped from and come down on pa's head, and some asylum. Well, we was in a pa yelled to somebody to take the the car was an old maid, with a the car in a gallop, holding the pug dog in her lap, curled up like dog by the leg and the dog had a baby, I saw pa was getting his one of pa's buckskin mittens in its eyes sot on the woman and the dog, mouth chewing for all that was but I knew he couldn't make out out. When she struck the street whether it was a baby she had or she told me to call a policeman not, so I whispered to pa that it and have the old tramp arrested was too bad to carry babies on the and I said "yessum," and she street cars, poor little things. That went off with the dog under her was enough for pa. He bit like a arm. I asked pa if I should fol bass. He began to look benevo-low his lady frient and get his lent, and smiled at the lady just mitten away from her little baby. as though he lived next door to that he was using to teeth on, and her and she looked sort of cross, pa looked so mad, that I got off but pa could not see that, and he the car and came here, and left smiled again and leaned over to- him picking pieces of umbrella "Here, here," said the grocery- and asked. "How old is the little plained to the other passengers

> GRIEF IN THE DOG, -Mrs. Walters Odell, of Stapleton Station Ishearse, and tried to jump inside change in vicissitudes of weather. refused to eat.

Sun.

when he finds out his mistake he pa got up, and in his politest man- er capes are crotcheted, beads belaughs and says it was only a joke, ner he said, as he held out his ing strung on the silk and left at and he says he can see as well as hands, "Let me help you with the the corners of the meshes, or in any man in this town. I told him baby." Well, you'd adide. You patterns as the worker chooses. The Clothing of the Sexes.

I agree that the tax of carrying clothes from the waiste is utterly unjustifiable, and that the parts that should bear the burden are the shoulders, and none other. In this regard women ought to be placed under just the same favor able conditions for movement of the body as men, and the greatest emancipation that women will ever have achieved will have arrived when she has discoverd and carried out this practical and good im-

Any one who will for a moment think candidly must admit that the dress of men, however bad it may be in taste, or in whatever bad taste it may have been con ceived, is, in respect to health, in finitely superior to that of women. In the dress of the man every part of the body is equally covered. The middle of the body is not en veloped in a number of close lay ers, while the lower limbs are left without close clothing altogether; the centre of the body is not strain ed with a weight which almost drags down the lower limbs and back; the chest is not exposed to every wind that blows, and the feet are not bewildered with heavy garments which they have to kick toward or drag from behind with every advancing step. The body land, died at 3 o'clock on Tues- is clothed equally, and the cloth day morning, March 25th. Aling is borne by the shoulders; it Scotch terrier. Fido, had been her gives free motion to breathing; it pet for 12 years. During two gives freedom of motion to the cir months of her illness, Fido remain-|culation; it makes no undue pres ed beside her bed. After her sure on the digestive organs; it death he persisted in lying beside leaves the limbs free; is easily put the coulin. He followed it to the on and off; and it allows of ready the hearse. When the procession It is told of the late eminent reached the grave, Fido was there, surgeon, Mr. Cline, the teacher of After the funeral he took up his Sir Astley Cooper, that when he former position beside the bed was consulted by a lady on the lately occupied by Mrs. Odell. He question how she should prevent a girl from growing up misshapen. Two days ago he found a pair he replied, "Let her have no stays of shoes that formerly belonged to and let her run about like the Mrs. Odell, but had been thrown boys." I gladly re-echo this wise out of doors. These he took up advice of the great surgeon; and in his mouth and carried to his I would venture to add to it an self-assigned post near the bed, other suggestion: I would say to and, placing the shoes on the floor, the mothers of England, let your laid his fore paws and head across girls dress like your boys, make them, in which position he remain- no difference whatever in respect ed several hours. During Mon- to them—give them knickerbock day night 21st, he roused the ers, if you like-with these excephousehold by mournful cries. At tions, that the undergarments be 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning ex- of a little lighter material, and actly one week to an hour after that they be supplemented by an Mrs. Odell's death, Fido died be- outer gown or Jobe which shall side the bed, his head and fore take the place of the outer coat of paws resting on the shoes .- N. Y. the boys, and shall make them look distinctively what they aregirls clothed cap a-pie, and well clothed from head to foot.—Lon don Truth.

> Smiths.—The new directory of Philadelphia contains the names of nearly 3,000 Smiths.