WHAT THE CHAUTAUQUA IS... The Chautauqua is not a charity. It is helpful rather than needing help. It is not a fake. Combined in this list of attractions may be found several that would grace any American stage. The price is very low. The Intelligence takes pleasure in giving its recommendation to this enterprise. It will leave a lasting impress on the community. It is cultural, entertaining, pleasing and refining.

STORY OF THE CHAUTAUQUA.

More than fifty years ago at Lake Chautauqua, New York, was founded the original and first Chautauqua. The aim was purely a religious one, it being intended to provide a place to which people might come and while enjoying the pleasure of an outdoor outing, could also spend some time in inspirational study and quiet meditation. Since then the movement has become nation wide, developing through the old time camp meeting, temperance Chautauqua and finally evolving into its present day form, the great circuit Chautauqua.

Today the Chautauqua is one of the most potent educational forces, next to the schools and colleges, which we have. Truly, Mr. Roosevelt, was right when he said "The Chautauqua is the most American of all our institutions." It is originally so, it breathes in all its being the spirit of our people and their love of truth.

It has no false ideals. It stands for the truth, for the highest in manhood and womanhood, for love of country, home and school. It seeks to uplift, to provide not only high class entertainment, but to give something which all may take into their lives and keep and which they will be the better for having seen and heard. If the Chautauqua will enable people to think a little better, to love a little better music, to read better books, to see better plays, to have a little higher ideals, then it accomplishes the purpose for which it was created, and only as it does this can it live and grow. That it is doing this is evidenced by the enormous growth of the circuit Chautauquas.

Today the people of the country over are looking forward to Chautauqua week as a time when they may forget for a little while the ordinary routine of every day life and refresh themselves with new thoughts and inspirations for the rest of the year. It is a time when one meets his fellows and his neighbors on a common ground. It is a harbinger of good fellowship and best and greatest of all good citizenship, the citizenship upon which this country depends for its future greatness.

Truly, Chautauqua week should be one of the greatest weeks in the year to be looked forward to and the lessons and details taught remembered and thought upon long afterwards.

CASH AND CREDIT

The wholesaler in buying from the manufacturer, if it is within he resources, takes advantage of discounts for cash or of payment inside of a specified date. The thrifty retailer, when he purchases from a wholesale house, watches his bills and gets the benefit of discounts. But when the retailer comes to pass his wares long to the ultimate consumer he has one price only, whether the customer pays cash or takes his commodities on credit. The injustice of this practice is evident on its face. The cash customer supplies liquid capital for the grocer, merchant, butcher, tailor, etc., and is penalized indirectly by making good the losses incurred in extension of credit to persons who either cannot or will not pay, or the painfully slow about it.

The credit system is the bane of business life and in many instances is the demoralization of the patron. Of course it cannot be wholly abolished. To do that would impose hardship upon innumerable worthy folk. But the wonder is that dealers do not undertake to minimize it instead of employing devices to expand and encourage it. They make a victim of the cash customer. The just method would be to allow discount for cash, fixing prices accordingly and with the necessary respect to credit allowances. If there was a shading in prices for cash the immediate result would be to discourage unnecessary charge accounts and bring in money more promptly. As it is the system which permits one customer to run up an enormous bill, which may or may not be paid eventually, while charging exactly the same figure over the counter for cash, to the man or woman who pays on the spot without demur, evasion or delay, is not defensible. No merchant will pay as much in cash for the same goods as is demanded of his neighbor who requires time to meet his obligations. Discounts are followed with vigilance and properly so. Why, therefore, should the consumer who pays cash not be treated with equal consideration?

MRS. MARTIN WINNER ON FLOWER PROGRAM

AWARDED BEAUTIFUL VASE FOR BEST EXHIBIT

MANY COMPETITORS

Addresses at the Theatre Attracted Anderson Women From All Over the County

The first "flower day" ever attempted by the Anderson chamber of commerce was held yesterday and another success was registered up for the secretary of the chamber. Live interest had been manifested in the event for the last several days and those who have been agitating the matter said last night that they were well pleased.

One of the principal features of the program was the award of the handsome brass vase, offered for the best general collection of flowers sent in and placed on exhibit at the chamber of commerce. This prize was won by Mrs. James Martin, while the exhibit of Miss Annie Wakefield of the county was a close second in the opinion of the judges. The vase was awarded to Mrs. Martin.

All told there were probably 200 people to attend the event and it is the general opinion that this affair will result in the organization of a permanent flower association to hold annual flower shows in Anderson.

The addresses heard at the theatre were fine, the instructors from Clemson college making a great impression, while every one of the ladies present enjoyed the splendid reel of pictures "The Flower Parade." The day was a success and it is hoped that this may result in a permanent organization of some kind to promote the growing of flowers in Anderson county.

MEDICAL SCHOOL DID NOT WANT SUICIDE

DECLINED THE OFFER OF THE BODY

WAS BURIED HERE

Following Medical College's Refusal To Take Body of Dead Man, It Was Buried

A letter was received yesterday by G. F. Tolly & Son, undertakers, from the Atlanta Medical College in which the authorities of that institution advised that they were furnished with the anatomical board of the state of Georgia and for that reason could not use the body of a man who had committed suicide here. Before A. S. Walden killed himself in an Anderson hotel Thursday, he left a note in which he said that he wanted his body sent to Atlanta for use in the Atlanta Medical college. He was taken from the hotel to the undertaking parlors Atlanta, after which he was buried in the potter's field at the county poor farm.

This brings to a conclusion a case of considerable local interest. There were a number of features connected with the case which Anderson people could hardly understand and some things in connection with the man taking his life will never be known. Just why he came to Anderson for this purpose when he could have accomplished it in Greenville is hard to see into and why he waited until Thursday night to accomplish his purpose when it could have been done Wednesday night in accordance with his original plans is also hard to understand.

PROPOSES STATE FORAGE CROP DAY

W. W. Long of Clemson College Suggests Clover and Vetch Campaign

A plan is on foot to have a clover and vetch day among the farmers of the State. On this day, which has not yet been named, it is urged that all farmers meet and discuss the advisability of planting clover and vetch, and set aside two weeks to seeding these important crops.

"Last year," said W. W. Long, head of the farm demonstration work in South Carolina, yesterday, "without any definite and concerted action, farmers in this state planted about 100,000 of clover and vetch. The idea of having a clover and vetch day this year was suggested by the wonderful success of last year was suggested by the wonderful success of last year, and I believe that we can set 500,000 acres this year, as the interest already manifested this year has been very great."

The farmers will be asked to meet at the county court houses on the day appointed and discuss the ways and means of seeding the largest clover and vetch crop in the history of the State. At this meeting the farmers will be requested to set aside two weeks for the purpose of devoting their entire time and attention to the seeding of these important crops. With the aid of all the forces in the state, education, demonstration work, health officials, country preachers and the press, I feel certain that a remarkable record will be set.

"I have made arrangements, Mr. Long continued, "where vetch seed can be obtained now at 8 cents a pound. The seed comes from Germany, and farmers are requested to communicate with me. I have also secured a form of line that can be purchased at 60 cents a ton. This line has been recommended by Dr. Cyril Hopkins of Illinois."
