Senator Smith's throat was worse today than it was at either Yorkville or Gaffney, where he spoke at much disadvantage. Under normal elecumstances today it would have been difficult for the senator to have made his voice carry to the far wings of the opera house where the meeting was held.

In spite of the handican of a budly lacerated threat the speaker fought his assallants to the biffer end occupitation of the audience that was intensely sympathetic.

Expected Disorder.

City officials were cognizant of the fact that disorder might be expected as the entire cluster of mills in the Pledmont had closed flown. When the meeting began both Mayor Floy and Chief of Police Hill took seats of the stage and both these and Dr. S. T. D. Lancaster, county chalrman, had disturbers thrown out. The governor, too, asked that his friends give Sensator Smith a hearing as respectful as the Smith men gave the governor.

However, the malesty of the law and the friendly persuasion of a favorite were powerless in curb the spirit of disorderliness that had been unleashed and was running campant.

The crowd quieted down when Sensator Smith concluded and gave the governor as is his usual custom laft the buhisling and about one fourth of the audience followed. Among these were those who had bristled and frest ted while Senator Smith was speaking, and both Messrs. Jennings and Pollock were allowed scathingly to denounce the governor's record without material interruption.

The original plans for the day were to hold the viceting out at Rock Compared and the speaking was held in the Operat House, Here withusastic partisant filled every valiable seat, and packed sardinelike into every allegant and box.
