COTTON CROP IS SAFE IF FARMERS WILL ONLY CO-OPERATE

A COMMITTEE

Eighteen Men Appointed To Work Out Plans For Bringing Money Into Circulation

(By Associated Press.) Washington, Aug. 25.—Assured that all the currency necessary to finance the country's cotton and other staple crops will be furnished by national banks on warehouse certificates, a committee of eighteen representative planters, manufacturers, dealers and bankers and government officials tonight began working out plans for actually bringing this money into circulation. Steps toward providing safe and adequate warehouse facilities, ready are under way, and leaders in throughout the producing centers all the movement are confident that in the course of a few weeks the emergency created by the European war will have been met. The committee was appointed after a conference at the treasury department today, and to co-operate with the Secretary of the Treasury, W. P. G. Harding, of the federal reserve board; G. J. Brand, chief of the office of markets, and T. N. Carver, of the office of markets and rural organizations.

In an address to the conference, Mr. McAdoo emphatically condemned valorization schemes and suggestions that state banks issue currency. He dwelt upon the dangers of an inflated currency and declared that the integrity and the financial structure of the United States depended upon the national banks.

"It is not necessary to have everybody issuing currency," said the secretary. "The national banking system of this country, controlling agency for the issue of this currency in order that we may know that every dollar that is in circulation has been supervised by the government and that it will pass current wherever it appears."

"This is what is happening in the treasury department every day. State banks are actually depositing their securities with the national banks and the national banks are betting the issue against those securities, turning it over to the state banks. It is perfectly simple to get it. All you have to do is to have proper security."

Mr. McAdoo again pointed out the necessity of banks desiring to obtain emergency currency joining the National Currency Association.

"I stated here yesterday," he added, "that it was my purpose to accept from the banks of those currency associations notes and obligations secured by cotton warehouse receipts, properly certificated and issued by responsible warehouse men or warehouse companies. I do not say that those warehouses have got to be built of brick, stone, steel or anything else or that they must be bonded. All I ask is that these warehouses shall be of such a character as to protect the cotton itself from deterioration or destruction, with adequate insurance against fire, and backed by responsible agencies, so that when their warehouse receipts are issued we know that they represent something actually in storage there, something that can be had on presentation of receipts."

"What does that mean? It means that the national banks of this country can borrow to the extent of 75 per cent of their unimpaired capital and surplus on notes secured by warehouse receipts for staple products (not alone cotton) that I think it is safe to lend on."

The committee of eighteen follows: Producers: C. E. Barrett, Union City, Ga.; F. M. Coker, Harrisville, S. C.; J. O. Thompson, Birmingham, Ala.

Manufacturers: G. Conby Jordan, Columbus, Ga.; E. Farnham Greenb, Boston, Mass.; Lewis W. Parker, Greenville, S. C.

WAR TALK

(By Associated Press.)

London, August 25.—Lord Kitchener made his first speech as minister of war in the house of lords today. He said war undoubtedly would restrain the forces of the empire and entail big sacrifices. He laid emphasis on the fact that his position in the cabinet involved adherence to neither party. He said:

"The terms on which I am serving are the same as those under which some of the finest portions of our manhood, now so willingly stepping forward to join the colors, are engaging. That is to say my term of office is for the duration of the war or for three years if the war should last longer than that."

"It has been asked why this period has been limited. It is because if this disastrous war be prolonged and no one can foretell for a certainty its duration, that after three years of war others will take our places and see this matter through."

"There will be serious conflicts which undoubtedly will strain the forces of our empire and undoubtedly considerable sacrifices to our people will be entailed. These will willingly be borne for our honor and for the preservation of our position in the world and they will be shared by our Dominion who are now sending contingents and giving assistance of every kind to the mother country."

"Our expeditionary force has taken the field on the French northwest frontier and advanced in the neighborhood of Mons (in Belgium). Our troops already have been for 36 hours in contact with the superior forces of the German invader. During that time they maintained the best traditions of the British soldier and behaved with the utmost gallantry. The movements they have been called upon to execute have been those which demanded the greatest steadiness of a soldier and skill in the commanders."

In Midst of Battle.

London, August 25.—A dispatch to the Express from Ostend says: "A great battle has been in progress in the province of Hainaut, on the Southern frontier of Belgium since Friday evening. French and British troops have been engaged in desperate conflicts north of Charleroi and Fleurus with Germans who crossed the Meuse at Huy."

"Saturday French troops, which had spread from Lille, met the Germans right in East Flanders."

AS FRANCE SEES IT.

Thinks the War Will Be a Short One, and War. (Paris Dispatch to The New York Sun.)

The general feeling that France is destined during this war to get full revenge for 1870 and the confidence that is expressed on all sides has made a marked impression on all Americans still marooned within the city. The Sun's correspondent has been stopped a dozen times today and asked by American tourists to be sure and mention in his dispatches the fact that French calmness in the presence of a great war is the most noticeable thing about the city and its inhabitants.

Hourly the impression is gaining strength that the war will not last long, cannot last long, because Germany, cut off as she is, will soon be forced to capitulate or starve to death. There is even a well defined feeling here that when the pinch of famine comes, if the Kaiser does not submit of his own accord, he will be forced to do so by popular revolts within his empire.

Poor Mrs. Brown.

Rudyard Kipling undoubtedly inherits his ready wit from his maternal grandfather, the Rev. George B. Macdonald, a Wesleyan clergyman, whose name as a raconteur and wit has been handed down to posterity.

It was related of this gentleman that in the days when he was courting the lady whom he afterward married, the latter-in-law-to-be, an aged Methodist with extremely strict notions in regard to the propriety of entering the parlour without giving an warning of his approach. The consequence was that he found the sweetheart's occupying a single chair.

Deeply shocked by the episode, the old man solemnly said: "Mr. Macdonald, when I was courting Mrs. Brown she sat on one side of the room and I on the other."

"Well, sir," said young Macdonald, not a bit perturbed, "that's what I should have done if I had been courting Mrs. Brown."

NEVER AGAIN.

"Are you the same man who ate my mince pie last week?" "No, ma'am! I never eat the same man again!"—New York Mail.

ALLIED FORCES TO RETREAT

HAVE GIVEN GROUND THEY GAINED IN THE FIRST FIGHTING

GERMANS ADVANCE

The Kaiser's Troops Take Offensive at All Points—British Lose Heavily

(By Associated Press.)

The French commander in chief has withdrawn his forces from the territory recently occupied and is massing them along with their British allies in a strong line between Maubeuge on the North and Donon, on the south, a distance of about 200 miles.

The allies have abandoned the offensive, according to the official announcement, and will assume a purely defensive attitude in the hope of checking the advance of the vast masses of German troops endeavoring to break through the line.

Upon the ability of the allies to hold the Germans, the French war office admits, depends the fate of France.

A British official statement announces that the position of the British troops is in every way satisfactory.

Announcement is made, however, that the British casualties in the recent fighting numbered 2,000. Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces on the continent, reports that the withdrawal of his troops to their new position was successfully effected.

Eril Kitchener, secretary of state for war, announces that the one hundred thousand men asked for in the first instance have now joined the colors and declare that reinforcements to the British army will steadily and surely increase, until there will be a British army in the field, which in numbers will not be less than in quality and not be unworthy of the power and responsibility of the British empire."
