The Weather.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Forecast: South Carolina—Fair Thursday and Friday.

Have you bought your bale?

Is there room in war for Roumania?

If cotton could only be converted into "rashuns".

The way of the Pathfinder was strewn with death.

Shealy carried every county in the state. P. S.—All but Pickens.

Welcome Belton boosters! You come from a mighty good town.

The South will take care of its problem when it knows that it must.

Sixty days from now we may all be wondering why all this depression.

Wonder how all these soldiers are fed with the cost of living as high as it is.

The men of the south should all agree to wear as much cotton goods as possible.

Eggs will get so expensive in Europe that radium will be as brass in value.

Great Britain's navy is ahead of Germany's, and at the same time is right after it also.

The world's championship series has promises of being something new this year.

Abe Martin says that our war with Mexico has been postponed "on account of opposition."

Judge Memminger made a hit with the grand jury when he declined to charge them "at length".

We should be glad that it was a Spanish mine and not a German that sunk the Maine. Some were saved.

When you find Sherlock Holmes, please find the man that started this war and say a few words to him.

If a fish can be a worm on Sunday, why should not the little boy chase the fish. Reductio ad absurdum.

There are some farmers in Anderson county who can run along for several years with just enough cotton to pay taxes.

The triple entente has nothing to do with baseball. But a triple with the bases full represents the cordiale feeling.

The fight in South Carolina has but begun. The real fight is for the victors to prove themselves to be men, magnanimous, big men.

Some of the battles in Europe would make Gettysburg appear like a skirmish—with reference to the number of men engaged.

The big brother movement among European nations means that the little brother nations are getting what the little boy does at school.

The militantuffs pose as hearing ears of fire on the heads of their hissing enemy-man. But the man at home they fear less than the German.

DO WE WORRY TOO MUCH?

Is the South too much alarmed over the war situation? Our people are naturally pessimistic about their crops and this war emergency has put everything in a fog of "the blues."

The Augusta Chronicle carries an interesting statement from Conyers Woolsey, "one of the most progressive planters of Aiken county," who has just returned from Europe.

In England he states, business conditions are not as much disturbed, although Great Britain is at war, as they are in the Southern part of this country.

It seems to us that now is the time for the United States. Let the wealth of the North back up our cotton mills, let the cotton mills back up the farmer; and after this crisis is passed, the whole country will be richer and stronger.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT A BALE?

Members of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce as individuals have approved the plan to start a campaign here for each person who can afford it to buy a bale of cotton at the rate of 10 cents per pound.

A gentleman from Columbia, who was here last night stated that the movement had started with a rush there and that many bales of cotton are standing around in the store doors.

What is called a "Buy a Bale" movement has been inaugurated in different sections of the south and is spreading rapidly. According to the plan individuals and business houses buy a bale or more of cotton at ten cents per pound and store it for higher prices.

THE BELTON BOOSTERS

We understand that there is to be quite an invasion of Anderson today—a party of live fellows boosting the approaching fair at Belton. Just why the Belton fair requires "boosting" we do not know.

Plan Proposed to Use Cotton Bagging Instead of Importing Jute. (By Associated Press.) Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 9.—The substitution of cotton for jute bagging, to provide for the consumption of one million bales, was the plan outlined here today at the conference of business men from several southern states.

THIS IS THE LIFE, THE REAL LIFE

Anderson County Farmers Who Have Been Wise Will Not be Crushed by the War.

Sam Wilson of Brushy Creek, who is here for court week in a farmer of extensive interests. There are perhaps as many as a thousand persons dependent upon him, directly and indirectly, on his farms.

S. R. Tims of Piercetown was a visitor to the city yesterday and he had an announcement of great interest. He is overhauling the old Tims mill on Six and Twenty and will be prepared to turn out a barrel and a half of flour per hour.

"Sam" Tims, as his name indicates, is of Irish descent and he is Irish, through and through. He loves his joke and he loves the open life, but he is a good business man.

THE DEBTORS'S DEBTS

As was stated some time ago, the banking houses of the city are ready, as they always have been, to help the depressed, and will carry over for another year 60 per cent of the paper in their vaults.

With two and one half millions of dollars of assets in our fields, at present rate of computation, it does seem that some way could be started to take care of the poorer people and to put some money into circulation.

We have received a letter asking that those who hold mortgages and past due scrips of indebtedness withhold the foreclosure and give the debtor an opportunity. We feel that such an appeal is absolutely unnecessary.

"The debtor is bound by honor and gratitude to pay his past-due debts, or as much of it as possible.

"There comes times to the money lender when he is compelled to have money. His family must live and the cost of living touches him as hard as it does other people.

hour. It is being greatly improved now. One trouble about farmers getting disheartened about planting wheat, says Mr. Tims, is the fact that they do not plant properly.

Another institution of which Mr. Tims is proud is the Melton academy in his community. He says that it will do especially fine work this year.

S. M. Johnson, of Liberty, No. 2 while on a visit to the city declared that what his section needs is an automobile truck line operating to and from Anderson.

feature the stimulating impulse it would give to the marketing of the country produce. Mr. Johnson says that he proposes to go extensively into the planting of Irish potatoes himself, and many of his neighbors could market in Anderson their eggs and butter.

BUY-A-BALE PLAN GROWS

Mason Gibbes Would Enlarge Its Scope—Banks Come Forward. Columbia State.

If the plan of A. Mason Gibbes, president of the Gibbes Machinery company, is made effective, the scope of the buy-a-bale-of-cotton movement will be broadened until it embraces the whole of the United States.

To further the plan advanced by Mr. Gibbes, a mass meeting will be held today at noon at Craven hall. Business men, professional men, farmers and traveling men are invited to be present.

Gibbes' Plan. A. Mason Gibbes was asked last night by The State for a statement in regard to his plan.

"My idea is that every firm in Columbia mail circulars to its connections, asking them to buy a bale of cotton at 10 cents per pound," said Mr. Gibbes.

The Best of Everything Is Waiting for You Here

DO YOU want a fall hat, something neat and trim with just the right touch of this season's style to it, to set off your own good taste and make people admire you more than ever?

Just follow the advertising in the Intelligencer for the next few weeks and see some of the stunning things that are being shown this season.

Do you want a pretty fall dress—one with the new basque effect, and with waists made with straight, loose lines to the hip length? This season the basques button prominently either in front or the back and the waists are finished by a sash which further accentuates the long waistline.

All you have to do is to follow the advertising in this paper for the next few days. Do you want a fall coat-suit, made of serge, broadcloth, or wool benzaline in subdued colorings? The most noticeable features are the long coats, which are longer and fuller in the skirts?

The advertising will carry you to the very places in which you are absolutely sure of finding exactly what is in vogue this season.

Aren't you about ready to buy your fall shoes or boots? This paper will carry the advertisements which will be of most interest to you.

The merchants have been to market, spent good money and lots of time and a plenty of hard work picking and sorting among the merchandise of the great trade centers that the people of Anderson and vicinity might be served with the best that is to be had.

Watch the columns of the Intelligencer, and don't miss a single copy, for fear that you will miss some merchants' announcement which in the course of the season will mean much to you.
