Women to Wear Cotton Clothes.
At a meeting of the executive board of the City Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. Walter Allen yesterday afternoon, it was decided to call a general meeting of the federation for 4:30 Friday afternoon in the chamber of commerce rooms, the hour having been changed from 5, as was first stated. At this meeting several important matters will be taken up, among them the plans for a movement to wear cotton goods manufactured in the United States.

Several interesting ideas were brought out in discussion with various club members. One woman called the remark of a former mill president of Spartanburg, who said that a great deal of the cotton goods manufactured in Spartanburg county was sold in China, and that whenever the Chinese took a notion to lengthen their shirt-tails even one inch, it meant millions to Spartanburg county, "and what," she went on to add, "would it mean, if the women would decide to wear two collars, or even one substantial cotton affair?"

Another pertinent remark was to the effect that the present health league was looking after the pure food interests of the country, and why should not there be a movement for sanitary clothing, which would mean the wearing of wash white clothes to a much greater extent than is done now.

Several women showed their enthusiasm by wearing dresses of Spartanburg made material. The movement is, however, not so much to boost Spartanburg mills, as to encourage the wearing of American-made goods in preference to foreign-made goods.
Spartanburg Journal.
Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Oakwood Park, the handsome country home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pruitt, was a scene of unusual beauty Wednesday when the marriage of their daughter, Margie Marie, to John H. Wofford, Jr., was solemnized. On account of the popularity of this couple, much interest has been centered, and long before the appointed hour, which was high noon, the parlors and wide passages were thronged with relatives and friends. The house throughout was artistically decorated with ferns, palms and vases of roses. The structure of a spicuous hall on the first floor, where the ceremony was performed, were carpeted in white, and the railings and pillars were twined with graceful strands of ivy. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Florida Pruitt at the piano, accompanied by Frank Hawkins with the violin, announced the arrival of the bride party which preceded the winding stairs, leading from the second floor. They came in the following order: First, the ribbon bearers, Violet Pruitt, and Elizabeth Burris, dressed in dainty white, making an aisle to the extreme end of the hall. Next came, Miss Hettie Jackson with Mr. Tom Witherspoon, Miss Mary Pool, with Dr. Harrison Pruitt, Miss Eileen Herron with Mr. Harry Jackson. The bridesmaids all wore dainty white lingerie dresses with pink girlish, and carried armfuls of pink asters. Next, the dame of honor, Mrs. Darwin Held, came alone, gowned in rose crepe, meteor, and carried white asters. Miss Izetta Pruitt, the maid of honor, was lovely in a gown of peacock green crepe de chine and her flowers were white asters.

Then came the pretty brunette bride on the arm of her father, wearing an exquisite gown of white satin, modestly draped. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and bride's roses formed her bouquet. The groom with his best man, Mr. George Evans, of Anderson, came through the south parlor, and met the bride in the hall, where, under a large wedding bell of evergreen, their pastor, Rev. J. L. Vasa, performed a short and impressively sweet ceremony. Miss Margaret Williams, of Abbeville, kept the registry book.

Directly after the congratulations the bride laid aside the wedding gown and donned a beautiful traveling suit of green. Mr. and Mrs. Wofford were sped away by auto, to parts known only to themselves.
Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt then served to all their guests an elaborate turkey dinner, with delicious cakes and ice. Refreshing punch was served in the rear hall. Mr. and Mrs. Wofford will make their home at Starr, in an attractive little bungalow, the wedding gift of the bride's parents. Numerous handsome presents were received by this couple for their new home.

Miss Ada C. Bell.
A number of Anderson people, especially Baptist, will be interested to know that Miss Ada C. Bell has taken up foreign mission work and will be located in Tengchow, China. Miss Bell is a daughter of Dr. Z. P. Bell, who was pastor of the Baptist church of Anderson from 1880-1886, and a niece of E. A. Bell, of this city. The following clipping is taken from the Foreign Mission Journal:
Ada C. Bell was born in Richmond, Va., in 1889, while her father was assistant secretary of the foreign mission board. She was educated in the public schools of Atlanta, Ga., and Hollins College, Virginia. Two years of special kindergarten work was done in Louisville, Ky. During these two years she was in the training school doing the city mission and other work required of the students. She cannot remember the time when she did not love Jesus, being taught of him in the home, where she also learned to love the foreign mission work. At eleven years of age there was a crisis in her religious life, when there came the question of surrender of will and life to Jesus for service. She united then with the Capitol Avenue church, Atlanta, where she worked in the Y. W. A., B. Y. P. U., S. S., especially delighting in the beginners department, where God showed her that her work was to be among the children. While at Hollins she became a volunteer. From father and mother both came influences that led to this decision. In her home missions was and is considered the greatest thing in the world. She was appointed by the board on June 16, 1914, for Tengchow, China.

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

disorder, the French armies further to the east have been strongly engaged with the German center, which had pushed forward as far as Vitry-Le-Francois. Between September 8 and 10, our allies were unable to make much impression west of Vitry. On the 11th, however, this portion of the German army began to give way, and eventually abandoned Vitry-Le-Francois.

"Between the Upper Marne and the Meuse, the French troops are following up the enemy and driving a portion of his forces northward toward the Argonne forest country. Today that it has captured the entire artillery of a hostile army corps, a about 160 guns. The enemy, thus in retreat along the whole line west of the Meuse, has suffered gravely in morale, besides encountering heavy losses in personnel and material."

GERMANY TO CONSIDER DISCUSSION OF PEACE

glum be fully compensated for her losses. This information was conferred to Secretary Bryan by the British ambassador.
Thursday, September 10.—The French ambassador called on Secretary Bryan, and it is understood, discussed the French point of view. Ambassador Herriot coincidentally reported the earnest wish of France, that until the French had driven the invaders from their territory and Belgium had been compensated terms peace could not be negotiated.

During the afternoon, Ambassador Pages report of his conversation with Sir Edward Grey also reached the white house. Great Britain, according to Ambassador Page, was determined to make peace until German militarism had been crushed because of its danger to the world's civilization. On the same day came personal messages from Emperor William and President Poincare, of France, concerning the use of dum dum bullets.

Friday, September 11.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan conferred in the general situation and it is understood determined to await the reply of the German emperor to the inquiry sent on the previous Monday, before acknowledging the two personal messages from Emperor William and President Poincare. Should the emperors reply be favorable, the president may take advantage of the messages addressed to him to express a hope that atrocities complained of may be ended through the making of peace.

Among diplomatists friendly to the Allies, the view was expressed tonight that while the efforts to make peace seemingly had failed, a sudden turn of events might change the situation. It was pointed out that if the German retreat continued so that it were brecced to the borders of France, and Austria's reverses were prolonged, President Wilson's personal influence in Great Britain and France might be brought to bear to obtain a definite statement of peace terms.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR LIVESTOCK DAY

ALL FARMERS EVINCE A LIVELY INTEREST

A DONKEY CLASS

Letter From Little Girl and Little Boy, Coupled With the Intelligencer Got Desired Results

"Everything is going along nicely and we expect to have a splendid day on the 30th; never before have the farmers shown more interest in livestock than now, and also in the raising of horses and hogs, and the 75 prizes we expect to give away are an inducement not to be passed aside," said Jno. M. Davis, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the Exhibit Celebration day is to be held here on the 30th inst., when it is expected some of the finest stock horses, mules, hogs and stallions ever seen in Anderson County will be exhibited.

Inquiry at the quarters of the Chamber of Commerce today brought out the fact that nothing will be spared to make the day a success, since it is realized that immediate steps must be taken to vastly increase the production of livestock, horses, mules and swine in Anderson and adjoining counties. It is proposed a big day like this, with various prizes, horse races, speaking, etc., will guarantee proper interest in the matter, and do a great deal toward securing larger results henceforth.

Not to be unfriendly to the boys and girls in Anderson County who have donkeys, but to see that they have a chance to win a prize here on horse, mule, hog and livestock Celebration Exhibit day, on the 30th, the Chamber of Commerce yesterday added one more prize to the official prize list, to be known as Class "P," Donkeys. This prize will be open to any boy or girl in Anderson County exhibiting the best donkey on Exhibit Celebration Day.

Yesterday the Chamber of Commerce, through its Trades Extension Committee, received a letter from Master Frank Dunn, Jr., of Anderson number three, asking why the boys and girls with donkeys would not be given a prize on Exhibit Celebration Day. And after thinking the "why" over the officials of the Chamber of Commerce could answer it but one way and that was to give a prize. So the Owl Drug Co., who had heard through the Intelligencer about the matter, volunteered to give a prize of one pound of Nunnally Fine Box Candies to the boy or girl who exhibits the best donkey on Exhibit Celebration Day.

FLOWERS ARE TO BE PLENTIFUL

Bulbs From Across Water Have Arrived and is Said That There is No Increase in Prices

While the price of everything else is soaring sky high, it is a fine thing to discover one article at the same old price and in as much profusion as ever. That applies to the bulbs which the florists import from Holland, and when asked yesterday as to the explanation of this, Mrs. W.W. Chisholm said: "There will be no scarcity of bulbs this year on account of the war and that is due to the fact that when the Hollanders discovered war was sure to come, they began to put every available kind of vehicle to work carrying the bulbs to the seacoast. Automobiles, ox carts and wagons were pressed into service and as many bulbs as possible were rushed from the interior to the coast. We today received notice that our stock from Holland is now in New York and will be rushed out as soon as possible."

DOGS REPLACE LOCOMOTIVES.

Canine Railroad in Alaska Due to High Price of Coal.

New York Times.
Locomotives and the ordinary freight passenger cars have been retired in favor of dogs on the Seward Peninsula railroad, the "farthest North" railroad of the world. The road runs from Nome to Kaugarok, 80 miles.
The chief reason for the adoption of dog power was the government tax of $100 a mile per annum. The officers of the road found that it was impossible to earn enough to pay the very high price for coal for the locomotives and the government tax as well, and, therefore, decided to discontinue the train. This was found to work such a hardship on the miners in the Kaugarok region, as mules and freight were greatly delayed, that they agreed to accept the proposition of Pete Yeager, the government mail contractor, who offered to lease the line.

Yeager constructed light cars that ran on four wheels with dog power, and it is said that he has been making faster time than the trains used to. These cars can carry several tons of freight and mail, and with from 10 to 15 dogs, make the round trip in a week.

Insurance agents are warned in a circular letter issued by the commissioner to go over their policy registers and ascertain whether they are carrying any overinsurance. Mr. McMaster writes as follows: "The financial depression due to the war is sure to work despondency and possibly carelessness to many people. In such times fires are likely to occur. It therefore behooves you to go over your policy register and determine whether they are carrying any over-insurance. Give particular attention to depleted stocks. Use every effort to prevent fires during this financial depression."
