

ABE'S GRANDFATHER BROUGHT CANNON HERE MUCH TALK ABOUT THE "OLD REFORMER" TO CHOOSE A SITE

Cannon Was First Brought Here In 1814 by Mr. Hanks, Father Of Abe Lincoln's Mother

Mr. J. Pickney Reed, the man who rescued the "Old Reformer" from a cotton field near Starr, urges the people of Anderson to place the famous old cannon on the public square.

The "Old Reformer" is an old English make of brass cannon which has a remarkable history. It was used during the war of the Revolution, perhaps on both sides of that fray.

Before the war of Secession there were many "minute men" and militia companies in the State. The old Fourth regiment of this county, anticipating an inspection by the governor on muster day, applied for a field piece for its artillery company.

Upon the arrival of the gun at the old Howard muster ground, there was much patriotism and enthusiasm shown. The old brass cannon figured in many musters and reviews.

The "Old Reformer" has been a citizen of Anderson county for 100 years. There was a shed built for it and a proper mounting on the old Howard field near Starr.

Dr. J. C. Moore, conceived the idea of recasting the old gun from its lowly state and Mr. Reed went after it. He found the gun half covered with dirt, out in an old field, and he brought it to Anderson, where it has remained in public place except for a short time when it was in a private yard and the Daughters of the Confederacy paid $25 to get it back.

In 1876 the old gun did yeoman service and then it received its name "Old Reformer" from Col. Hoyt and Sen. Humphreys. It was carried by the Red Shirt club of Anderson and its old detractors and reverberating reports struck terror to the hearts of the radicals.

Mr. Reed thinks the old gun is entitled to a conspicuous place in the city. It has done good service, by many ways, to encourage patriotism. It is to be hidden away, he thinks, just as well to cast it as old metal for then it would bring about $90. The old soldiers wish to see it given the best place of all, next to the monument.

Listening to a persistent plea from Anderson people that some action be taken in regard to certain schedules announced a few days ago by the C. & W. C. Railway, the railroad officials have announced that additional changes will become effective on next Monday, Sept. 28.

Some days ago the old schedule was changed and the new one went into effect on last Monday. A number of the patrons of the road were displeased with the change and so informed the railroad and hence the additional changes were made.

Heretofore train No. 21 which now arrives in Anderson at 10 A. M., will arrive at 11:30 A. M. and train No. 22 which arrives at 1:10 will depart at 1:30.

While the railroad hardly expects to reach everyone in the city, it is a good trust that this will mean with better favor.

Uncle Dave's Letter

The current proverb of the world is, "Look out for Number One."

There is a sense in which it is absolutely essential that one look to his own interests. There are vastly important things which one must do for himself if they are done at all.

Each decides for himself the character of his spiritual nature and what his moral conduct shall be. Each man must live his own life in his own way and render his own last account to God.

But this would be a hard world to live in if that law only obtained. We are constituted that we must be related to our fellow men. No man liveth to himself.

As a corollary to that command, we give this world also: "Look not every man upon his own things, but every man also on the things of others."

The members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church held a splendid meeting yesterday in the Sunday school room.

This was State Mission Day and the following interesting program had been planned: Song Service—Twelve members explained about passages from scripture.

Music Society. Mrs. J. E. Barton read a splendid original paper on "What We Owe to South Carolina and What South Carolina Owe to Us."

Mrs. O. A. Cooley read a paper on "The Baptist Hospital in this State." Mrs. C. S. Sullivan and Mrs. O. I. Martin gave interesting talks explaining the use of the Baptist Journals in the mission work.

Dr. S. T. Matthews, pastor of the Central Baptist Church in Greenville, was the orator of the day. He chose as his subject "Scriptural Giving."

He explained the method of giving in his church and compared the amount that church members spend foolishly with what they give to the Lord.

At the conclusion of Dr. Matthews' address the dining room of the church, which had been beautifully decorated with golden rods and ferns, was thrown open and a tempting lunch was served to all present.

Dr. James Kincaid, president of Anderson College, spoke for a few minutes on the close relation of the Women's Missionary Union to denominational colleges.

Mrs. Bough, of Greenville, one of the teachers in the city schools, gave an interesting talk on "The Life in the Mountain School."

Mrs. Vines, the president of the society, presided throughout the day.

An Eventful Dialogue

By RUTH CRAHAM

A party consisting of an elderly gentleman, an elderly lady, a young man, a young woman and a notary were gathered in the drawing room of a chateau in the environs of Paris.

"This takes me back nearly a quarter of a century," said the elderly man, "when I passed through a like ceremony. I was then as big a fool as Francois."

"And I was as little witted as Lucille," said the elderly lady, "and you were as foolish as I am."

"What has become of De Belleville?" "How should I know? Why should I care?"

"It was he who rendered that signing of settlements between you and me null and void. But, parbleu, there has been time since then for many such interferences."

"De Belleville never interfered between you and me." "Did not interfere? Will you be good enough to inform me what did?"

"That actress?" "What actress?" "The one who was breaking the hearts of so many young fools. She played at the Theatre Francaise, I believe, though it was so long ago I fail to remember. Doubtless by this time she is as unattractive as I am."

"Who told you that I admired an actress at the Theatre Francaise?" "I saw you there myself the evening of the day the settlements were made for my marriage. I was indisposed and about to go to bed when a friend gave me a bit of information. I went to the theater and saw you gazing upon the woman through adoring eyes."

"H'm! Had the malicious information communicated by your friend anything to do with my eyes appearing to adore the actress?" "What I saw through my eyes?" "You mean your imagination."

"I saw you there myself the evening of the day the settlements were made for my marriage. I was indisposed and about to go to bed when a friend gave me a bit of information. I went to the theater and saw you gazing upon the woman through adoring eyes."

"I see this all. Why have you waited all these years to tell me that under a false assumption, instigated by whom?" "My cousin, Julie Demourier."

"Julie Demourier! Why?" "Why what?" "She threw herself at me as soon as you had broken with me."

"She threw herself at you?" "Certainly." "Oh, heavens!" He strode toward her and stood beside her, looking into her eyes almost fiercely.

"There was no reply. She stood with her back to him, looking intently out through the window." "You permitted yourself to be made a dupe by one who was not worthy to tie your shoe."

"If you had loved me you would have sought me again. You would have given me an opportunity to—"

CONFESSIONS OF A FOOL

As a boy, born in the town of Colville, of parents in moderate circumstances, John Williams was called dull.

When he had reached his majority he was accounted "light in the head." He was a butt of ridicule for years and years, and no one could ever remember that he resented it.

BOSTON CLIMBS ANOTHER NOTCH Won the First and Tied the Second Game With Cincinnati

(By Associated Press.) Boston, Sept. 24.—Today's double-header resulted in Boston shutting out Cincinnati 5 to 0 in the first game and a 2 to 2 tie in the second, darkness causing suspension of the last contest at the close of the eighth inning.

Timely hitting and Rudolph's good pitching gave the locals the opening game. Both teams scored on errors in the first inning of the second game. The tying run came when Groh singled, took second on a throw to the plate which put out Daniels and scored on Niehoff's hits.
