WOMAN'S WAY

By MARJORIE CLOUGH

The ladies of Ringwood, having decided to establish an orphan asylum, met for the purpose and organized. Then they appointed various committees and adjourned for one week, when they came together again to hear the reports. All committees reported favorable results except the committee appointed to rent a house for the asylum.

The only place large enough for the purpose," reported Mrs. Imogen Brainard, chairman of the committee, "and with grounds such as we must have is the Canfield property. It has been vacant for two years, but has just been taken by a man's literary club, to be called the Goldsmith. Unfortunately a lease was signed by the owner and by the officers of the club only yesterday."

"Perhaps," said mild mannered Miss Handing, "if the gentlemen of the club knew that we wanted it for the dear children they would."

"Hold on to it," Mrs. Jimber continued, "just as tenaciously as they would if we wanted it for any other purpose. Far be it from me to become a suppliant to them. I prefer a heroic method. I move that a committee be appointed to go to them and demand that they give up the property to us."

The motion was carried, and Mrs. Jimber, Miss Bates and Miss Handing were appointed on the committee. Mrs. Jimber being chairman.

The three members of the Goldsmith club's committee on house consisted of Mr. Flint, Mr. Downing and Mr. Fairweather. Mr. Flint was among men when Mrs. Jimber was among women. When the asylum committee called upon him to give up to them the Canfield property he replied with an emphatic "No!" Messrs. Downing and Fairweather, though sympathizing with him in retaining the place for the club, could not but feel that Miss Bates and Miss Handing, who were comely, looked upon the refusal as extremely ungentle.

Mrs. Jimber issued a request that the members of the club meet, march to the property in dispute, take possession of it and hold it. Mr. Flint got wind of the movement and barred all the doors and windows.

This made a deadlock for both clubs. The men knew that if they opened the house the women would take possession, and so long as it was locked up it could not be used either for a club or an orphan asylum. There was a meeting of the women's committee to take measures for further procedure. Mrs. Jimber was in favor of proposing that every woman interested in the asylum cut every member of the club. Her colleagues did not agree with her as to the effectiveness of this measure. Then the chairman suggested that they use militant methods, threatening to destroy the property. But it was pointed out to her that the club was not the owner of it and might prefer to see it ruined rather than be forced to give it up. Then Mrs. Jimber lost her temper and told the other two members of the committee that she would have nothing more to do with the matter.

One day Miss Bates heard that Mr. Flint had been called away. She wrote a note to Mr. Downing stating that a majority of the asylum committee would be pleased to see the club's committee that evening at her house for the purpose of making a proposition that would, she thought, be satisfactory to the men and end the deadlock upon the property in dispute.

Since Mr. Flint was away and Mrs. Jimber would have nothing more to do with the matter the interview was between Mr. Downing and Mr. Fairweather on the one part and Miss Bates and Miss Handing on the other. The two men, both of whom were bachelors, went to the place of meeting together, each hoping to parry what was expected to be some sharp move on the part of the women and do it without wounding their feelings.

Miss Bates, by way of smoothing the way, she said, proposed a game of cards, and before it was finished a maid brought in refreshments. After that Mr. Downing paired with Miss Bates and Mr. Fairweather with Miss Handing. Each gentleman was feeling very comfortable and very happy when Miss Bates whispered to Miss Handing:

"I have named a price at which Mr. Downing will recommend that the club let us have the Canfield property. I have agreed to give him a kiss before both clubs assembled when we take possession. He has accepted. See if you can get the same terms from Mr. Fairweather."

Miss Handing succeeded in securing the terms, both men thinking the matter a bluff. As soon as the ladies had effected the arrangement they decided the conference ended.

The next morning the two committees received a note addressed to them by their entertainers of the night before stating that they would be at the steps of the Canfield property the next afternoon ready to keep their contract.

The men now began to consider the position they were in. If the women had the hardihood to face two clubs in such a case of graft the men had not. They drew up a statement giving the best of reasons why the Goldsmith club should assign their lease of the property in question to the asylum managers. Their recommendation was accepted.

ELECTRIC CITY SPARKLETS

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

(From Thursday's Daily)

Anderson Will Send Delegates. A telegram was received in Anderson yesterday from John Wood, president of the Southern Division of the Commercial Secretaries of the United States, in which Mr. Wood urges that Anderson and other Southern cities be represented at the National Association meeting which is to be held in Cincinnati, O., September 28, 29 and 30. Mr. Wood says he considers this a splendid time to boost the "Buy-a-Bale" movement by the Southerners in attendance at the meeting and he expects the movement to the people of the West and the North because they are as much interested in the South's financial condition as are the people of the South. It is probable that Anderson will send two or more representatives to this meeting.

Negro Woman In Trouble. Polly Geiger, wanted in Anderson for cutting and stabbing Ella Harris the back last Sunday night while the two were attending services at Wilson Cavalry church, was arrested Tuesday night in Williamston and was brought to Anderson yesterday. She was arraigned in Magistrate Broadwell's court on a charge of disturbing religious worship and drew a sentence of $25 or 30 days and then she was tried on a charge of assault and battery and she drew a similar sentence in this case. Not having the coin with which to pay her fine, she will be thrown into durance vile, in other words she will spend the next 60 days in jail.

Big Show Is Coming Here. Announcement has been made that the "Big Ranch," probably the biggest show of its kind in the world, will make only four stops in the South Carolina on its trip south this year. The show will visit Spartanburg, Greenville, Anderson and Columbia and will be in the city some time in October. The first advance man has already come to Anderson and he says that "his show is the biggest thing of its kind to be seen this year. A number of Anderson people have seen this attraction at one time and another and a number of them remember seeing it when it exhibited at the Jamestown Exposition in 1907.

Sam Jones Was Elected Captain. At a meeting of the Anderson High School football team, held yesterday morning, Sam Jones was elected captain of the team. Under Capt. Jones' direction the football team should be a factor when the season is opened. The team is hard at work at practice and some games are being booked with neighboring towns. It is understood that the members of the team will go on a hike Saturday morning to Clemson College.

Negro Lost Little Finger. While at work in the Peoples Oil Mill yesterday morning, a negro named Andrew Jackson got his left hand caught in the gin and as a result the hand was badly lacerated. The little finger was entirely cut off by the saw and the negro barely managed to withdraw his hand or he would have lost the entire member.

Anderson Still "Buying a Bale." The "Buy-a-Bale" movement seems to be increasing in Anderson every day, and the people of the city are manifesting more interest, notwithstanding the fact that there has been a slump in the market quotation on cotton within the last few days. Yesterday the Red Cross Drug store, the Lessor Company and the Bee Hive all bought bales and a number of individuals also made purchases.

Chicken Fanciers Are All Interested. Evidently there has long been a demand in Anderson county for a poultry show, judging from the number of inquiries being received at the Anderson Chamber of Commerce every day regarding the plans for the exhibit. It is planned to hold the poultry show sometime in November, probably about the middle of the month, and it is said that there will be exhibitors present from every section of the county.

Give Samples of Fleecy Staple. The Anderson Chamber of Commerce has ordered a number of very unique little souvainers which will be presented to everyone in Anderson joining in the "Buy-a-Bale" movement. The souvainer is a little basket filled with cotton and was manufactured by the American Cotton Novelty company of Union, in this State. They are expected to reach Anderson today and will be distributed to the people buying a bale today.

A Few of the Indications as to How the Wind is Settling In. John Wasmakke declares that within the next fortnight business conditions will take a turn for the better. He says: "I think everything points to easier times and to great opportunities for American manufacturers." Discussing the retail situation, he said: "I am not raising prices even though I have to pay from 10 to 20 per cent more for merchandise."

Local Company's Business Is Fine. Men connected with the Anderson Gas Company say that business conditions in Anderson just at this time may be poor with some people, but that this does not apply to the gas company. Employees of that company said yesterday that they were doing more business than they had done since the enterprise was launched in Anderson and that it is almost impossible for them to keep up with their new business.

Iva School Has Bright Prospect. The public school of Iva has begun its fall session and according to the county superintendent of education, this school has bright prospects for the coming year. Mr. Felton says that very capable instructors have been secured for this year and he expects the people of Iva to be well pleased with the work done by the school when the session comes to a close.

Miss Maxwell Was Bored Yesterday. The financial services over the remains of Miss Christine Maxwell were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the Blockley home on North Main street and the interment took place immediately after at Silver Brook cemetery. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

THEIR SUFFERING ENDED. Hundreds of your neighbors are ready to tell you just what a life new for them and relieved them of the tortures of ill health, if you will let them. They have used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy to purify their blood and enrich the life-giving fluid so that all the body functions could work properly. When that was done and the organs got a chance to do their work, Nature cleared up their troubles, so that they are now well. It doesn't much matter whether the trouble is laid at the digestion, the nerves or the skin. Back of it all is the fact that the blood is either not good enough or positive poisoned. Of course you cannot get well, digest what you eat or rest in sleep, as long as what ought to give your nerves tone and your digestion energy and strength is poisoned every minute of the day. Get the blood right. Moses said "It is the life." When the blood is right you live. Here is what one of your neighbors declares: "A few years ago I was a terrible sufferer from blood poison. If the skin would be broken from any cause the flesh would become inflamed, would itch and burn and develop in sores. Mrs. Joe Person persuaded me to use her remedy. I bought a dozen bottles and it cured me." Mrs. G. F. Medlin, Weldon, N. C. If your druggist cannot supply you, a dollar sent to the Remedy Sales Corporation, Charlotte, N. C., will bring you this remedy.

A UNIQUE ADVERTISING SCHEME THAT WILL GET RESULTS. The wide awake and progressive Haberdashers, The T. L. Cely Co., are going to pull off a novel advertising scheme that is worthy of attention. In this issue of The Intelligencer there appears quite a large announcement from this good company stating that they have bought such a large assortment of really swell hats for this Fall that they are very proud of them and wanted every-body in the county to know about them; and, in order to accomplish this fact they decided to take a part of their regular newspaper advertising appropriation and give a Circus ticket absolutely free with every cash purchase of a hat selling for as much as two dollars or more. Of course the newspapers lose a part of their income on this Circus ticket—but as long as it is for such a good cause—the Circus—the Intelligencer will not kick. You can bet your last dollars that there will be hats bought as a result of this novel advertising scheme that otherwise would never have been bought; and again, there are men who will buy a hat in order to get one of these tickets, and then buy something else in this same store that they had not thought of buying when they first entered the store. Advertising is a powerful thing.
