S. C. Congressmen Called On President Yesterday

Washington, Oct. 7, Special.—Messrs. Finley, Johnson, Lever, Aiken, Whaley and Byrnes of the South Carolina delegation in congress called on the President today to discuss with him the cotton situation. They were impressed with the president's thorough sympathy with the Southern States in their abnormal condition and are convinced that he will use all the power at his command to relieve the situation. It is not believed however that the President favors or that congress will pass any of the emergency bills that have been proposed, and the solution seems not to be yet in sight. The suggestion had been made that Panama bonds to the extent of $100,000,000 be issued and sold the proceeds to be deposited in the distressed sections. It is not believed, however, that the President has changed the view expressed in his recent message that it would be unwise to issue bonds at this time. It is understood that Messrs. Johnson, Finley and Whaley are opposed to final adjournment at this time without action for the relief of the South. Messrs. Johnson and Finley declare that while they are not wedded to any particular plan they are unwilling to adjourn without the federal government having done whatever it can to relieve the situation. Thomas H. Daniels.

ELECTRIC CITY SPARKLETS

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

City Almost Normal Again

The late cars leaving Anderson last night were crowded to the guards with people returning to their homes after the big circus day here. The crowd, while a little smaller than has been the case on previous circus days, was still larger than most towns in this section witness for the gala occasion. It is estimated that all told over 10,000 or possibly 11,000 people witnessed the afternoon performance and many people walked the streets, without visiting the show grounds at all. The circus is really "bigger and better" and it upholds the reputation of being the best in the world.

Able Speaker For The Country Show.

According to advices received in Anderson yesterday from Frank C. Hare, that gentleman will come to Anderson on November 17 to attend the Anderson county poultry show and will deliver an address, while the show is in progress. Mr. Hare is in charge of the poultry husbandry department of Clemson College and is an expert on everything relating to poultry. His coming will be awaited with interest and the additional announcement that he is to secure some moving picture films of poultry farms to exhibit here will also please the poultry dealers.

Georgia People Here Yesterday.

Wayne Todd, for some time night clerk at the Chiquola hotel, came over from Elberton, Ga., yesterday to attend the circus. Mr. Todd was accompanied by a number of friends from his town and he said that there seemed to be more Georgia people in town for the day than people from South Carolina towns. Hartwell and Elberton were both well represented throughout the day.

Condition of Patient Improved.

A telegram was received in Anderson yesterday from J. M. Evans, who has been undergoing in Johns Hopkins hospital, at Baltimore, which conveyed the school news that Mr. Evans is fast recovering from his indisposition and it is expected he will reach home Saturday. This will be very welcome news to Mr. Evans' many friends in all parts of Anderson county.

Many Drivers Lost Their Heads.

Anderson streets were probably more crowded with traffic yesterday than they have been since circus day of last year. Countless automobiles from every part of South Carolina and some from Georgia plied the streets while it would be impossible to even estimate the number of wagons and buggies on the streets. Many drivers lost their heads and some their tempers as well as various impolite epithets were hurled from one side of the road to the other.

Shaping Plans For the Elevator.

Plans are well under way for the building of a grain elevator in Anderson and so far as can now be seen there is absolutely no reason why the venture should not be launched. A number of firms engaged in the construction of grain elevators, with machinery for equipping same, are now in communication with local parties and within the next few days a number of representatives of various houses will come to Anderson to confer with the local promoters of the scheme.

Cutting Scraps Was Not Serious.

The most serious row to occur yesterday, although it hardly amounted to anything really serious, took place about 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the Farmers Cafe when Peter F. Shaw, of the Carwell Institute, section was slashed across the forehead with a razor. The police were summoned and quickly quelled the difficulty when they took a hand. Three arrests were made and Shaw's wounds were attended by a physician. He has already recovered.

New Insurance Man in the City.

Anderson extends a welcome to Mr. W. W. Sloman, who has come to Anderson to make his home, having been a resident of Spartanburg for some time. Mr. Sloman is a young insurance man of ability, and is connected with the Carolina Insurance Company. Mr. Sloman contemplates moving his family here in the near future.

Advance Men Line Anderson.

Anderson men from the famous 101 Ranch were in Anderson yesterday putting up the lithographs for their show and making arrangements for the show's visit to this city on October 27. They say that they are certainly pleased with what they saw of Anderson as a show town and expect good business here.

Cotton Oil Mill To Use New Sacks.

A letter as received in Anderson yesterday from the Waterboro Cotton Oil Company, of Waterboro, in which they say that they are planning to use cotton cloth meal sacks from this time on. The firm had heard that some business men in Anderson was placing these sacks on the market and straightway made an effort to get in touch with him, since they naturally desire to aid the Southern farmer as much as possible.

May Do Away With the B. F. D.

A number of Anderson people are much alarmed over a rumor heard on the streets to the effect that the government is, contemplating doing away with the every day delivery of mail on some of the rural free delivery routes in Anderson county and making the service every other day instead. Whether or not the report heard here is authentic remains to be seen, but grave apprehensions are being entertained and considerable fear is evinced that there may be some truth in the rumor. No section of the county could afford to lose its present mail facilities and doubtless protests will soon be going to Washington by the dozen.

Motorist Here Is On Long Trip.

Samuel Young, accompanied by his mother and father, arrived in Anderson last night, en route from his home at Pittsburgh, Pa., to his winter place in Tampa, Fla. Mr. Young is making the trip in a Buick, 1915 model. He says that Anderson can boast of one stretch of the best road to be found between Flint, Mich., and Atlanta, Ga. The particular piece of road referred to by Mr. Young is from Williamston to Anderson. Speaking of road questions, Mr. Young says that the road from the Virginia line to Rocky Mount, N. C., is the worst he ever saw. The distance is only 28 miles, but it required all day for him to make the trip.

Others Also Would Like It.

A well known cotton man of Texas evidently thinks that conditions in South Carolina are considerably better than they are in his State. He wrote to Anderson yesterday, saying that he would like to dispose of between 10,000 and 25,000 bales of cotton to Anderson mills. Not only the man in Texas but farmers around Anderson would like to dispose of the same article to the local mills if they could command what they believe it is worth.

Railroad Will Curtail Service.

Anderson people will learn with some regret that the Southern railway is planning to curtail its service between Greenville, Belton and Greenwood. Four trains are to be taken off, according to the plan presented before the South Carolina railroad commission. Officials of the railroad stated to the commission that sweeping reductions are imperative and that they are having to retrench all along the line.

Let the various communities heed the editor's request for news letters. These will interest he readers; and, as pointed out by Editor Smoak, will bring the community into public view. And, last, but not least, every newspaper is glad to print the news; and for much of this they must depend on community correspondents. Let us hear from all sections; it will do us all good. Suffragist, addressing her husband: "What we suffragists want is to sweep the world." Husband: "Well, don't despise small beginnings. Suppose you make a start with the dining-room, my dear."

AT THE THEATRES.

The bill presented yesterday at the Palmetto Theatre by the Frankford Manti Musical Comedy Co. was one of the greatest successes of the season, entitled "The Pleasure Seekers." The stage was brilliantly lighted in the national colors, red, white and blue. The feature was the trick pianist and the latest society dances. The Castle Folks being exceptionally great, almost equalling the originators of this dance—Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle. They continue for the balance of the week at this popular play house, with a complete change of program today.

NATIONAL COTTON GOODS WEEK. In Anderson Oct. 12 to 17. Big Doings.

In confidential chats between women the problem of managing men becomes a comparatively simple art at which all of the parties to the conversation are past-masters. A woman may not be able to hit anything with a stone but she can cast a ballot straight. One thing about money, when it gets tight it keeps out of sight. The bride at Kermit's wedding had to take a back seat for daddy-in-law.
