We sell this famous line and have said time and again what we say now, that Carhartt's are the best famous Overalls and Working Garments in existence.

Railroad Blue—Carhartt's—all sizes pants and jumpers, $1.00 the garment.

Brickmasons—Carhartt's—all sizes, $1.00 the garment.

Expressmen's neat stripes—Carhartt's—all sizes, $1.00 the garment.

TOUR OF EUROPE

The following is the first installment of a series of articles by Prof. Milledge L. Bonham, Jr., descriptive of his tour of Europe during the summer. Mr. Bonham does not need an introduction to the readers of The Intelligencer, being the son and namesake of Gen. M. L. Bonham, than whom there is no better known nor well beloved member of the local bar. These articles will, therefore, possess a double interest to the readers of this page. These articles are being published in The Reveille, the official journal of the Louisiana State University Athletic Association. Prof. Bonham has the chair of history in this institution.

M. L. Bonham, Jr.

In response to your request for an account of my recent trip to Europe, limits of space and time will permit me to give only a few rambling notes, which by no means give an adequate idea of the pleasure and profit I derived from the journey.

Mrs. Bonham and I sailed from New Orleans on June 3, by the North German Lloyd steamer Breslau. There were only 120 cabin passengers, so we soon became acquainted and made some very pleasant friends during the 18-day voyage, which also enabled us to discover what careful and expert navigators the Germans are.

Bremen, our first stop, is a splendid, energetic town. Despite the quaint houses and rambling streets, it is thoroughly wide-awake and impresses visitors with its cleanliness and beauty. I never realized what roses could be until I saw the parks in Bremen.

From Bremen we went to Cologne, where, of course, the finest Gothic cathedral in the world received most of our attention. In this city we took our first ride on a European street car. We weren't going anywhere in particular, just got on the car to escape the rain. I handed the conductor the smallest coin in my pocket, a mark (about 24 cents). He gave me two tickets, but no change, and let us ride to the end of the line.

handed me a London Daily Mail. Until this visit I had never heard of Wiertz, the great Belgian painter. He was a poor boy of genius, but for lack of funds could not pursue his art studies. The state offered him a pension on condition that he was to sell public property. The result is a gallery filled with wonderful pictures. Most of them are gigantic canvases preaching peace by depicting the horrors and folly of war. There are also portraits of relatives, religious and mythological subjects, etc. One small picture illustrates his kindness. A laboring woman, returning to her cottage at night, finds that her baby has fallen in the fire and been terribly burned. Having no money to help them, Wiertz painted a picture of the mother's finding the child on the hearth, and put it on exhibition; it is so vivid and appealing that funds were soon raised to help the unfortunate. All the fees Wiertz received from the exhibition were given to them also.

In Brussels, we, of course, saw the process of lace-making, and the Flemish dogs drawing the carts and milk wagons. I spent a very interesting and profitable day walking about the battle field of Waterloo.

Eight delightful days were spent in Paris, and it would take me more than eight days to describe the artistic and historical treasures that we saw, so I shall give you only a few personal incidents. I saw the Mona Lisa and the Winged Victory; they came quite up to my ideals of them.

One evening at a restaurant we were waited on by a negro. I asked him if he were American; he said "French," and told me in French that "Zack" Zanon would fight that evening. The day we went to Versailles we decided to take lunch with us to save time, so I went into a delicatessen shop and amazed the woman by demanding a kilometre of ham. That afternoon while waiting for the train to take us back to Paris we decided to get some ice cream if we could. In French that would have made Prof. Broussard's soul writhe. I tried to impress on the waiter that we didn't want sherbet, but ice cream. Finally he seemed to understand and said, "Je comprends, vous desirez a cold cow." The cold cow turned out to be a glass of sour milk with a few flakes of ice in it.

We left Paris on July 3, as we wished to spend the Fourth in Columbus' birth place. After a beautiful trip, through picturesque lowlands and mountains, we arrived about dusk at Leuven, the most beautiful spot in the world, as I joyfully believe. An immaculately clean, city, with quaint houses, rises in terraces up the mountain side; every terrace, every yard, every window, is gorgeous with flowers, and at the foot of the city is Lake Geneva, bluer than a freshman after the midyear exams; about it rise majestic mountains, many of them snow-capped, others shrouded in clouds. Management Deserve Much Credit for Excellent Display of Fine Horses.

(From Thursday's Daily.) The Piedmont Fair, which embraces fifteen counties of this State, opened in Greenwood yesterday morning. The attendance was not as large in the morning as was hoped for, due no doubt to the free street parade of a wild west show. However, the crowds increased in the afternoon. The officers were well pleased and are confident that the attendance will be much larger the two remaining days of the fair.

Air Flights. The feature attractions of the day was two flights made by the aviator, John Richter of New York. Ladies Department. Special mention should be made of the beautiful articles of fancy work entered by the ladies. Several hundred entries were made and it was impossible to display each one in the limited space allotted to this department.

Schools and Colleges. The exhibits of the schools and colleges were exceptionally good. The Greenwood county schools were well represented and also the colleges, Lander, Due West Female College and the Bailey Military Institute. A special feature of this department was the excellent display of art by Lander and Due West Female Colleges.

Cattle. A great deal of interest was shown in the splendid cattle exhibit. A number of fine breeds, such as Aberdeen Angus, Red Pole (beef type) Hereford, Devon and Jerseys were shown.

Hogs. Probably the largest hog even seen in Greenwood, is the Duroc Jersey, on exhibition at the fair, weighing about 900 pounds and raised at Ninety Six. A number of other fine hogs were shown, including Berkshire, Poland China and Essex.

SEVERAL WARRANTS YET TO BE SERVED

RUMORED THAT POLICE HAVE A NUMBER OF SURPRISES YET IN STORE

SEVEN YESTERDAY

B. T. Peale Pleaded Guilty in Five Cases and Compromised at $100.

It is rumored that the police force has a number of surprises in store for the citizens of Anderson in the near future. It is stated that they have a number of warrants for offenders in the liquor agitation now attracting as much attention as the European war, and that when these are served there will be even greater surprises.

In order that interest should not lag, yesterday afternoon late seven additional warrants were served. Of these four were on J. E. Derrick, and one on L. H. Ewell, H. T. Ewell and Marion Eskew. The warrants charge that H. T. Ewell, L. H. Ewell and Marion Eskew were guilty of aiding and abetting in keeping and maintaining a place where alcoholic liquors were received and kept for sale. The warrants served on Derrick charge that he committed it is alleged, between the 7th of September and the 20th of October, and between the 21st and 25th of October.

Bond was given by these defendants as follows: J. E. Derrick, $500; L. H. Ewell, $200; H. T. Ewell, $200; Eskew, not being able to furnish bond, is still in the jail.

Peale Pleads Guilty. One of the defendants in the raid made Sunday night, B. T. Peale, pleaded guilty through his attorney, Mr. Rogers of Bennettsville, and his brother, who came to the city upon hearing that the young man was in trouble. There were five cases against this defendant, but upon his pleading guilty, with the consent of the recorder and mayor, and with the promise that he would leave town and not return, it was agreed by the City Attorney to allow him to pay a fine of $100, having the fines in the remaining cases suspended.

Facing Starvation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—One thousand inhabitants of Jerusalem are facing starvation, according to Samuel Edelman, American vice consul in that city, who reached here today on the steamer Ancona. For many years they have depended upon their earnings from tourism for support, and the war has cut off all their sources of subsistence.

War Likely to Last Longer Than Thought

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, Oct. 29. (1:42 a. m.)—"The German semi-official press has changed its mind and admits the war is likely to last longer than it originally thought," says Reuters' Amsterdam correspondent. "The North German Gazette," the correspondent continues, "urges the necessity to husband the wheat resources. The newspaper estimates that Germany has sufficient corn for bread for the army and the population until the next harvest, but it adds that the war may last longer and the Germans must be able to hold out until a lasting peace is secured."
