TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.
The accounts of both The Sentinel and Journal, whether of recent date or old accounts, are due and payable to me, and I kindly ask each and every person to at once come forward and settle up. We have too many sets of books to look after and must wind them up and reduce to the set now being prepared for The Sentinel Journal. A prompt and early settlement of these old accounts will save trouble and court costs.
All subscriptions to The Sentinel-Journal are due this fall and we ask all subscribers to come in and settle up as soon as they put their cotton on the market.

Sambo's Version of Children's Day at Mt. Carmel.
You boss, I'm dare you bet, and seed de hole thing fru fru from de singing ob de fust song till de spreading ob de dinner. Well now, here's de way it went by. De fust thing I knowed day wuz a singing "Jesus Lubber ob My Soul," for I knowed it I wuz des yella in de white folks, only I'es des a heap louder, case it made me feel des-like I did when I wuz converted in de white folks' church in slavery time, and den come redress ob welcome from de superintendent, which made me feel des-like I wuz to home.
Next, dey read scripture about how we ought to lub God and de big class recited de Ten Commandments. A little girl said-rotation "but I'es de way it went by, and after a prayer four little girls said one "bout de Holy Scriptures which wuz enjoyed bess by dem dat wuz'n der. Next wuz a putty song, den another piece—De Bible says I May, —wuz a good un, if I does say it. Den ten gals ob boys etoid in line and said "God can change de nature ob heart," each one had a heart of pastore black on one side and white on de udder, en when dey said say dere part dey'd turn de white side round, and I des tell you it des made more pression on my constitution dan anything I'es ever seen, case I'm sure how God can change my heart to be es whiter an snow. Two more rotations, one "bout "Peace in de heart," an de udder "bout "Now in my youth," den a prayer for de salvation ob every soul in de Sunday school which I hartily jined into, case I'es seshually interested in dem young folks an den dey read letters from de heathen land en got $7.19 fer to send Bibles to de destitute.

Wuz den, de sistant superintendent made a short talk an den de teachers' Bible to de superintendent as a gift ob de Sunday school for his faithful work. I know he preshated de gift from de way he blushed and thanked 'em. Den come de good ole time feast—dinner wuz spread on a long table—my at de rashuns! Ebery one des eat all day wanted en more on dey wanted, en dey had plenty lef.
In de evening dey had some good singing and a talk on influence which wuz well listened to by all.
De crowd wuz dismissed on each wun wended his homeward feeling glad he had cum. I'es glad I lided to see sich day an I wouldn't keef if dey cum oftener, say boss, would you?
Well, I hear my ole cow a bellerin an cyclone a brayen, so I must be gwine, I'll tell you de res sum udder time.

Accidental Shooting.
Tuesday morning, while working at Mr. Gus Hawkins' saw mill near High Falls, Mr. Louis Elliott accidentally shot himself with a shot gun, the entire load entering his head, killing him instantly.
The particulars of the sad affair are as follows:
Mr. Elliott had carried his gun to the saw mill, and stood it in the fork of the tongue of an ox wagon, when by accident he struck the hammer against the tongue and caused the gun to fire. The load entered his head, tearing one side entirely off, causing instant death.
Several other hands were employed at the mill, but none were with Mr. Elliott when the shot was fired, and when they heard the report they rushed to him, only to find that their friend and co-worker had met death in the manner above described.
Mr. Elliott was a hard working, honest man, and leaves a wife and four little children, besides many other relatives and hosts of friends who deeply mourn the loss of their friend and loved one.—Oconee News, 1st instant.

"Shall We Meet Again, Clementho."
There is no appeal from the great law which dooms us to the dust. We flourish and fade as the leaves of the forest, and flowers that bloom—wither and fade in a day, have no firmer hold on life than the mightiest monarch that ever shook the earth his foot steps. Generations of men appear and disappear as footprints on the shore.
Men seldom think of the great events of death until the shadow falls across their own pathway, hiding from their eyes the faces of loved ones whose smiles was the sunlight of their existence.
Death is the antagonist of life and the thought of the tomb is the skeleton of all feasts.
We do not want to go down through the dark valley although the dark passage may lead to paradise. We do not want to go down into the damp graves even with princes as bed fellows.
In the beautiful drama of Isom the hope of immortality so gloriously uttered by the death devoted Greek, who finds deep repose in every thoughtful soul when about to yield has a sacrifice to fate. His Clementho asks if they shall meet again, to which he responds, I have asked that dreadful question of the hills that look eternal—of the clear streams that flow forever—of the stars among whose fields of azure raised spirits have walked in glory.
All are dumb. But as I gaze upon the living face, I feel that there is something in love that mingles through its beauty that cannot wholly perish. We shall meet again Clementho.

Death of Mrs. Clara Gassaway.
Died on Aug. 24, at the residence of Thos. H. Gassaway, near Liberty, Mrs. Clara Gassaway, the widow of Thos. H. Gassaway, in her eighty-fourth year. She was buried the following day in the Gassaway cemetery near Central. Her husband had preceded her to the grave forty-eight years ago. She was a daughter of Benjamin McGee, of Edgefield, Oconee county, who died there before the Confederate war. She has one sister living, Mrs. Laura Mason, of Wallhalla, who is in her ninety-second year.
Mrs. Gassaway was a member of the Methodist church and had been for over a half a century. Her membership at the time of her death was in Fairview Methodist church near Catechee. Three children survive her: Mrs. Rosa Madlen, of Calhoun, J. E. Gassaway, of Sherman, and Thos. H. Gassaway, of Liberty, who is one of the best citizens and farmers in Pickens county. The grand-children are Tecos, Hattie, Josie and John T. Madden, of Calhoun.
As a wife she was a true companion, loving and faithful; as a mother, she was consecrated and devoted to her children; as a friend, kind and accommodating.
Farewell kind friend, we will live with the sweet assurance that our loss is your gain.
"His own soft hand shall wipe the tears
From every weeping eye,
And pains and groans and griefs and fears,
And death itself shall die."

Teachers' Association.
The call of the County Board of Education for Saturday, the 26th ult., was heartily complied with by about twenty progressive teachers of the county. Considering the inclemency of the day, the attendance was gratifying.
Helpful talks were made by County Superintendent Hallum, Messrs. Stalvey, Stoddard and Dendy. The teachers concluded to organize themselves into a permanent association for self-improvement and advancement.
The organization was perfected by the election of the following officers: R. T. Hallum, president; A. B. Stalvey, vice-president, and Miss Marie Folger, secretary.
The organization passed a resolution that will not only be of interest to all the teachers of the county, but of positive advantage if observed by the teachers. The resolution is as follows:
"Resolved, That it is the sense of the teachers of Pickens county in convention assembled, that the habitual practice of allowing interruptions by pupils during recitations is hurtful to the progress of the school, and that it be forthwith discontinued."
A. B. Stalvey,
W. E. Dendy,
(Miss) Marie Folger,
Committee.

The teachers will meet about once a month, and after the next meeting, which will be held at Pickens, will meet with the different schools throughout the county.

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Peruna in the House for Catarrhal Diseases.

MR. AND MRS. J. O. ATKINSON, INDEPENDENCE, MO.
UNDER date of January 10, 1903, Dr. Hartman received the following letter:
"My wife had been suffering from a complication of diseases for the past 25 years.
"Her case had baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing.
"She also was passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life. In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Maalain, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her. She firmly believes that she would have died had only for these wonderful remedies.
"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of 25 years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me.
"Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more. Catarrh cannot exist where Peruna is taken in the directions. Success to you and your remedies."
John O. Atkinson.

Another Alleged Assault.
Charles Patterson, white, a married man who lives at the Mills mill was arrested Thursday afternoon and is now in jail upon a charge of rape upon the person of Ida Reeves, 20 years old, daughter of E. W. Reeves, of Polzer. The girl came here on Tuesday afternoon in search of work at the mills and was taken by a former acquaintance in a hack to a house of ill fame, where she spent the night.
Thursday afternoon she met at this house with two men who told her to get away from there, and if she would take a car for the Poe mill, they would find her work and a home. Acting upon their advice she left the house and went towards the trolley line, but met with Patterson on the way, who said he was going to the Poe mill, and would take her there. The girl was never here before, and accepted the offer of an entire stranger.
Her story is that they went past the Woodside mill into a place of woods, where the man accomplished his object. He then went on with the girl to a boarding house at Monaghan mills, where he obtained lodgings for the girl at midnight, saying she was his cousin and had just come in on the train.
The facts were developed after Patterson left the boarding house and the next morning there was some agitation among the mill people at Monaghan, but no effort was made to find Patterson.
The organization was perfected by the election of the following officers: R. T. Hallum, president; A. B. Stalvey, vice-president, and Miss Marie Folger, secretary.

Texas Boll Weevil in Greenville.
It may be well to say at the outset that the Texas boll weevil has made its appearance in Greenville not of its own accord, but was sent through the mail to Mr. Geo. W. Sirrine, of this city, securely packed and effectually caged. The weevil are now homesteaded in a box with a glass cover, underneath which can be seen the tiny insects with their long bills and cotton bolls that have been emptied of their contents, while in other bolls are the nests where the weevil hatch out the worms that in course of time develop into the destructive fly.
Mr. J. B. Rylander, of San Marcos, Texas, sent these specimens of the boll weevil to his friend and relative, Mr. Sirrine, who in turn has exhibited them to his friends. Mr. Rylander is a large planter on the Gaudeloupe river, about thirty miles from San Antonio, and his crop has suffered immensely from the boll weevil. Usually he makes 125 bales of cotton, but this season he will get more than 25 bales, and he is right in the heart of the cotton region. This is an indication of the destructive power of the boll weevil, and also denotes the shortness of the cotton crop in Texas.—Greenville Mountaineer, 3d inst.

Emergency Medicines.
It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that may be used as a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it always the pain and soothes the injury. It is used in about one third the time usually required, and as it is antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is on hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Pickens Drug Co., Earle's Drug Store, T. N. Hunter, Liberty.

MADE FRAUDULENT INVOICE.
Man Came From Germany and Voluntarily Surrendered.
New York, Oct. 2.—Coming voluntarily from Nuremberg, Germany, to surrender and answer to a charge made by the government of entering a fraudulent invoice, Paul Reinemann has been arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields and entered a plea of not guilty. He furnished cash bail in the sum of $2,500.
According to the complaint, Reinemann, who is engaged in the export hop business and had a New York office, shipped a quantity of hops to Carl Noldhart, at Chattanooga, Tenn., valued at $5,000. In one of the bales of hops, the complaint says, the exporter placed two dozen toy trick watches valued at $2 each, which were not on the invoice. The presence of these watches in the hops was in some unknown manner discovered by the government agents, who permitted them to remain that they might arrest Noldhart after he had taken them out.
The latter pleaded guilty to the charge after indictment by the federal court of Tennessee. The motive for sending the so-called trick watches in the hops was not, it is stated, to escape paying the duty, but to get them into this country.
