CHICAGO FLYER ON SANTA FE WRECKED

Spikes Had Been Removed From Rails on Bridge.

WAS PRECIPITATED INTO CREEK.

Train Was Filled With Eastern Bankers Returning From the Convention at San Francisco—Ten or Twelve Passengers More or Less Injured.

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 30.—The east-bound Chicago "Flyer" on the Santa Fe road was wrecked at 1:30 this morning at Apispha creek, 3 miles east of Fowler.

The spikes had been removed from one rail on the bridge over the creek, and when the engine left the track one span of the bridge 100 feet long went down.

Two cars with the engine fell into the creek. Engineer John Walker was badly scalded. Ten or twelve persons were injured.

The private car occupied by A. S. Winkler and a party of eastern bankers returning from the annual convention of the National Bankers' Association at San Francisco, was attached to the train, but so far as ascertained none of this party was injured. There was but little water in the creek.

The Pullman coach left with the engine over the bridge, but stopped and the other cars, all full of passengers, including a number of Kimberley's special cars, remained on the track.

TO DISPELL DOUBTS.

Autopsy is Held on Body of Chicago Millionaire Contractor.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—In order to dispel doubts that had arisen regarding the true nature of the illness which caused the death of H. J. Sexton, the millionaire contractor, on Wednesday, an autopsy has been held at the residence in Michigan avenue.

Vague rumors had been floating about during the time subsequent to Mr. Sexton's death to the effect that arsenical poisoning was indicated in the patient's symptoms and in the appearance of the body after death.

Neither the widow nor the son, two of whom survive, placed any evidence in the rumors, but to set them at rest they arranged for a post mortem examination. This was to make clear the cause of death as deterioration of the spinal chord, attended by neuritis and anæmia had developed.

The quickness with which the collapse came finally led to the thought to have given rise to the baseless rumors.

New York, Oct. 30.—While being congratulated by a number of women friends on her twenty-fifth birthday at her temporary residence in Brooklyn, Miss Rose Rosenthal, eldest daughter of the late Adolph Rosenthal, a wealthy jeweler, of Charleston, N. About a thousand delegates were in attendance, making the conclave the largest ever known in the history of Georgia Masonry.

For several years prior to that time he held the office of state examiner—now known as state auditor and in that capacity rendered service of great value to the state. As state treasurer his services have given entire satisfaction to the people.

Mr. Knott has no opposition for the nomination which he seeks.

Test Case Prepared.

New York, Oct. 30.—A test case has been prepared by the corporation counsel and will be heard shortly to establish the city's right to collect in penalties $15,000.00 for alleged violations of an ordinance prohibiting the building of "vaults under the sidewalk." The matter has been under discussion a long time, but has just been placed before the courts for the first time. It is claimed by the city officials that 150,000 property holders have violated the ordinance by making excavations under their stores. The penalty is $100, and the payment of a regular rental to be fixed by the city thereafter.

MILLARD LEE DIES ON THE GALLOWS

Pays Death Penalty For His Swoothear's Murder.

HE STOOD THE ORDEAL WELL.

Went to Gallows Without a Tremor. Last Words Were "Have Read My Bible and Made Peace With My God; I am Ready to Die."

Atlanta, Oct. 30.—For the murder of Miss Lila May Suttles, his playmate from childhood and with whom he was afterwards in love, Millard Lee, who has for months and months been confined in jail awaiting the final decision of the court in his case, was this morning hanged in the Fulton county jail.

Lee went on the gallows without a tremor. He stood the ordeal well. He did not flinch. He walked with a firm step, and when his friends bade him goodbye he replied in a steady voice.

Sheriff J. W. Nelms conducted the hanging. He had known Millard Lee from boyhood, and it was a difficult matter for the sheriff to pull the trigger which sent the young murderer into the great hereafter.

Very few people were in the gallows room. Only the officials and three newspaper men were allowed. Lee was pronounced dead shortly after the drop fell by Dr. W. C. Fisher, the county physician.

Millard Lee's Last Words.

Millard Lee's last words were: "I have read my Bible and have made peace with my God; I am ready to die, and know that I will go to heaven."

After this Lee mumbled in a low monotone several sentences that were not audible to those gathered about the gallows.

Last night Lee slept well. At times he would awake, but the death watch says he would immediately go to sleep again. This morning he ate sparingly of the breakfast which was given him and was rather moody. He had but little to say to those around him. He knew that he had to die, and was prepared for it.

When Sheriff Nelms appeared at the cell door and read the death warrant to the condemned man he failed slightly, but quickly recovered himself and announced that he was ready to go. He dressed in a suit of black for the gallows, and was led to the gallows room by Deputy Sheriff Shropshire. There his feet and legs and hands were fastened with ropes, the black cap put in readiness, and after Lee made a few farewell remarks, the black cap was adjusted and the trigger which held the trap door was pulled. Lee's body shot down six feet; then it bounded back about four and then whirled around and around for five or six minutes. After that it was almost motionless, except for a swaying to and fro. Shortly afterwards Dr. Fisher felt his pulse, and listened for his heart beat. Then he was pronounced dead, the body was cut down and placed in a coffin and turned over to his relatives.

The funeral will be held out at Ben Hill this afternoon.

Story of the Crime.

The crime for which Millard Lee paid the death penalty today was committed on May 20, 1902, when he shot and killed Miss Lila May Suttles, a beautiful 17-year-old girl, who lived at Ben Hill, a country village, several miles from Atlanta.

The shooting occurred on Sunday morning and in a church of which Mr. Suttles and Lee were attendants. The tragedy took place directly after the minister had pronounced the benediction and was dismissing the congregation. Lee, who had been very much in love with Miss Suttles, had previously asked to go home with her and she had refused, stating she had an engagement with another, which secured to anger Lee.

During the service Lee had been seated three seats behind her and as she started out of the church, meeting first to face in the aisle, fired three times at her with a pistol. One of the bullets took effect, killing Miss Suttles instantly. She fell at the foot of the altar.

Lee was afterwards captured and at his first trial found guilty of murder and was sentenced to death. Upon the day of execution a plea of insanity was filed by his attorneys and a respite was granted by Governor Terrell. The case was carried to the superior court and upon a technicality was thrown out. An appeal was taken to the supreme court and the judgment of the lower court was reversed. This action occasioned a trial on the plea of insanity, and Lee was adjudged sane. Again the case was appealed to the court of last resort which affirmed the superior court's decision. While the case was pending in the various courts Lee was granted six respites.

TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Case of the International Power Company of New York.

New York, Oct. 30.—An echo of the great rise and still greater fall in the price of International Power company shares on the Stock Exchange in April, 1902, has been heard in the supreme court. Joseph H. Hoadley, alleged to have been connected with the pool which worked up the stock, is charged in an affidavit filed by Joseph Leiter, his former partner, who induced the witness to take half an interest in the purchase of 1,000 shares of $100,000, which he now believes were sold to Leiter and Hoadley by Hoadley himself. Soon they were forced to sell at $50, Mr. Leiter thus being squeezed by his partner, he alleges, for the sum of $65,000.

The affidavit was brought out by the defendant firm of James M. Leopold & Co., who have been sued by Alfred H. Hoadley, an assignee brother of Joseph. The latter claims they have a claim of $80,000 against $150,000 worth of International Power company stock deposited with them by Cyrus Field Judson. The Hoadleys seek to stop a sale, alleging it is their property. Judge Amend has taken the case under advisement.

Leiter and Hoadley were affiliated in the organization of the company, but the former testified that no relations between them in the marketing of their stock ceased in 1901. Hoadley left the city last Sunday on his way south, but was taken ill at Philadelphia, and is said to be in a serious condition.

DISOBEYED HIS FATHER.

Boy Killed, and Parent Fatally Injured at Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 30.—Disobedience of his father has led to the death of Edward Acton, 7 years old, and the fatal injury of the parent. Young Acton was flying a kite from the roof of their home in Brooklyn.

His father ordered him down and forbade the boy his dangerous pastime. A few hours later Acton found Edward on the roof again, and gave chase. The lad ran along the edge, missed his footing and fell to the yard, a distance of about 30 feet.

Seeing his son falling apparently to the ground, the father rushed out into the yard and landed nearly 10 feet beyond his unaccustomed boy. Crippled and almost dead from the fall, the father dragged himself to his son and when an ambulance arrived had clasped the boy in his arms. Not until the hospital was reached would the father allow the boy to be taken from him. Edward died two hours later and the father is not expected to recover.

Acton is a well-to-do machinist.

The tunnel, which is designed for trolley lines, will not be completed until spring. It will come to the surface in this city at the 10th Street.

The tunnel was begun 25 years ago but work was abandoned after having been pushed a short distance under the river.

From South Africa.

Mr. Arthur Chapman writing from Durban, Natal, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young I put you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy that the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. Thus they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby. This remedy is for sale by Pickens Drug Co., Earle's Drug Store, Pickens and T. N. Hunter, Liberty.
