The Case of Stiles Moore.
 At the hour of going to press last Thursday, the case of the State vs. Stiles Moore, charged with rape, had just been opened, and no account could be given of it last week.
 However, on account of the sickness of Mr. E. L. Herndon, one of the attorneys for the defense, the case did not proceed very far in detail before the court adjourned until Friday morning at 9 o'clock. At that hour court convened; at 11:15 a. m. the testimony was all in and E. L. Herndon Esq. opened the argument for the defense. Speeches were also made by Senator J. R. Earle and Major Wm. J. Stribling, and at 4:55 Solicitor J. E. Boggs closed the argument for the State.
 His Honor, Judge George E. Prince then charged the jury upon every point of the law touching up on the case, and the jury retired to their room. After being out all night, at an early hour Saturday morning they announced that the following verdict had been reached: "Guilty of rape with carnal knowledge of a female child under 14 years and over 10 years of age, with recommendation to the mercy of the Court." Consequently the punishment would naturally be light, and Judge Prince imposed a sentence of 14 years at hard labor in the State Penitentiary.
 The crime for which Stiles Moore was charged was one of the most heinous and revolting ever recorded for trial in the grand old State of South Carolina.
 A more child, with neither father nor mother, and so far as we know, no other relatives to love and care for, to direct and lead in the paths of right and virtue, has been subjected to the most cruel treatment by one who, above all else, should have given her that fatherly love, affection, care and guidance that is due from him who has brought shame and disgrace, to say nothing of the misery and suffering through which she had to pass.
 As Sallie Tilly, the child mother came into the court room Monday morning, attired in a neat, but plain dress scarcely below her knees, with her hair flowing loosely about her shoulders and back, with the infant babe in her arms, she presented a picture that was calculated to incite the sympathies of the entire audience present, and to increase their indignation for the man who had caused her to be placed in a position of helplessness, even more so than before the crime was committed.
 That Stiles Moore has had a fair and impartial trial, every one attending court will freely admit, and quoting Judge Prince, he should feel very grateful to his expert counsel, that his neck will not be broken.
 It is to be hoped that at the expiration of the fourteen years Stiles Moore can return to the wife of his bosom, who has been so faithful and true to him throughout his confinement in the county jail, and also during the trial, a better man, a better citizen and a truer husband.
 It is also hoped that a reformation may be brought about in the life of Sally Tilly, and that such influences for good may be thrown around her as will tend to cause her to lead a new life, a purer life, forgetting the past, and invoking the forgiveness of a just God for the sins she has committed.—Oconee News.

The Voters Must be Respected.
 Dear Editor: I noticed in your last paper where the dispensary question was to be carried to the Supreme court. It seems to me from Mr. Evans' statement that a few people in and around Pickens think that they have a cinch on Pickens county and will run things to suit themselves regardless of the voice of the people. From what Mr. Evans says some one has misrepresented things. I do not understand how any citizen can uphold a thing like the dispensary when it is voted out by such a majority, even if there were a few names on the list that were illegal.
 It seems to me that the voters ought to be respected. I am sure that in the town of Pickens, as elsewhere in the county there were some as good men against the dispensary as were for it and about two to one. I believe that voters of Pickens know what they were doing, and I consider the steps taken by those few men as unwise indeed.
 The merchants can talk for the mountain people as they call them if they wish and misrepresent things as much as they please, but they had better stop and consider as they are liable to be glad to get corn at any price. They must remember that the country people have been very liberal in giving them their patronage, and their circumstances are such that they cannot be forced.
 The registration books will show that the dispensary election was legal and next year the county offices will be filled with prohibitionists. W. C.

Terrific Race With Death.
 "Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Termond, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of my troubles." Guaranteed at Pickens Drug Co.; price 50c.

Flood in Oconee County.

The Keowee Courier of last week gives an account of the heavy rains in that county last Friday, and gives the loss to the county by bridges that were washed away alone at $10,000. The crops on all water courses were badly damaged and in most places a wide strip of land on either side of the stream being swept away, crops, soil and all.
 Poor Mountain, just above Walhalla, shows a front scarred by several land slides as a result of cloud bursts, the earth, shrubby and trees having slid down the mountain side in three or four places, leaving the hill bare to red clay or rock surface. These land slides have been more or less common for several years past, since the hill country has been subjected to frequent cloud bursts during the month of June.

 "My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband Pa. "At times she was unable to move at all while at all times walking was painful. ## The Little Details

TEN yards of cloth and a mile of thread isn't the whole story of a good suit—not by several thousand stitches.
 It takes tailoring brains in plenty and mighty clever craftsmanship to make clothes the right way—the SCHLOSS way.
 Further than this, the looks and life of the suit depend more on the LITTLE details than you could imagine. For instance, simply the placing of the buttons and the shape of the lapel have everything to do with the fine appearance of a coat, while such a trifle as the proper moulding of a curve makes all the difference between a beautiful garment and a meal sack.
 We handle the Schloss line because we know there's none better and never found any as good. We have all the new styles and shapes, of course, in the most desirable colors and patterns.

Some of our Suits and Top Coats $12., others $15 and $20.
 Come and look at them.
