SESSIONS COURT BEGINS ITS WORK

PLAIN AND SENSIBLE CHARGE BY JUDGE JOHN S. WILSON

ONE CASE TRIED

Grand Jury Has Brought in a Number of True Bills, Ten For Murder

Court of general sessions for Anderson county convened yesterday morning at ten o'clock with his honor, Judge John S. Wilson, of Manning, presiding...

JUDGE JOHN S. WILSON

Who Opened Court in Anderson Monday Morning

cluded his argument but the argument of the solicitor remains to be heard. Adjournment was taken until 3:30 o'clock today.

Judge Wilson's charge to the grand jury, although brief, was to the point and commanded the close attention of his hearers. He called attention to the fact that it was the duty of every grand jury to see to it that proper report was made of any crime which might come under his knowledge and urged that the jurors bear this fact in mind. He took occasion

THE FIRST INTELLIGENCER

With all its trials and troubles, issuing a newspaper today is a simple task when compared to the monumental undertaking of giving its readers the news while it was still news in the days of 1869...

to say to the jurors that when they were detailed to inspect the various offices that it was their duty to do it in a conscientious manner throughout and assured them that they were expected to make a close inspection and a thorough investigation of all records.

Up until 6:30 o'clock last night when the court adjourned, the grand jury had brought in the following true bills: Bill Hoovie, Rother Henderson, Charlie Henderson, Charlie Smith, Robert Gaines, Bul Gaines, John Robinson, Dock Gaines, Frank Williams Will White all charged with murder.

A true bill was returned in the case of Ryan Cox, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill.

MRS. EUGENIA F. LOWERY DEAD

Interment Was Made in Anderson Saturday Afternoon

Mr. William Lowery, who died at her home at Seneca Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock, was buried in Anderson Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the graveyard of the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Lowery was about 60 years old. She was a daughter of the late John Baylis of this county. Her death was unexpected and came suddenly.

Mrs. Lowery had been twice married, her first husband being J. Q. Adams. The following children survive her: J. L. Adams, B. L. U. S. W. and Miss Ollie Lowery of Seneca, and C. S. Lowery of Pelzer. She had one living sister, Mrs. A. W. Earle of Greenville.

The Blue Ridge railway operated a special train to bring the funeral party here. Mrs. Lowery was sister of the late Mrs. J. S. Fowler of this city, Mrs. J. H. Earle of Greenville and Mrs. Dr. Tom Earle of Greenville.

A FORMER EDITOR

Col. V. B. Cheshire, former editor and proprietor of The Intelligencer, was among the first to record his subscription to The Daily Intelligencer and said "Just tell them that I am too busy running for congress to write anything, but the editor of the paper has my best wishes."

GREATEST CONVENTION OF STATE MEETS IN THIS CITY NEXT MONTH

Interdominational Sunday School Convention Will Bring Hundreds of Delegates to Anderson For the Annual Meeting—Some of the Speakers and Singers

The greatest convention that Anderson has ever undertaken to handle is the State Sunday School Association. There may be in Anderson from 600 to 750 visiting delegates. This is a great responsibility, but Anderson will measure up to it.

Miss Grave Vandiver of Spartanburg, who has been the real soul of this movement, met with the local committee last Tuesday night and was delighted with the prospects. She says that there is nothing which so serves to get people together as the banquet table, and the very first thing will be a dinner given to the executive committee of 65 members on the night preceding the assembling of the convention.

Great attention will be paid to music at this convention. It is probable that the renowned Prof. E. O. Excell will be here. The local choir will be the largest and the best ever organized in Anderson.

The finances for the local end of the convention will be procured by a committee consisting of Porter A. Whaley, chairman, B. F. Mauldin, M. M. Matison, R. S. Ligon and Capt. D. A. Taylor.

At the morning sessions of the convention, there will be practical talks on methods of work. The afternoon will be given over to conferences, divisional, departmental and denominational and the evening sessions will be inspirational.

A number of denominational conferences are to be held on Friday afternoon, Feb. 13. These conferences are to be in the hands of the denominational leaders and will be largely attended.

MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR

Men Found Unconscious Brought to Hospital—Will Live. J. T. Hughes, officer at the Chiquola Mills at Hamer Park, was brought to the Anderson county hospital in a semi-comatose condition Saturday night, his head having been much battered.

At first the doctor was called by a janitor, but now, from the first evidence obtainable it appears that the man was beaten by his own cousin, Ellis Hughes, as the officer was proceeding to arrest T. L. To bias on the charge of being drunk. The wounded man was not fully conscious Monday, but his mind is clearing up.

PEEPLES ACQUITTED

Attorney General Found Not Guilty on Murder Charge. Columbia, Jan. 12.—Special Attorney General Peoples was acquitted of the charge of murder in the case of general session in Richland county Monday. The jury was out for six days. Mr. Peoples was represented by Mr. Fred H. DeLoach and the prosecution was at the hands of Hector Wade H. Cobb. Mr. Peoples was acquitted of the charge of murder in the case of general session in Richland county Monday.

ROBERT B. GLENN

A. and since coming to Anderson has impressed the people with his manliness and true Christian spirit and at the same time has proved himself to be a trained and capable business man. Mr. Whaley, as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has proved his usefulness to the city.

The chairman of the general, sub-committees appointed by the general committee are: Reception—E. W. Fajwa. Entertainment—Dr. A. L. Smith.

Finance—Porter A. Whaley. Legislation—L. L. Rice. Press and Program—William Banks.

Exhibit—D. H. Mims. Address—R. H. King. Decoration—Mrs. Rufus Fant. Music—Mrs. W. H. Nardin.

The great spectacular feature of the convention will be the parade of the Men's Bible classes. This will be the second night of the convention. It is hoped to have several thousand men in line and it is possible to fill every church in the city with men to be addressed by men of renown.
