

Express

Your

Personality...

in clothes that are made to your exact measurement. The cost is about the same as is asked for ready-mades that are cut by machines and lacking in distinction of correct fit and individuality. We don't PRE-SUPPOSE your size when you slip into a suit that is tailored to your individual measurements, it fits properly all over from coat collar to trouser leg bottoms. Every portion of your figure has been taken into account. Look at the best dressed men in town and you'll understand why they come here for clothes. Prices $20 to $40.00.

If you have been looking over our Furnishing section lately, you must have noticed its QUICKENING how much nearer it approaches its ideal as the representative of the nice things of men's dress; such things that appeals to the careful dresser.

Gotham and Vindex Shirts that are guaranteed as to fit and collar, all sizes and sleeve lengths—$1.50 to $2.50. Men's warm underwear—complete line rightly priced—all weights.

When you come to look at our assortment of hats, derbies and soft alike, just remember that every one was bought this fall and that there is not an old shape in our store. Price $1.00 to $5.00.

Our Motto:--- Every Customer Satisfied, sell nothing we cannot recommend.

T. L. Cely Co.

W. H. HAND FOR PRESIDENT OF ANDERSON COLLEGE

IT IS STATED THAT THE DISTINGUISHED EXPECTS TO COME TO ANDERSON TO TAKE THE MANAGEMENT

ONE OF THE BIG MEN IN THE WORK OF EDUCATION IN THIS STATE

His Accession to the College Would Mean a Great Deal of Strength to the Institution in Every Way

Columbia, Jan. 5th. It is learned here that Mr. W. H. Hand, State supervisor of rural schools has been offered the presidency of Anderson College and has taken the matter under favorable consideration. It is known that Mr. Hand was approached on this subject last year and that he declined at that time as he could not very gracefully drop the great work in which he was engaged. It is understood that Dr. J. F. Vines was called to the presidency against Dr. Vines' wish and request, merely to hold the place for a few months until Mr. Hand could be approached again, and the friends of Mr. Hand in Columbia believe that he will accept and that he will make Anderson College the great Piedmont institution for the education of young women.

Mr. Hand is a man of unusual executive ability, of high standards of education, and of a fine sense of patriotic responsibility. He has few equals as an organizer, not excepting Dr. D. B. Johnson of Winthrop College and if he does go to Anderson the people of that city may congratulate themselves upon the accession. J. M. B.

The following sketch of Mr. W. H. Hand is an editorial from 'The Southern School News of Columbia, W. H. Jones, editor: W. H. Hand, State inspector of high schools, might now be a railroad superintendent and as State inspector of high schools is known to all. It is also a familiar fact that he was superintendent of the Chester city schools for a number of years, going there, after two years of service in Florence, in 1893, remaining until 1906. Through the broad-minded and intelligent policy of the school board, Mr. Hand was, during this period, afforded an opportunity to visit schools throughout the country. He became familiar with the leading school systems and being of acquisitive mind and disposition, he really absorbed and retained what was best of all that he saw and observed. Mr. Hand's reputation was made soon after taking charge of the Chester schools. Here, in a small city, he built up one of the best systems of schools of the State. While in Chester he spent three summers studying at Cornell University.

At the Centennial celebration of the University of South Carolina, Prof. Hand was one of the speakers. It was here that he first attracted State-wide attention as an educational speaker, although his ability in this direction was then well known to the teachers of the State. His was one of the best addresses delivered on that great occasion, and it made a most profound impression. His services as speaker, as lecturer and as instructor in summer schools and institutes have been in demand. He has taught in all the State summer schools held in South Carolina except two, and has twice taught in the summer school at the University of Virginia, and will return there in June for the third time. He has won many educational honors. He has been president of the Association of City Superintendents, president of the State Teachers' Association, member of the County Board of Education of Chester county, and for four years member of the executive committee of the Conference for Education in the South. In 1909, Mr. Hand was made professor of secondary education in the University of South Carolina, and one year later, was made inspector of high schools by the State Board of Education. In this latter position he has made his most marked impression on the schools and the people of the State and has rendered a most distinct service to South Carolina. Thoroughness, painstaking care and methodical planning have characterized all of his work in this important office. Without arousing antagonism, he has successfully welded the complex and disorganized aggregation of graded schools into a system with a fixed and definite plan for future growth. His full and comprehensive high school reports have attracted attention throughout the nation. The growth of the high schools in numbers and efficiency speak eloquently in praise of his good work. Since 1906 the number of high schools has increased from 95 to 167; high school teachers from 235 to 429; high school enrollment from 4,812 to 8,939.

W. H. HAND

Personally, Mr. Hand is very popular. Possessing an inexhaustible fund of anecdotes and stories and being a rare conversationalist, he entertains and delights any company of which he may be a member. Withal he is dignified and formal in his professional dealings, and commands the respect of his associates. He devotes a large part of his time to visiting the high schools of the State, in attending educational gatherings and in holding conferences. Several days out of each week he may be found in his office near the corner of Bull and Pendleton streets, in Columbia. Mr. Hand is not only interested in things pertaining to schools and education in general, but is an active citizen taking part in all social and municipal affairs. Several of his best addresses are those dealing with good citizenship and community building. His home is on the university campus. He is married and has four children, one son and three daughters. He is an active member of the Baptist church, and is a worker in both the church and Sunday school.

(Continued on Column 7)

OVERCOAT SALE

Put Salt on the tail of one of our Overcoats and catch $2.50 to $7.50. :: :: ::

We've had a magnificent Overcoat trade this season and only have about seventy-five Overcoats left on hand.

We want to make a clean ---clear determined wind up of a prosperous season.

Every Overcoat Must Go!

We've put the prices on them that will make them sell. We have given them notice to vacate.

NOTE THESE PRICES

- $25.00 Overcoats Reduced to $18.50
$22.50 Overcoats Reduced to $16.50
$20.00 Overcoats Reduced to $15.00
$18.50 Overcoats Reduced to $13.50
$16.50 Overcoats Reduced to $12.50
$15.00 Overcoats Reduced to $11.00
$13.50 Overcoats Reduced to $10.00
$10.00 Overcoats Reduced to $ 7.50

It doesn't pay to chase a street car, for another will be along shortly, but it WILL PAY you to chase this Overcoat Sale, for another such a sale may never be held.

PARKER & BOLT THE ONE-PRICE CLOTHIERS

Electric City Sparklets

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless On the Streets of Anderson.

M. S. Holland, of Honea Path township, was among the well known planters to spend yesterday in Anderson on business.

J. A. Horton and R. F. Horton, of Belton, were among the business visitors to spend yesterday in the city.

J. M. Long, a well known citizen of the Brushy Creek section, spent a few hours in Anderson yesterday.

J. Reese Fant, a progressive planter of Townville, and magistrate in the Fork, was in the city yesterday on business.

Wayne Maddox, of Honea Path township, was seen on the streets of the city yesterday.

Miss Lillian Thompson, who is teaching the Good Hope school, was among the visitors to the city yesterday. Miss Thompson said that her school was in splendid condition and that the enrollment was very large. She said that her pupils were progressing splendidly and that she was proud of the work being done by her scholars.

Among the visitors to the city yesterday for legal transactions was Constable J. C. Garrison, of Oconee.

Sheriff Joe H. M. Ashley is in Columbia today where he is attending the convention of South Carolina sheriffs. Anderson's officials, who have made good in the shirlevy, expects to return to the city tomorrow.

F. W. Cox, of Greenville, was among the suburban service station owners the business visitors to the city yesterday.

S. B. Blackwell, a well known business man of Greenville, was in the city yesterday for a few hours.

Fewer people were in the city yesterday in attendance at court than on the first day of the session. This is always the case, but Anderson merchants report that business conditions in the city throughout the day were considerably improved over the previous day and that more actual sales were made than on Monday.

Col. J. C. Strubling, the sage of Pendleton, was in the city yesterday for a few hours on business. While here he, straining took occasion to call at The Intelligencer office and express his best wishes for the future of the baby publication of the state.

B. Harris, of Pendleton, has been among the interesting visitors to the city for the past two days. Mr. Harris was formerly president of the State Farmers Union and is well known all over South Carolina. He is a progressive planter and has conclusively demonstrated the fact that progress and agriculture go hand in hand.

All over the city yesterday could be heard complimentary remarks concerning the first paper issued under the head of The Morning Intelligencer. Anderson people seem to appreciate the appearance of the morning daily in the field and for the most part they seem to have a friendly feeling for the publication and for those men who have made it possible. One man was heard to remark that no more striking proof of the progress of the city could be offered than by the fact that a morning paper could be put into circulation here, with over 6,500 circulation and 20,000 readers.

Mr. Sam M. Wolfe, of the firm of Geiger & Wolfe, has returned from New York, where he has been on business for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Theo Fant, of Townville, has arrived in the city to accept a position in the office of J. B. Felton, Superintendent of Education. Mrs. Fant says the reports being received in the office from the various schools of the county are all most pleasing and that considerable progress is being made in practically every school. All indications seem to be that this year will be one to meet with the commendation of patrons and teachers alike in all the Anderson county schools.

An interesting meeting of the Anderson County Farmers Union took place in one of the rooms of the court house yesterday. The attendance was fairly good but not as large as it should have been on account of the fact that a number of the farmers in the city did not know where the meeting was to be held, since it is the custom to hold these meetings in the court room and the fact that court was in session yesterday made this impossible. It has been proposed that the meetings take place in the Chamber of Commerce, and Secretary Walter has made the statement that he would be very much pleased to have the planters meet with him. It all probably such a move will be made at an early meeting of the union.

W. A. Stevenson, of Williamston, was among the business visitors to the city yesterday.

Wade Watson has been spending several days at Cowdenville on a hunting expedition. He was the guest of Messrs. Ernest and Theron Allen.

Mr. "Pick" Warnick, foreman of one of the juries yesterday, stated that he had been taking The Intelligencer for a number of years, and that constantly before that time his father had been taking it from the day that paper was started, 60 years ago. Just can't do without it, he says.

Mr. E. P. Vindiver, cashier of the F. & M. bank was reported to be ill with the grip yesterday, but he admits that he just played "hokey" in order to read the first number of The Morning Intelligencer. He reports that he found the day had been spent very profitably.

Mr. Chas. E. Cobb, southern representative of the Ideal Ewpoth Acetylene Company, writes The Intelligencer "I want to congratulate you on getting out your morning paper, and want same for breakfast as I am confident practically every Anderson household will. I wish you all kinds of success."

MARKET SUMMARY

Local Market. Tuesday January 13. Local cotton 12 1-2c. Seed $28 ton.

Table with columns for month and price. Includes New York Market and Livepool Cotton.

Table with columns for month and price. Includes Livepool Cotton and W. H. Hand for President.

W. H. HAND FOR PRESIDENT

(Continued From 3rd Column) professional dealings, and commands the respect of his associates. He devotes a large part of his time to visiting the high schools of the State, in attending educational gatherings and in holding conferences. Several days out of each week he may be found in his office near the corner of Bull and Pendleton streets, in Columbia. Mr. Hand is not only interested in things pertaining to schools and education in general, but is an active citizen taking part in all social and municipal affairs. Several of his best addresses are those dealing with good citizenship and community building. His home is on the university campus. He is married and has four children, one son and three daughters. He is an active member of the Baptist church, and is a worker in both the church and Sunday school.