Electric City Sparklets

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless On the Streets of Anderson.

From this time on the Anderson College location attractions will probably be patronized more liberally and that on account of the fact that the management has been able to secure such a man as Frank Dixon for an appearance here. Mr. Dixon is a splendid speaker, a forceful speaker, a forceful thinker, and he invariably impresses his audience with his logic. Those Anderson people who have heard Mr. Dixon speak say that they consider him the equal of any man who is today appearing before the American public. Mr. Dixon comes to Anderson next Tuesday night.

It can hardly be said that Anderson merchants exactly welcome a rainy Saturday with open arms and gleeful shouts, but according to several prominent dealers interviewed by a reporter of The Intelligencer yesterday, business was remarkably good considering the weather. There were a number of people in the city and for the most part they did considerable shopping.

One lone negro, charged with being drunk, constituted the arrests made yesterday. Remarkably good order prevailed throughout the day, considering the fact that yesterday was Saturday, and the police officials had little to do.

A telegram received last night by C. F. Martin stated that his son, Willie, who is quite ill at the Citadel hospital in Charleston, was slightly improved. This is cheering news to the young man's many friends in all parts of the county and it is now hoped that he may entirely recover.

J. W. Rothrock, United States farm demonstrator for Anderson county, has returned from Oconee county where he has been spending the last week in connection with the farm corn club work. Mr. Rothrock says that the impression made upon him by his visit to Oconee was that all the schools of that county are lacking in teachers. He says that they have about one-third as many teachers as they need.

J. D. Yates of Piedmont, was among the visitors to the city yesterday. Mr. Yates says that the farmers of his section are hard at work and that throughout the entire country surrounding Piedmont they are expecting to make bumper crops next year. The weather conditions up to this time have been ideal for farming and the planters have not been slow to take advantage of it.

Quite a number of Anderson county teachers, in the city yesterday, signified their intention to attend the State Teachers Association which is to meet in Spartanburg on March 19. J. B. Felton, superintendent of education, said yesterday that he expected more Anderson teachers to go to the association this year than ever before.

Anderson merchants are now making preparations for handling the immense fertilizer trade which usually begins in the early part of February. Those local men who handle this product say that they are expecting a great trade this year and are making preparations accordingly.

DR. HARMS IS TO SPEAK IN ANDERSON

Comes to This City For An Address in the Month of February

Among all the people of Anderson, but more especially among the young men of Anderson, the announcement that Dr. J. Henry Harms, president of Newberry college, is coming here to deliver an address, has created deep interest. Dr. Harms is one of the most fluent speakers in the State and it is a foregone conclusion that when he comes to Anderson he will be greeted by a large crowd. He delivered the Elk's memorial oration in Columbia in December and it is said to have been a most beautiful address.

Dr. Harms is a speaker well known and always popular with men. He is a young man of splendid intellect, clean cut, vigorous and always attractive. He brings a message of helplessness to those who are trying to solve the questions of the times. He is a student of men and affairs. During his ministry in Virginia he rallied around him men who did much for the cause of Christianity and the result of their labors was seen in that section. He is a big man, a liberal man, a human man, a Christian man, and with this he is a beautiful speaker.

When Dr. Harms assumed the presidency of Newberry college he was the youngest president that the institution had ever had and since that time he has more than justified the faith reposed in him by the trustees of that college. Every young man in Anderson should hear the message which Dr. Harms will have to deliver when he comes to this city. It will be well worth hearing in every respect and it is hoped that he will be greeted here by an audience worthy of the speaker.

TRIAL TRANSFERRED

Investigators of Judge Speer Goes to Savannah

Macon, Ga., Jan. 24.—Investigation of charges of official misconduct on the part of Federal Judge Emory Speer, of the southern district of Georgia, today was transferred to Savannah, Ga., where they will be resumed Monday morning. Many important witnesses yet remain to be heard. Members of the sub-committee of the house committee on judiciary, who are conducting the investigation, today said that it probably would require another week to complete their work.

Today's session was marked by another dramatic outburst of indignation from Judge Speer, who yesterday interrupted the testimony of United States District Attorney Alexander Akerman. This morning when R. Colton Lewis, special examiner for the department of justice, who made the report upon which the charges against Judge Speer largely are based, charged that the accused jurist had shown favoritism to A. H. Heyward, his son-in-law, in cases involving fees, Judge Speer sprang to his feet and exclaimed: "I have been defamed as no other judge ever was. I ask this committee to see to it that all the facts are brought out, so that the public may understand."

At the afternoon session, George F. White, marshal in Judge Speer's court for twenty-five years, denied that the judge ever had instructed him to "keep a jury walking," so that a mistrial might be ordered. Testimony to this effect had previously been presented to the committee by other witnesses.

Mr. Lewis, department of justice examiner, today read a list of bankruptcy cases in which fees had been paid to A. H. Heyward, or to the firm of Talley & Heyward.

The list contained more than forty cases. In all of them fees had been either paid to Heyward or Talley individually, or to the firm of Talley & Heyward.

Several other witnesses appeared to testify to minor points which the committee desired cleared up. The committee will leave here Sunday night for Savannah.

IN THE HOUSE

Special Comm. on Education, Columbia, Jan. 24.—For the Ways and Means committee, Mr. Liles of Oregon, submitted an unanimously favorable report on the Lumkin joint resolution providing for the coordination of the college for women with the university.

The house received two special messages from the governor Saturday morning. One of the messages recommended that no Confederate veteran be allowed to suffer for want of a pension and commended the management of the Confederate Home in Columbia, at the same time intimating that there are too many salaried people at the home who get too much of the maintenance appropriation.

The second message related to the teaching of negroes by white people. The schools at St. Helena island and at Port Royal were referred to in the message, but no specific allegations were made about them. The governor said he did not have sufficient information to prefer the charges to the white people are teaching negroes in these schools. A. D. O.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PELICAN AGENTS

Representative of the Mutual Benefit of New Jersey in Columbia Soon

Mr. M. M. Mattison, general agent for South Carolina, of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, has announced that his annual agency meeting will be held in Columbia on Feb. 23 and 24. He has chosen Columbia on account of the hotel accommodations. There is quite a big big bunch of the agents.

Mr. Mattison has had to make the dates suit the superintendent of agencies of the home office, and he is trying to effect a change as Mr. Fairfax Harrison is to be in Anderson on the 24th. In his letter to the agents Mr. Mattison says:

"It is simply to urge every man connected with this agency to make up his mind right now, and keep it made up, to be on hand, for we shall certainly need you, and too, it will be our purpose to arrange a program that will fully justify your attendance."

"In anticipation of this meeting we, of course, want to pile up a big business, and with this in view I know that each of you will from this on put forth extraordinary efforts; so, unless there is a demand for a special campaign, we shall not, as has been our custom heretofore, attempt a thing of this kind. Let's therefore, get busy during the remainder of the month, winding up January in fine style and generating steam that will bring us right up to the date of our agency meeting with a splendid record."

"You will remember we had to forego the pleasure last year of having Mr. Foreman, of Atlanta, with us, but I have already served notice on him that he is expected to be on hand this time, and, to reinforce the invitation, have promised to allow him the privilege of doing some talking. The Georgia agency did its proudest last year in the matter of payments—its record, in fact, was quite an enviable one—and I have asked Mr. Foreman if he will not on the occasion of our meeting tell us just how the trick is done."

"We, of course, would not wish to do anything that would make Mr. Foreman feel uneasy while he is among us, but I am going to suggest that each man be thinking over the matter of challenging Georgia to a contest this year, and when we get together in Columbia we can arrive at a decision."

GREASY COVE.

Editor The Intelligencer: Please give me space in your paper for the introduction of the finest part of the county to your waters. This part is called "Greasy Cove." It took its name from the fat hogs and fat bread in the smoothness of the cove of our people. There is no friction in this cove to disturb the peace of those who live here.

The cove includes the territory between Three and Twenty and Mill-ween creeks. On the north we see the Blue Ridge mountains and on the south we see the city of Anderson—when we get close enough.

The farmers here are almost all ready now for planting, as the weather has been good and we are now bothered here with politics or any other kind of ticks that would prohibit the progress of farm work. Our women are all suffragettes when it comes to domestic affairs and can make speeches that will make your bones ache if they do all that they tell you.

We never have any thrilling news to tell of this part, as there is no time for tragedies here, and we hope we will never have any of them to record.

Our school at Lebanon is doing far so the kids say and of course it must be if they think so.

As I have given a description of this part, I will in future let you know if anything transpires out of the ordinary.

Greasy Cove.

R. F. D. Pendleton, Jan. 23, 1914.

J. B. Levrette of Starr, a magistrate at that point, was among the business visitors to Anderson yesterday.

Mrs. Ralph Watkins of Pendleton, was shopping in Anderson yesterday.
