Stocks and Bonds

New York, Jan. 27.—Attempts to carry further the advance in stocks were checked early in today's market, which thereafter followed an uncertain course. Speculation slackened. Investment buying was a diminishing scale.

Union Pacific's report of a shrinkage in net earnings of $443,000 last month discouraged buying of railroad stocks. General speculation was hampered by uncertainty as to United States Steel's quarterly report, which did not appear until after the close. Contrasted with the corresponding quarter of the preceding year, when earnings were $25,185,000, the earnings for the last quarter amounted to only $23,036,000, which failed to meet dividend requirements. The total, however, was well up to expectations, in view of the diminishing business and falling prices of the period covered, since which time there has been a change for the better.

The bond market moved uncertainly. Selling of some of the speculative issues offset improving tendencies elsewhere. Total sales, par value $4,080,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total stock sales, $404,900.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 27.—Cotton was easier today under scattering liquidation apparently chiefly promoted by predictions of a sharp falling off in spot demand after the first of the month. One or two southern reports reported that demand for spot had already slackened and there was also a little selling here which may have come from southern sources, but generally speaking, private advices reported continued firmness in the interior and the small business noted around the ring appeared to come mostly from local sources. The close was barely steady at a net decline of 5 to 11 points.

After showing a net loss of 8 to 10 points, prices steadied slightly in covering, but there was no important demand and the lowest level of the day was reached in late trading, when May contracts sold at 12.25, or within 2 points of the lowest price reached after publication of the recent bearish glowing report. The semi-weekly heavy receipts, and indicating a slight interior movement showing relative increase of stock notwithstanding the large shipments, may have contributed to the forenoon decline, in connection with talk of an easier spot situation after filling of January engagements.

Cotton, spot, steady; middling up 1.10.

Cotton futures:	Opening	Closing
January	12.33	12.26
March	12.55	12.47
May	12.33	12.26
July	12.30	12.22
October	11.60	11.55

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, Jan. 27.—The best kind of spot accounts, higher prices and sales of large sales, constituted one side of the cotton market today and dull and sagging futures formed the other. Traders were puzzled over the situation and there have been few sessions in many years and there were less speculation in evidence. During a good part of the session the future ring was tight and prices barely moved. Late in the day a very moderate amount of selling served to create a soft spot and the close was at a net loss of seven to twelve points. Gossip was chiefly in connection with the spot department. Texas sent telegrams to the effect that considerable new business was doing for February and March shipment, but this news, like other equally favorable items, failed to have a stimulating influence on the future market.

Spot cotton, steady, unchanged. Middling, 13 5/8c. Futures on the spot, 2.163; to arrive, 1.030.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, Jan. 27.—Cotton, spot, good business done, prices unchanged. Sales, 2,000 bales, value, 40,000. Futures closed, quiet.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, Jan. 27.—Cottonseed oil was lower today and liquidation induced by the weakness in lard and cotton. Nearby deliveries steadied towards the close on covering by refiners, but late months were heavy. Final prices were 4 to 8 points net lower. Sales, 8,400 barrels.

Cotton Goods

New York, Jan. 27.—Cotton goods markets were steady today with business of moderate proportions. Yarns were firm. Men's wear lines sold fairly. Retail orders for silks continued to come along steadily.

Chicago Grain and Provisions

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Rallying power showed itself today in wheat when news had been received of a falling off in the world's available supply. The market closed nervous at a shade down to 1-8c up, compared with last night. Corn finished unchanged to 1-8c higher. Oats were not altered, but provisions closed at a net decline of 5 to 10c.
