THE MARKETS New York Cotton

New, York, Feb. 17.-Cotton was quiet today, but prices ruled generally steady and closed steady, but unchanged to 9 points higher. After scattering liquidation there was very little pressure against priccs. The cables were about as due, but the local market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points underselling attributed to recent buyers. With first prices here lower than due on the showing of Liverpool, there was considerable buying by houses with English connections, possibly to revorse straddles, which helped to absorb the early offerings.
