ARE YOU WASTING YOUR TIME?

FROM NOW ON MAKE UP FOR LOST TIME — SEE HOW BUSY YOU CAN KEEP GATHERING SUBSCRIPTIONS UNTIL THE END OF THE CONTEST.

What Have You Done Today?

This is the question that every fair-minded, live, energetic contestant should ask herself. Have I got one or more subscribers written up in my book besides what I did yesterday? Have I got promises that will be turned into money before the 12th of March? Seven weeks of the time have gone past of this great chance to win a valuable prize. This is two-thirds of the allotted time of the contest. The contest is fast nearing the end, and the time is now here when you must conquer or fail by the wayside and go down to defeat, if you do not get subscribers. This is only a small part of the fame and fortune, but it will be measured by the results you get in these last three weeks. The race is running very close and the contestants that have put forth their best efforts, who have been industrious and persevering in soliciting subscriptions, are the ones who will find themselves in the lead when the votes are counted.

Financial and Commercial

New York Cotton. New York, Feb. 24.—So far as could be judged from the action of today's cotton market, nothing had occurred over the three-day government hoarding of cotton, and the market was quiet and the market fluctuated within a range of 5 or 6 points, closing barely steady, net 2 points lower to 2 points higher. Opened steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points on the relatively steady ruling of Liverpool. Active old crop positions sold about 4 to 6 points net higher during early trading. Scattering liquidation was supposed to be in preparation for the notice expected next Friday, and there was also some selling against purchases of May and July. March held its premium of about 28 to 30 points, and was relatively steady in late trading. The New York certificated stock list instead of increasing during February, and there still are no large shipments of cotton heading this way. The early advance carried May contracts up to a 12-cent level, but the general list turned easier during the afternoon under scattering liquidation, and closed at the day's lowest. There was little southern selling here, and nothing in the southern news to indicate any change in the spot situation. Cotton futures closed barely steady.

Chicago Grain and Provisions. Chicago, Feb. 24.—Rumors of export sales had considerable to do with raising the price of wheat. Largely in consequence, the market, which early in the session had been depressed, closed steady at an advance of 1-8 to 1-4 net. Corn finished with a gain of 1-8 to 1-2 and oats up 1-4 to 1-2 net. The outcome was irregular, varying from 2-1-2 to 2-3-4 net to an extent of 7-1-2. Futures closed: Wheat—May 1-5-8, July 59-5-8, Oct. 58-1-2, July 58-1-2. Corn—May 68-1-2, July 68-1-2.

SCHOOL GIRL FATALLY INJURED. Little Gladys Lettice, daughter of L. A. Lettice, died here Saturday about 1 o'clock. She had been suffering for a week at her school, but for the past four days had not been in school. On Friday of last week, she was injured at school while playing at recess. The ball of iron with which she was engaged in hitting the shot, was accidentally hit, and fell on her foot and breast. She did not complain and the family thought little of it until two days after when inflammation was noticed and a physician called in which it was discovered there was evidence of meningitis. It is said that she sustained a fall on the ice from school that afternoon, but this is verified only by other school children, and cannot be proved. It is difficult to get at the facts. She was about ten years of age and in the third grade at school. Her mother, Mrs. Lettice, and family are the sympathy of the community.

Cotton Seed Oil. New York, Feb. 24.—Cotton seed oil was steady to a shade higher on covering a shorts and with the strength in grade markets. Considerable of the trading was in the way of selling March and buying later deliveries. Final prices were generally unchanged to 1 point net higher. Sales, 11,500 barrels.

Cotton Goods. New York, Feb. 24.—Cotton goods market steady today, with trading of moderate volume. Yarns were easy. One of the large dress goods corporations is sold up for fall on staples. Silks were active and, shibons were bought largely. Jobbers had an active day.

Stocks and Bonds. New York, Feb. 24.—Transactions were from opening to close given in stocks today were smaller of the time of the important news that varied. London cable led prices for some members of the international group and placed a few selling orders here at the opening, principally in steel. Bear traders made experimental. Loan Valley, the first important railway to make its February report.
