Financial and Commercial

New York Cotton

(By Associated Press)
New York, March 6.—After showing considerable steadiness during today's early trading cotton turned easy late in the afternoon under local liquidation, which came largely from Wall street sources, and may have been inspired by weakness in the stock market. The close was steady at unchanged prices on March, but generally to 10 points not lower.

Bradstreet's Review

New York, March 6.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:
Mixed aspects look large in this week's trade reports. Stormy weather in the east tied up traffic and kept buyers away from the markets. More has been lost out of its optimism, actual buying is conservative, and speculative propensities are conspicuous by their absence.

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, March 6.—After steadiness in the early part of the session the cotton market here today fell under the threatened investigation of future exchanges by congress. Much long cotton was thrown overboard and bears sold large quantities of cotton short. At low end of the day the market stood at a net loss of 12 to 13 points. The close was at a net loss of 9 to 11 points.

World's Cotton Supply

New Orleans, March 6.—Secretary Hasler's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 6,079,107 bales for the week ending 5,881,000 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,296,107 against 2,519,000 last year and 2,037,800 last year. The total visible supply of cotton in the world is 6,079,107 bales against 5,881,000 last year and 5,310,000 last year.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, March 6.—Cotton spot good business done; prices unchanged. Middling fair, 7.65; good middling, 6.90; low middling, 5.55; good ordinary, 5.51. Sales, 75,000 including 10,000 for export and 1,000 for speculation and export. Receipts, 5,000 including 1,500 American. Futures closed quiet.

Weekly Cotton

New York, March 6.—The cotton market has been unsettled during the past week but after making new low records for the season, steadied on coverings and reports of a better spot market. The market was held up by the doubling of facilities by the storm and trading has been normal in the way of switching from months and months on a straddle between here and Liverpool. Since the stopping of cotton by London and interests, the March premium has increased, but at 40 points it is lower over May, these same interests have been moderate sellers against purchases of the later month, while it is believed that at 40 points under Liverpool, old straddle shorts of May here against purchases abroad have been reduced.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, March 6.—Cottonseed oil today was quiet and featureless. The trade of values being firmer and to light crude offerings, and the strength in live. No tenders were put out. Closing prices were 1 to 2 points net higher.

Sea Island Cotton

Savannah, March 6.—Sea Island cotton today quiet, 25¢ sales, 22¢; shipments, 22¢ sales, 22¢; quotations, 1 1/2 per cent. Georgia and Florida, 22 to 25¢; extra, 22 to 25¢; extra fine, 22 to 25¢.

Cotton Goods

New York, March 6.—Cotton goods were quiet today. Carpet wools were more active and domestic wools were firm. Silks were in good demand.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, March 6.—Signs of renewal of activity gave the wheat market today an upward slant. Closing prices were steady. A few small lots of wheat were sold at 1 1/2 to 2¢. Oats, 1-4 and provisions 7-1-2 to 1-3/4.

Stocks and Bonds

New York, March 6.—Decided weakness developed today in the stock market. Railroad stocks were chief sufferers. Industrials held up fairly well. In the last half hour selling was renewed. Among the standard shares there were losses of 1 to 2 1/2 points.

Heater's Statement

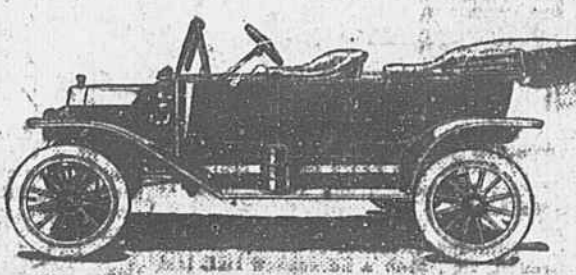

New Orleans, March 6.—Secretary Heater's weekly cotton statement issued today shows an increase in the movement into stock compared with the seven days ending this date last year in round figures of 17,000, a decrease under the same time year before last of 21,000.
