The Weather
Washington, March 16.—Weather: South Carolina fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Some philanthropy might be labeled "Phoolanthropy."
Post D of the T. P. A. will certainly have some live wires here this week.

Congressman Lever wrested a tribute from the biggest grouch in congress.
Frest. Fairfax Harrison will speak at Greenville tonight. Missionary work.

When a man sells himself for a mess of partridges, he must quell over the results.
"Stand on the bridge at midnight." It does seem that we may have the chance some time.

The ground hog can rest his laurels. We trust that dog days will also rest the same.
The Anderson College girls made a lovely day all the more beautiful and sunny yesterday.

Somg public jobs might as well be abolished for all of the time they require of the bunch who "set in."
There were 19 cases of drunkenness on the recorder's books Monday and only one case for selling whiskey.

Anderson teachers may go to Spartanburg and come home all the more pleased with our own grand old county.
There are too few transients who wish to transfer from one station to another to make a union station desirable for Anderson.

Old George Wilson, president of the honorary membership of the state proslavery association, dropped in for a cat load of paper yesterday.
Because the T. P. A. Rally will be held in the armory does no mean that the armory has become militant over the mileage bill.

Of course, the sponsors are lovely, and we trust they will prove it by marching in the parade and giving the cartridges to the old soldiers.
The whole state of South Carolina seems to be trying to get W. H. Hand not to come to Anderson. Under if some other college is getting jealous?

Sombody has circulated the story that Senator E. D. Smith will be appointed to go abroad. But when he finds he will not leave smooth sailing behind.
The Bilks colors are royal purple and white. They are royal fellows and while through and through, and may they be happy and good in their new home.

Have you signed a membership card? Membership in what? In the Chamber of Commerce. Sign one today. A. S. Farmer is chairman of the committee.
Sam McAdams drove up from Iva yesterday to show his new Ford. He says it is all right, but he must have a sponsor to let him know that he is not breaking the laws.

TREMENDOUS FUTURE

This is a great and stupendous enterprise which is planned by J. B. Duke. This magnesian wishes to transform the Piedmont country of the south into the richest and most substantial part of the world. He has money enough to carry him through life and yet leave some for the income tax collectors. He does not wish, of course, to be tied-up with any enterprise that is a failure, and he has announced that he will not promote any railway extension unless the part that has undertaken proves to be a success. That cannot apply to Anderson of course, for this city is doing all that it can to make the success of the G. S. & A. and Mr. Duke might well put his money here now for extension. But to return to the subject—

The Intelligence has known since the recent visit of Mr. Duke, will require many millions of dollars. It will give the cotton producer ready money through the fall, and yet not take all of his cotton when the prices are low on the first markets. This warehouse system, which incidentally would make the John L. McLaurin scheme look like a toy, would free the cotton mills from the graft and tyranny of commission houses. We hope that Mr. Duke will get the co-operation necessary and will put the matter through, and that he will eventually receive the good will of the people whom he is seeking to assist, while at the same time, of course, seeking to make himself a great factor in the world's commerce. He now stands about 20th in the list of the richest men of this country. We would rather see him engage in co-operating with the south in commercial and industrial upbuilding rather than to be rearing public libraries for the benefit of the few and engaging in other such ways of ridding himself of money.

"UNCLE JOSH" ASHLEY

Personally speaking, we regret to see Citizen Josh Ashley enter the race for the state senate. We believe the old warrior of many hard fought campaigns can be elected to the house of representatives without leaving his front door step, but to go to the state senate he would have to make a campaign, and we believe that he is not the man he once was, physically. There is no doubt of one thing, Uncle Josh has always been on the job, every time that the people sent him to Columbia. He was ever attentive to business and was not slow to form conclusions of his own. He has attracted more attention in the legislature than any other man in the last 20 years, with one or two possible exceptions. We have not always endorsed his policy on state-wide issues, in fact frequently disagreed with him, but for local legislation he is always trying to serve his people right. We believe that he would be taking too great a risk with his health to go out into the hot sun this summer, but if he does he will be heard from, of course.

TOO MUCH BAD LIQUOR

It is stated that the ministers of the city are considerably stirred by the amount of drunkenness and reported gambling that is going on in the city. The police station was filled Saturday night. The effects of mean liquor are seen on every side. The manner of selling it is so stealthy that the police cannot get a chance to suppress it, for it is reported that the city is infested with the hip-pocket blind tigers.

A STRONG MAN

Lowndes J. Browning of Union is in the city. He is a candidate for governor. There might be a slight chance for him to be elected. If there should be South Carolina would have in him a courageous, manly, high-toned governor, and a man trained in matters of state. He was for a number of years a member of the house of representatives, and for a part of the time was chairman of the ways and means committee. He is a farmer, not one of the city kind, but a farmer who lives in the country, several miles away from any railroad, and makes his living by hard work. We do not know what Mr. Browning's chances are. Any man who attempts prognostication these days is foolish.

THE COMIAN

We congratulate Secretary Burnett of the Y. M. C. A., on the first number of his new magazine "The Comian," which was issued yesterday. We predict for this journal a useful career. It will be circulated among the mill people, and will be delivered free at each home in the mill village. The pen sketches in the Comian are the work of C. W. Fant, the gifted young architect who is associated with J. H. Casey, architect. Mr. Fant also teaches a class in mechanical drawing in the Y. M. C. A. at night.

SPLENDID ARTICLE

At the meeting of the Anderson Ministerial Union Monday there was discussed the general tendency to drinking and gambling in the city. Rev. W. T. Belvin, who recently came to this city from the South Georgia conference, read a splendid paper which was so unique and so full of humor and force as well as religious thought that it was decided to file it in the archives, and to have it published in The Intelligence. We commend this fine article to our readers.

From what we read of Billy Sunday, the baseball evangelist and the tens of thousands of converts he is making, he is the very fellow that we need to get all of the people of South Carolina under a tent and go for 'em.

One of the Easter millinery openings will not be held for several days, at which time Dr. Johnson will demonstrate how fine feathers may come out good eggs in his new electric incubator.

ISH-KABEEBL

Daily Mail of Monday "A line of hose, 1,000 feet in length, was laid, and water was soon playing on the flames. The pressure was fine. Another stream of water, thrown by the mill firemen, did magnificent work."

PRES. W. H. MAND.

Chester County News. Anderson college was fortunate in securing Prof. William H. Hand as president of that institution. The trustees now have more reason to congratulate themselves in securing the services of an educator of wide experience and recognized ability. A delegation of educators visited Anderson just the other day and urgently requested the trustees of this college to release Prof. Hand from his acceptance of the presidency and allow him to continue his work in the interest of the educational system of the state. Prof. Hand has the reputation of being the greatest high school inspector in the South and his efforts in this direction have been crowned with success and the high school system he has built up will be an eternal monument to his untiring efforts in this direction. His place as high school inspector will be hard to fill and the schools of the state, will miss him, but we are fortunate in having a continuance of his labors in the state, and we predict a prosperous future for Anderson College under the management of President Hand.

FLASHES

F. L. Hall of Anderson has purchased a stock of goods in Atlanta and will close out at large bankrupt sale here.

B. Green a well known commercial tailor of Columbia, is visiting H. H. Rosenberg.

This is St. Addy's day. Are you a wearin' 'o' the green? Sure and Dr. Dwyer is for Alf Ball's, his campaign manager got it for L.M.

John Linley's beautiful new home in North Anderson was built before the last number of the Delinquent came out or folks would have said that he got the idea out of a pretty picture in that magazine.

Paul Burns who lives between Anderson and Belton, had two hams, some peacocks yesterday. Brought them to town in crocus sacks and sold them.

Something out of the usual in display windows—the office of the Southern Public Utilities company on West Whitner street.

Work on the Southern Bell's new building will now be resumed, Jack Frost and the ground hog having hit the grit finally.

Ever "null" tops? It is all the fad now. Glass agate with eagle eye also is much in demand.

St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland, but the tempter is in Anderson today. Military openings.

A week ago The Intelligence announced the coming of the new superintendent of Riverside and Turkeyway. The official announcement yesterday.

"I read that in The Intelligence yesterday."

Death of Little Girl.

Alma, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Land of the Twine mill village, died last night, and was buried at Silver Brook cemetery at 10 o'clock this morning.

Call on A. M. Sharpe & Co., when in the Market for Fire Insurance.

GET THE BEST GOING

SECRETARY D. H. MIMS

Friends of D. H. Mims will be interested in the announcement that he has centered on his new duties as "Extension Secretary" of the local Y. M. C. A., and is being very warmly received. The board of directors of the local association have a splendid opinion of the grade of work Mr. Mims has been doing as assistant secretary of the Anderson Y. M. C. A., and are very glad to have him as their representative in this new field of labor.

As stated recently in The Intelligence, the plan of the extension work which the association is now carrying on in Anderson is novel in the South and Y. M. C. A. authorities generally throughout the South will watch with interest the development of the scheme in Anderson.

The directors of the local association feel that they have the right man in Mr. Mims for this important work. They feel that he knows what to do and how to do it in the mill villages, because of the fact that he has not only been an outside overseer of a leading mill village, but has had several years experience as assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the Monaghan Mills in Greenville. The first issue of the Comian which is edited by F. M. Burnett, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., speaks editorially of Mr. Mims and his important work as follows:

We have in this, our first issue, a picture of D. H. Mims, who is the special representative of the Anderson Young Men's Christian Association and who is employed by Messrs. Liggett, Gossett and Hammett, Mr. Mims will devote all of his time to work in the different mill villages. He will be in your village each week. We want you to get acquainted with a right away.

He has lived in a mill village for several years. He is not a lah-du-lah-billy in-an-all-day-and-up-night kind of an individual—he means business and wants to help you. He has been doing the kind of work he will talk to you about for several years."

CHURCH NOTES

Robert Baker, of Richmond, Va., sang the offertory at the First Baptist church Sunday. Mr. Baker is well known in Anderson and formerly rendered fine service for the choir.

In Sunday printed program at the First Baptist Church, Dr. Vipes has this statement, after presenting a synopsis of the work of the annual meeting. "We are grateful to God for the progress made in all departments of the work. Faithful work has been done, and yet what heights have been attained. We stand challenged by possibilities not yet reached. With one united, determined, prayerful effort, we may make the coming year the best in our history."

Deadly Dope Habit.

One more case by which to get "dope" to his users was discovered by the police matron at the Tomb in New York. Mrs. Edward Smith called and asked to visit her husband, who is there charged with petty larceny. When submitted to the usual search by the police matron. She appeared very nervous, in fact so much so the matron searched her a second time. This time she parted the plumes on the woman's hat and discovered a peculiarly shaped bottle, which she withdrew to examine. Over the top of an ordinary head lamp, was snugly fitted a cap of a fountain pen. Upon being removed, revealed about four grains of a white powder which Dr. Lichtenstein, the Tomb's physician, said was morphine. Mrs. Smith was locked up.

Light Grows Skin.

A new method of growing skin over serious wounds and burns has been successfully tried by Dr. Joseph Schmasskin, house physician at Lebanon Hospital. Through a simple process of much light and fresh air, skin which otherwise would have required the difficult and uncertain operation of skin grafting. A little boy with 10 square inches of skin on his neck and chest burned off, has been treated by this new method, and discharged with a perfect epidermis. Each day Dr. Schmasskin kept the little patient out on an open porch with the large wound exposed to the air and sunshine. When there was no sun, powerful electric rays were used to mend the wound. The lights were also used at night and the wound was always exposed to the air. It healed remarkably fast, a new layer of skin covering the place perfectly. Other experiments have been made with the same success and doctors are confident that science has found a cure which makes skin grafting a terror of the past.

CENSUS BUREAU TELLS OF COTTON

MARKET IS CONCERNED OVER REPORT

THE FINAL FIGURES

Two Announcements Are Important and May Result in Wide Price Changes

(By Associated Press) New Orleans, March 17.—This week the cotton market will be concerned chiefly with the bureau reports. Tuesday the census bureau will issue its figures on consumption of cotton in this country and Friday it will appear with the final report of the season's spinning.

Both of these results are important and may result in wide price changes. The last report on consumption put the total for the first five months of the season at 2,518,345 bales, against 2,403,759 a year ago. Bulls against that business conditions among the mills of this country are such that continued large consumption is indicated. On the other hand bears call attention to the recent falling off in Northern mills takings as good reason not to expect larger February consumption than last year.

The spinning report will bring the crop down to the end of February, and practically will count the total crop grown. According to the latest announcement, the total will not include linters insisted that item will be considered separately. The trade all along has been figuring on a report of from 14,500,000 to 14,750,000 bales, including linters. The amount of linters in the country is estimated at 550,000 bales up to $25,000. As the matter now stands, the trade looks for a total crop of about 14,000,000 bales where around 14,000,000 bales.

FUNERAL OF L. M. JONES

The Stranger Who Passed Away Here Recently

Torrington Conn., Times. The funeral of Lewis M. Jones will be held from the Methodist chapel at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. William E. Scofield, pastor of the church, officiating. Burial will be in Center cemetery and will be in charge of the Masons.

Mr. Jones, who was 79 years of age, died suddenly of apoplexy at Anderson, S. C. He was born in Burlington this state, and had resided in Torrington for many years previous to going south. He was employed at the plant of the Union Hardware Company. His daughter, Mrs. Mabel Jones Escon, of Maine, arrived in Torrington today. Besides his daughter he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. M. F. Gaylord, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Mary White, of Shelton and Mrs. George Craig of Spencer, Mass.

Wilson Puts Stamp Of Approval on Anti-Trust Amendments

Washington, Mar. 16.—President Wilson, at a conference tonight with the house judiciary committee on Trusts, put the stamp of administration approval on the substance of the four bills to amend the anti-trust laws, which the committee submitted in a practically final form. There will be another conference at the white house within a week, and members of the committee asserted tonight that unless protracted discussion should be raised in the full committee when the measures are presented, all four bills to strengthen the Sherman law, covering interlocking directorates, holding companies, trades relations and definitions of restraints of trade, would be reported to the house within a fortnight.

President Wilson indicated his belief that it would be better to consolidate all the bills into one, in order to expedite legislation.

HAVE Y. M. C. A. FOR ANDERSON

G. Cullen Sullivan Greatly Pleased With the Great Home in City of Boston

G. Cullen Sullivan, of the firm of Hood & Sullivan, has returned from Boston where he was called on business last week. Mr. Sullivan said that on his arrival in the city of Leans and intellects he was unable to get into a hotel, after having tried seven, so he hid himself to the Y. M. C. A. and presented his Y. M. C. A. card. There he was given a delightful room and was made to feel at home. It is more than ever convinced that Anderson needs a great Y. M. C. A. building. Mr. Sullivan was amazed at the things he saw in the Y. M. C. A. in Boston. It is a great home with great religious influences to be thrown around the lives of the young men who so there for lodging. Mr. Sullivan will dedicate his efforts to getting a home for the Y. M. C. A. in Anderson.

On his return Mr. Sullivan stopped over in Washington and there saw congress in session all day Saturday working on Mr. Lever's $12,000,000 appropriation bill—and that is some bill, as all of the appropriations by the state legislature amounted to $2,000,000 in 1913. Mr. Lever wrestled for the bill all day long and when he finally got it to a vote and it was passed Saturday afternoon, the same little South Carolina man was given an ovation, which was led by the Republican boss in the house, Congressman Mann, whose aim it is to knock everything the Democrat can do.
