The Man Who WasLaughedAt

BY SADIE OLCOTT

Moldicush was a ranchman. was a typical westerner; but, having made money at raising sheep, he held his head pretty high. He had a daugh ter, Ross, who was a rustic beauty Muldrough didn't propose that Ross should take up with a cowpuncher or anything like that. He intended her for a ranchusa. like himself, who rode over his broad acres and bossed others,

A ranchiman came courting his daughter, true enough, but not the kind of ranchman Muldrough was looking for. His name was Jabez Stabbs. He came out from Missouri to starterauching on tifty acres of land and with a cozen sheep. He was the homeliest it an in the west, and so ignorant was he of western ways that he didn't even carry a revolver. He caught sight of Rosa Muldrough one day skimming along on Borseback, for all the world like a swallow, only a hundred times as pretty, and he want

He was a very bonorable fellow Stubbs was, almost as honorable as he was bomely. One morning Mul-drough was standing on his porch, booted and spurred for a fide over his do-main, when he saw Stubbs coming up to the house mounted on a horse as measly looking as the rider was home ly. When he reached the porch, with-
