ELECTRIC CITY SPARKLETS Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

Talk Heard of Buying Crematory. It is understood that the Board of Health of Anderson favors a crematory for this city and that city council looks on the proposition with favor. A first class crematory for a town of this size can be purchased for $3,500 and this plant guaranteed to do all the work done by the higher priced affairs. It is probable that Anderson will buy it if the city purchases any at all, the same type now being installed in Greenville, the Nye crematory. It is understood that this is the crematory in operation at Macon, Ga., Florence and various other southern cities and it is giving absolute satisfaction in every instance.

Board of Health Met Last Night. The regular meeting of the Board of Health took place last night, Dr. Frank Ashmore, the chairman, presiding and the various other members of the board being present. It is understood that the meeting was largely of a routine nature. The members pledged themselves to aid in any way possible in the "clean-up" campaign for Anderson and discussed a number of questions looking to the improvement of local conditions.

Mr. Bryant Will Soon Visit Here. A letter was received in Anderson yesterday from Charles K. Bryant, the Richmond architect, in which Mr. Bryant says that he has been prevented from coming here sooner because of several employes being absent from his office. He says that he has now arranged to come to Anderson within the next week at which time he hopes to be able to close up the Anderson theatre matter. Mr. Bryant comes as a representative of the Old Dominion Trust Company to Anderson and it is understood that this company will be willing to finance the deal, but a letter has also been received from J. S. Joel, one of the south's best known theatrical men, in which Mr. Joel says that he would like to have a chance at the local proposition. Therefore it is easily seen that there will be no trouble about getting money to build the theatre.

Corner Store for Elk's Home. Anderson people were much pleased yesterday over the announcement that C. W. Frickehofer had contributed a corner store for the new Elk's home, now in course of construction here. Mr. Frickehofer is building the new Bell Telephone Building and has been in Anderson for some time. He has served through all the chairs of the Birmingham, Ala., Elk's lodge and is now past exalted ruler of that lodge. His offer to furnish the corner store for the lodge of this city is immensely appreciated.

Mule Frightened On the Square. A small runaway occurred on the court house square yesterday afternoon about 1:30 when a mule belonging to E. A. Yeargin of the Sandy Springs section became frightened at an ash can. The mule ran for about a block, but during that time he managed to throw the buggy against about three automobiles and a couple of motorcycles, damaging all of them to a slight extent. The buggy was not badly broken and the mule sustained no injury to himself. The driver escaped uninjured.

Interest in New Magazine. Much interest is being manifested by the cotton mill people of the city over the "Comian," the publication recently started by the Y. M. C. A. The magazine is devoted exclusively to the mill workers of the city and it is said that it has made a great hit with them. They were all pleased with the initial number and Mr. F. M. Burnett, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. is receiving many inquiries as to when the next issue will appear. The next issue of the magazine will be on April 1 and Mr. Burnett said yesterday that he had already secured a number of splendid features for the April issue.

Adjuster Will Complete Work. James Coffield, the insurance adjuster, who is in Spartanburg for the purpose of adjusting the fire losses following the destructive blaze which visited the city on the 18th, told a reporter for The Intelligencer yesterday that he expected to complete his work this morning and would probably leave the city this afternoon. Mr. Coffield said last night that he could not make any statements as to what his estimate of the loss would amount to.

BEAUFORT PLAN TO SOON BE LAUNCHED City Manager and Chamber of Commerce to be United. Citizens Pledge $2,500

Beaufort, March 25.—With compelling enthusiasm the Beaufort board of trade established a movement that will make the town and county alive with initiative. Over a hundred members and guests heard Mr. A. V. Snell, secretary of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, outline an original plan for promotion work in a small town. Eighty-nine contributors pledged $2,500 a year to carry out the plan. The co-operation of the municipality is a part of the project. Beaufort's plan promises to be for the towns of 5,000 and under what the Summer plan is for the larger cities. A committee appointed by President C. E. Danner of the Board of Trade, is working over the details of the project with Mr. Snell.

This is the beginning of a big development on that street. Kfess will soon commence his big store near. The Brissay Lumber Company has just turned out a lot of splitting dargs to be used on the roads of the county. These can be made for the retail price of $3 each and Mr. Brissay says that really they are almost worth their weight in gold.

Among the improvements under way is the planting of silver maples and Lombardy poplars on the streets of College Heights, the beautiful development surrounding the college on three sides. One of the prettiest and most complete homes in the state is the lovely bungalow of L. S. Horton just in the rear of the Anderson County Hospital. This was completed yesterday. Postal Cater has let his customers on the road pine for him for a few days while he stays at home to build a new cottage on North Greenville, near the Boulevard.

George McConnell's new bungalow on West Franklin street is a beauty. The big veteran father of the American league will no doubt bring for his release, anybody would just to come home and live in the dear little house. Rev. E. H. Burriss is building a home on West Franklin. J. E. Barton has the building arrangements. Joe Farmer of the Riverside mills executive, force is building a beautiful bungalow in North Anderson, between John Linley and Feaster Tribble.

All of the building material men in the city are rushed with orders, and this is declared by "the oldest inhabitants" to be the steadiest and sturdiest building period in the history of the city. Dugan the paint man, is getting a lot of orders, but wants more. He will advertise in The Intelligencer. He will get the biz. PRAYER MEETING AT CENTRAL "The Principle of Jesus" Subject for Discussion. The prayer meeting at the Central Presbyterian church for the next few months are to be developed to a discussion in their application to personal religious problems. The mind of Jesus must be the guiding principle in the conduct of the Christian, hence there could be no more important or interesting subject for the thought and study of the Christian than just these principles that stood out from the teachings of the Master Teacher. Such subjects as Jesus' teachings about the Father, Prayer, Sin, Temptation, Standards, Duty, the purpose of Life, Announcements and so on, will be discussed from Wednesday to Wednesday. The topic for tomorrow evening will be "Jesus and the Father" or "Jesus's conception of God."

We tender a cordial invitation to any other than our members who may be interested in these subjects, to gather with us, and bring something helpful on the subject. Hour of service is 8 o'clock. Pastor, D. Witherspoon Dodge, Pastor. After several years experimentation the Chicago and Alton road has abandoned concrete ties. It was found that the frost heaves them out of the ground in the winter, being without the springiness of the oak tie, they had a tendency to throw the track out of line when most serious.

San Francisco agents of the Southern Pacific steel company say that regardless of the frost of two years ago the citrus fruit or oranges crop this year will be 40,000 carloads.
