THEATRE DEAL TO BE CLOSED?

May Reach Agrement at a Conference to be Held Thursday Or Friday

A. B. Cheatham lesse of the Abbeville theatre and J. B. Joel of Athens, Ga, both well known theatrical men, wil come to Anderson either Thursday or Friday of the coming week and the chances are that the Anderson Theatre Co, wil close a trade with one of them to take charge of the new theatre to be built here.

Negotiations have been under way between the Anderson people and the out-of-town parties for some weeks concerning the theatre proposition. S. A. Lynch made two propositions. one of which it was expected would be accepted but so far no definite terms have been resched. Chas. K. Bryant, the Richmond architect has also made several propositions for the Old Dominion Trust Co., but no concrete understanding was reached with him. Therefore it is expected that either Mr. Joel or Mr. Cheatham will get the local playhouse. Anderson people await with some interest the coming of the two theatre men

Anderson College.

Anderson College.

On Monday evening, March 36th, at 8:30 p. m. Miss Marie Elms of Anderson College will give her graduating recital in expression. It has been our pleasure on several former occasions to hear Miss Elms read, so we look forward with much delight to this opportunity in store for us on Monday night. She is a splendid reader, always delights her audience, and does credit to her teacher and her and does credit to her teacher and her college. The program will be inter-spersed with selections from the vocal department. Miss Elmo will be assisted by Misses L. and M. Henry, Bradhain, Tribble, Watkins and Alward in a double trio.

Miss Elms will read the following selections: The Transfiguration of Miss Philura.

Wekerlin ... Vilanelle
St. Agnes' Eve ... Keats
Mariana ... Tennyson
Denga ... Barcarolle
