CHATAUQUA OFFERS PROGRAM OF SPLENDID ATTRACTIONS

Anderson People Are Assured Of A Great Treat—Some of the Entertainments When Taken Singly Are From the Cream of the Lyceum and Whole Is a Week of Pleasure and Of Profit

Announcement has just been authorized of the principal features of the Redpath Chatauqua here for this season. The program to be held in good things and not a few innovations. There will not be a dull hour from start to finish.

One of the innovations will be a two-day grand musical festival during which there will be nothing but music aside from the literary lectures of the morning hour.

On one day of this festival, Marcus A. Kelloran, the great dramatic baritone, who has appeared in solos with the Daniorch Orchestra, the Theodore Thomas Orchestra, the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and other widely known organizations, will give a recital. Mr. Kelloran has also appeared in grand opera to engage in recital and oratorio singing.

In the evening of the same day, the Cathedral Choir will appear in one of their musical programs. The repertoire of the Cathedral Choir includes short modern oratorios by such composers as Bach, Stainer and Schaefer, also a number of old hymns, acclamations, duets, quartets and choruses of a very high order, finally closing with a finale of an operatic nature.

On the next day of this festival, the band will present a program in the afternoon including cornet solo by Mr. Kray. This is the third season of Mr. Kray and his band on the Redpath Chatauqua this year, there being a unanimous call for them every year.

In the evening of the same day Kray and his band will be heard in another concert during the first part of the program and the latter part will be given up to selections from grand opera by the Denton Grand Opera Company accompanied by the band. These grand opera plays will appear in special costumes. In fact it will be a grand finale to these two days, such as has never before been seen at a Chatauqua.

Another announcement which will be greeted with interest and enthusiasm is the coming of the Ben Great Players. This company made the tour of 110 Redpath Chatauquas last season and this season will appear on 100. There will be thirteen actors in the company, including Percival Vivian, who made so many friends on the Chatauquas of last season.

All Ben Great plays are given with the minimum stage effect. There is nothing to detract attention from the play itself. Every actor is experienced and each plays his part with the sole purpose of depicting the character exactly as it should be. Correct diction and pronunciation are distinguishing characteristics of the Ben Great players.

A special feature of the opening day will be a concert by the Dunbar Quartet and Bealy Rogers. Carrying a total of 200 songs made in Europe, this company will furnish a program of interest to old and young.

This opening concert will be given in three parts. One part will include vocal quartet selections, the second will include instrumental numbers on violin, cello and piano, and the third division will include the famous bell ringing.

The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party will present in special costume an evening of light opera, probably giving the entire rendition of "Lovely Galatea." This organization is one of the best known in the Lyceum and Chatauqua world today.

One of the special lectures who will appear here Chatauqua week is to deal with the Japanese problem in this country—a subject which has been discussed a great deal during the past year and yet one upon which people outside of California are but little informed.

McIntyre Flowers, under the theme of "Color Guard and Picket Line" will fully discuss this important subject.

Having lived in Ohio and California, Mr. Flowers has been able to study the Japanese problem from the viewpoint of both eastern and western people. He mentions the fact that 65,000 of the 75,000 Japanese in the United States live in California. In 1910 the number was scarcely 300.

The usual emphasis will be placed on Chatauqua week on work among the children, such as games, work and story telling. This play-ground work will be free to all children.

Special attention will be paid to the Swedish programs and their appropriateness to the spirit of the day. In all places where the Denton Grand Opera Company appears on Sunday, they will present selections from the oratorio. All cities where the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party makes come on Sunday, they too will present a sacred program.

Other announcements will be made soon as they are received and musical companies which are coming Chatauqua week.
