

Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm is one of the greatest world-forces in present-day business. The enthusiasm from within has become so contagious that it soon goes without, and the combination of Enthusiasm in the hearts of both employee and patron is a rare, but wonderful thing. Enthusiasm must have something behind it to inspire it. For it always leads to greatness and the doing of great things. It can't be a bubble—it must be a ball of gold.

The reason why people are so enthusiastic about these Monday Sales at the Bee Hive is because the enthusiasm that we feel ourselves reaches out beyond the four store walls and goes into hundreds and hundreds of homes in Anderson and surrounding territory. It is an Enthusiasm born of great things—the highest, broadest, honest, hearty of purpose and ever ready service—they are the things, together with our enthusiasm, courteous and painstaking salesforce—that have created the Enthusiasm outside of the store and built the greatest mercantile business in this part of the state.

But the Enthusiasm that we feel this spring is greater than ever. Bailes' Bee Hive has gone far to make this spring display greater than ever and we have succeeded beyond our fondest hopes. We extend an invitation to every one to come and see the first, best and most reasonably priced Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Ladies Wearing Apparel, Millinery, Flats, Coverings, Trunks, Bags, Men's Furnishing and Notion stocks ever brought together under one roof in upper South Carolina.

Modern Jacksonville Reverses His Memory At Reunion

Spirit of Great Man Militant in Confederate Reunion City—Why Jacksonville Was Named in His Honor.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Confederate soldiers, the world over, reverse the name of Andrew Jackson, and in view of the fact that their next reunion is to be held in the only city in the South that was named in honor of that great and brave man, his services in freeing Florida from the blight of Indian barbarism will be of interest.

Jacksonville was named for Gen. Andrew Jackson as a compliment and mark of appreciation for services rendered to civilization in the Seminole War. There could have been no progress or civilization in Florida but for the work of Andrew Jackson. Conditions in this territory in 1818, nearly a hundred years ago, demanded the services of a brave and resolute man. Gen. Jackson was selected by the government as the one man above all others to head the movement against the Seminole Indians who had been terrorizing the territory for several years and committing atrocities of the most brutal character.

In March, 1818, Gen. Jackson was ordered to the site of the Seminole War. He invaded East Florida, and in a campaign of less than six weeks crushed these Indians. It is related by historians that in one village not far removed from Jacksonville, he found 200 scalps of men, women and children, many of them still fresh, hanging on a war pole. Gen. Jackson knew that the Spaniards were in sympathy with the Indians in their attacks on American settlers. After clearing up a number of Indian villages he captured the Spanish post of St. Marks. For this act he was severely reprimanded by his government. However, the next day he was more courageous than the men who were conducting the affairs of state at Washington.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, Commander in Chief United Confederate Veterans, who held their Reunion at Jacksonville in May.

Early in May, 1818, Gen. Jackson ended his campaign against the Seminoles in East Florida. He had completely broken their power and run them out of the territory. They caused no more serious trouble.

During his campaign in East Florida Gen. Jackson obtained satisfactory evidence that Spanish officers at Pensacola were in sympathy with the Indians. He promptly decided to march against them and teach them a lesson. The Spanish governor of West Florida, learning of Gen. Jackson's purpose, sent him a written protest against his invasion. This protest is now on file among the Jackson documents in charge of the Tennessee Historical Society at Nashville. The protest was delivered to Gen. Jackson near Pensacola on May 21, but it had no effect on that obstinate man. In reply he sent a peremptory demand for the immediate surrender of Pensacola and Barrancas. Jackson advanced immediately on Pensacola and possessed it two days later. The Barrancas Garrison capitulated, were released as prisoners of war and sent to Havana.

Having thus snatched both East and West Florida from the Indians and Spaniards, Gen. Jackson at once proceeded to establish a provisional government under the stars and stripes. Having accomplished this, he returned to his home.

In 1822 a number of pioneers held a meeting here and decided to start the work of building a town. The village was then known as the Cow Ford, a name given to it by the Indians. After perfecting an organization, the incorporation included the name of Jacksonville in honor of Gen. Jackson, who had made it possible for white men to live here.

When the Confederate soldiers and their friends meet here for the 4th annual reunion Jacksonville will impress them with the name of Andrew Jackson. It is not a modern progressive city of 25,000 population, one of the thriving centers of the New South. Its varied attractions will delight all who attend the reunion, and no matter how large the crowd the city will accommodate them.

CHAUTAQUA TICKETS SELLING RAPIDLY

SALE YESTERDAY SAID TO BE FINE

IN OTHER TOWNS

Committee Will Visit Ten Of The Near-by Towns Today To Sell Tickets

"Get tickets" is the cry. Remember those who purchase the first 1,000 season tickets, get them for $2.00 each for adults and $1.00 for children; after that all tickets advance in price of $2.50 and $1.50 respectively. And there was a rush for tickets yesterday, when they were for the first time placed on sale. More than 200 were taken in a hurry. Everybody is going to the Chautauqua and they should.

A special meeting, attended by more than forty members, of the Civic Association, was held last afternoon at the parlors of the Cluquola Hotel, at which time the association mapped out plans for the sale of tickets, and will begin today a rapid sale of same. Tickets were placed on sale at the cotton mill stores during the day and also at Pendleton and Sandy Springs. Friday's special committee will leave Anderson for Belton, Williamston, Pelzer, Frankville, Piedmont, Hokea, Path, Donalds, Westminister, Ivy Star, Lowndesville, Anteville, Townville, Clemson College, Seneca, West Union and Walhalla to place tickets on sale, and it is expected that these towns will take at least 400 tickets; so those persons who want to get in on the first 1,000 tickets should purchase today or tomorrow, as it is very likely that ten thousand will have been sold by Friday.

The Chautauqua offers a series of magnificent attractions, such as show only in large cities, and will bring to Anderson the famous Stratford-on-Avon Shakespearean Best Great dramatic plays, presenting the famous drama, "Twelfth Night," one of the finest pieces of the art of Shakespeare. Following will be the magnificent colored address of Senator Cannon of Utah, on the Mormon situation; then will be the famous Bohemian Kyrl's European Band; and many others of international fame.

The grand tent, which will seat 4,000 people will arrive in Anderson Friday and probably be located on the McKinley lot on Sharp's Hill. News yesterday Whaley announced that the local Civic Committee, through James Part the chairman, would probably select that site instead of the Mason site on South Main Street, though the matter has not yet been definitely decided. Carlisle McKinley yesterday offered his site, but the Chautauqua people, stating that they were willing to do anything to advance the cause, so great an undertaking.

Everything is shaping up splendidly for the great tent, which is expected to place more than 1,000 and perhaps 2,000 tickets.

Telephone calls for tickets were received yesterday from many points, such as Easley and Greenville, which is more than 50 miles away from Anderson.

Got the Florist

MRS. PRESCOTT had just heard of the illness of a dear friend. She was about to leave town that morning for an extended trip. There was no time to call. Turning to the telephone, she got the florist and ordered a choice selection of roses sent with her card to the address of the invalid.

Without a telephone she would have been unable to do this little act of kindness.
