RICHARD I. MANNING VISITOR HERE TODAY

CONFERRING WITH FRIENDS IN ANDERSON

SOME NEW PLANKS

Says That He Is Now Confident That He Will Be in the Second Race

Richard I. Manning of Sumter, one of the best known men in the State and candidate for governor of South Carolina, arrived in Anderson last night and will spend the day here in conference with his friends and in looking over the general situation.

Mr. Manning talked very freely last night to a reporter for The Intelligencer. He says that he has received much encouragement from all parts of the State and he is now convinced that he will be one of those in the second race.

Mr. Manning says that one of the principal things he will strive to do in the approaching campaign is to keep down factionalism. He believes that the people of the State are tired of the continual strife and he knows that it is not for the good of the State that the candidates for office should indulge in personalities during the campaign and constantly berate the other office-seekers.

"I want a clean, strong and progressive business administration for South Carolina and I believe that this is what the people of the State want," said Mr. Manning.

Mr. Manning says that he intended focusing his attention on the matter of education and the improvement of the common schools of the State, together with rural conditions. Mr. Manning has a plan for more equitable tax adjustments which he has carefully worked out and which appears to be a sound solution of the tax question.

His plan would provide for a tax commission, with the comptroller general as chairman, which would carefully work out details concerning conditions in every county in the State and then base the assessments on actual knowledge. The Sumter man has a splendid idea about improving rural conditions. He points out that 44 per cent of the white farmers in South Carolina are tenants and do not own their homes. He says that this condition should be remedied and if a plan is proposed should ever be put into operation this condition would necessarily be bettered.

One of the improvements along this line suggested by Mr. Manning is that an amendment to the constitution be secured which would provide that the owner of the small home in the country or the small home in the city be exempted from taxes for a certain number of years in order that the money might go toward the payment of the purchase price of the place and the improvement and up-building.

Mr. Manning said that he had no cause to complain of conditions in the State just now so far as his candidacy goes and he believes that he will be one of those to be heard from when the question is settled as to who will be the next governor of South Carolina.

J. S. Coxe, of Coxe's Army Fame, To Lead New Army to Capital

JACOB SECHLER COXE, who led his band of followers to Washington in 1864, is now ready to lead another battalion of unemployed toward the national capital with three bills which he wants passed for the benefit of the laboring classes. They are in substance as follows: 1. To establish a federal bank in every community; 2. To permit communities to issue noninterest bonds, borrow money on them from United States treasury and hire the unemployed for road building or other public work; 3. To buy the pipe lines, railroads, telegraphs and telephones at physical values and operate them by the government. If he fails in this, says Coxe, these bills will be a revolution.

COTTON DECLINE NOT DUE TO WAR

Considerable Realizing On Some Months Appears the Selling Feature

(By Associated Press) New York, April 23.—After making new high ground for the movement during the days early trading, cotton turned easier under realizing and selling for a reaction, with the close steady at a net advance of 6 points on May, but generally 2 to 3 points lower.

There was a renewal of yesterday's buying movement at the start and after opening steady at an advance the market sold about four to 11 points not higher during the middle of the day with July contracts touching 12 1/2.

While reports of unsettled weather south seemed one of the factors on the advance it was the old crop months which led the upward movement as covering by foreign and Wall Street shorts of May, while demand for July and August seemed to come from such the same sources as previously on the advance. A good deal of realizing was done, however, and there appeared to be more talk of a reaction around the ring.

COMMITTEES FOR GREAT ELK MEETING

L. H. Cary Has Appointed Committees for Grand Lodge Convention in Anderson

Committees for the grand lodge convention of the B. P. O. Elks have been appointed by District Deputy L. H. Cary, of Greenville, according to an announcement made by George D. Levy of Sumter, the president of the South Carolina association of Elks.

Elks in this state are looking forward to the Grand Lodge meeting with interest and to the state convention which meets in Anderson on June 17 and 18. Committees have been named by the Exalted Father of the Anderson lodge to attend to every detail of the State convention. Special rates will be given by the railroads for the occasion.

District Deputy Lewis H. Cary is authority for the statement that all of the lodges he has recently visited in his official capacity have given him to understand that large delegations will be sent to the convention at Anderson.

For the Grand Lodge convention, which will take place at Denver, the following committee has been appointed by the district deputy:

- Parade—L. H. Cary, Greenville, chairman; Fred H. Doninick, Newberry; Otto Spahr, Orangeburg. Hedges—F. S. Pinn, Sumter, chairman; F. M. Brickman, Georgetown; S. M. Wolfe, Anderson. Hotel—Montague Triest, Charleston, chairman; E. C. Pendergast, Florence; J. L. Erwin, Columbia. Transportation—S. H. McLean, Columbia, chairman; T. E. Pierce, Spartanburg; Ed. H. DeCamp, Gaffney. The official route as selected by the committee on transportation will be subject to approval by the State association.

MY TOWN'S HOSPITALITY

(Editor A. L. Gossett in the Tugaloo Tribune.)

Anderson people were kind and hospitable to the numerous and representative to Greenville. The Kyle man fell into the tender hands of Mr. F. L. Farmer, who is connected with the Southeastern Life Insurance Company, and who owns a beautiful and desirable home in North Anderson, at the end of the street car line.

North Anderson is just one year old and is one of the prettiest residence sections in the upper part of the state. $65,000 worth of homes were built in one year in that part of Anderson, and Mr. Farmer owns one of the handsomest bungalows which he acquired from Mr. John Laney, the popular real estate man.

Mr. Farmer is interested in poultry as well as insurance and is giving his attention to hatching chickens, ducks and geese from his incubator. As soon as the young chicks hatch, Mr. Farmer gives them to the old rooster to raise and the hens keep on laying. Mr. Farmer's home is in the country, but he has every advantage of the city—electric lights, water, work, gas, telephone and sewerage connections. He and Mrs. Farmer are perfectly happy and have no desire to go anywhere this summer to spend vacation.

Mrs. Farmer was a Miss Gorton, a granddaughter of the late T. H. Russell, who edited one of Anderson's first newspapers, the Anderson Gazette. Their first son arrived on January 20, this year, and if you want to keep on the good side of Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, just brag on James Lafayette Farmer, Jr., when you visit them.

DEARS FARM

Stars, April 23.—Rev. J. L. Voss, pastor of the Baptist church, was absent from his pulpit on the third Sunday owing to a pressing invitation from Greenwood to him, to preach in the morning and evening in the town of the Mission. However, the pulpit was ably filled by Dr. R. W. Sanders of Greenville, who preached a helpful sermon on occasion.

The fourth Lutheran service was held at the high school auditorium on Monday evening by a trio of charming and talented girls, "The Anderson Girls." The next and last service will be given by Dr. H. P. G. Smith, who will be accompanied by his wife and family beginning at 8 p. m. Come, but help the school and church, please.

The Sunday school service at the Methodist church will be held at the Methodist church, May 1. The good people here are looking forward to the meeting with a great deal of interest and devotion.

We are glad to hear that Dr. J. V. Land, who has been under treatment at the Princeton sanitarium in Alabama, is much better and hopes to be able to come home in a short while.

Mrs. S. Clarence Cook and Miss Carter have gone to Lexington to visit a month or two with relatives.

Mr. J. S. Coxe, of Coxe's Army Fame, is expected to visit here on his way to the capital.

The Deadly House Fly

Time was when only the bald-headed man feared the housefly—now he strikes terror to the stoutest hearts. For we have found him out. We know him to be a dweller in filth, a "common carrier" of disease, a spreader of plague and pestilence. He must be ostracized from society and expelled from our homes!

HOW?

Screens, my dear sir, Screens! And we sell them!

We also have Bronze, Galvanized and Painted Screen Wire Cloth, cut to any size required.

FREE—1000 FLY SWATTERS.

We will give one to each grown-up person who calls for them, until stock is exhausted.

Grandma's Telephone Visits

GRANDMA SMITH is a sprightly old lady who likes to keep in touch with things. In the next town lives another dear old lady who was Grandma's school-mate, and of whom she is very fond. It is impossible for the two old ladies to do much visiting, but every day they call each other up on the telephone and have the most delightful chats.

No one gets more comfort and pleasure out of the family telephone than Grandma.
