SUFFS MARCH IN WASHINGTON

GREAT PARADE OF WOMEN ASK FOR RIGHTS OF THE BALLOT

SING AS THEY GO

Many Prominent Women From All Parts of the Nation Take Part in Program

Washington, May 9.—With banners flying, ten bands playing and the women singing a marching song, several thousand suffragists from various sections of the country today paraded along Pennsylvania avenue from Lafayette Square to the Capitol. There 531 of them, representing every state in the Union, and assigned one to each Senator and Representative, presented to the members of Congress petitions asking the passage of the Bristow-Mondell resolution calling for a federal Constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

Immense crowds viewed the procession along the route. When the Capitol was reached the bands were massed on the plaza before the East front, where they played the "March of the Women" composed by Dr. Ethel Smyth of England, accompanying a chorus of 1,000 women, wearing robes of white, with green stoles and fillets of green on their heads.

The parade followed a mass meeting in a downtown theater presided over by Mrs. William Kent, wife of Representative Kent of California, and at which stirring addresses were made by Miss Caroline Lexow, field secretary of the Woman's Political Union of New York; Mrs. Donald Hooker, of Baltimore, and Miss Lucy Burns, of Brooklyn, vice chair-man of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, under the auspices of which the demonstration was held. Among those occupying boxes at the meeting were Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, of Wilmington, Del., daughter of President Cleveland's secretary of state; Miss Julia Lathrop, Chief of the Federal Children's Bureau; Mrs Harriet Stanton Blatch, of New York, daughter of the late Elizabeth Cady Stanton, one of the pioneer leaders in the suffrage movement; The Equal Franchise Society, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Antoinette Funk, of Chicago, and the Pennsylvania Men's League for Suffrage. A number of young women, many of them prominent in society, were also among the marchers.

There were many novel features in the parade and the marching women were cheered loudly by the throngs that lined Pennsylvania avenue all the way from Lafayette Square, opposite the White House, to the Capitol.

First and foremost was borne aloft a banner, twenty feet wide, bearing the inscription: "We demand the passage of the Bristow-Mondell resolution."

Then came the first section, the pageant division, typifying Spring, Youth and Hope, which had been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Eliphalet Andrews, a well-known artist. Thousands of garlands of flowers were carried by the young women and children, the shades of the blossoms having been selected with an eye to harmonizing with the Union's colors, purple, white and gold.

In this division also marched the chorus of 1,000 led by Mrs. Apolline M. Blair, president of the Rubinstein Club of this city.

Attractive as was this part of the parade, it did not evoke any more enthusiasm or interest from the onlookers than the cavalry section which came next and was commanded by Mrs. Juliet Barrett Rublee, of Washington, who also was the mounted grand marshal of the procession.

In advance of the cavalry contingent were seven color bearers on horseback each, carrying a purple, white and gold flag. At their head rode Miss Elsie Hill, daughter of former Representative Hill of Connecticut. Among the prominent cavalrywomen were: Miss Inez Haynes Gillmore, of San Francisco; Miss Mary Morgan, of Washington; niece of Bishop Paddock, former chief forester; Miss Alberta Hill, formerly of Australia, now of New York, and Miss Elizabeth Kent, daughter of Representative Kent.

Mrs. George Odell was chairman of the float marshals of the pageant division, which was made up in three and which was subdivided into various sections. The sections that created the most interest were those of the women writers, and the astronomer. The former was organized by Mrs. Maude Malone Gaskell, of Washington and were Mrs. Zona Gale, of Wisconsin; Martin, Mrs. Adelaide Fairbanks Simmons, daughter of Former Vice-President Fairbanks, and wife of Lieutenant Simmons, U. S. N.

Child; Dorrie Marguerite Saunders Gerry of New York; Alice Duer Miller and Roberta Bradenay. Among the actresses Hattie Williams, Annie Russell and Mrs. Mary Mealy Clagett were conspicuous.

Other troops included college women, farmers, wageearners, professional housewives, women physicians, stenographers, social workers, librarians, artists, physicians, dentists, lawyers, organized by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley of Washington, wife of the noted pure food expert.

An interesting feature was a large delegation of women voters from the six states where women have the franchise are allowed to cast their ballots. Walking at the head of this contingent was Dr. Cora Smith King, of Seattle, Washington, treasurer of the national council of women.

Marching up the rear of the parade were hundreds of women under the banners of separate states.

The words of the song, "The March of the Women" which was sung by the marchers and which had been heard in this country only once before are:

"Shout, shout, up with your song,
Cry with the wind, for the dawn is breaking.
March, march, swing you along,
Wide blown your banner, and hope is awaking.
Sing with the storm, proclaim your glory,
Low, then call, and glad, to their word.
Louder and louder it swells,
Thunder and freedom, the voice of the Lord.

"Long, long—we in the past
Cowered in dread from the lights of heaven;
Strong, strong—stand we at last,
Fearless in faith and with sight new-given.
Strength with its beauty, Life with its duty,
Hear the voice, oh hear and obey;
These, these—beckon us on;
Open your eyes to the blaze of day.

"Comrades—ye who have dared
First in the battle to strive and sorrow;
Scorned, spurned—nought have ye cared,
Raising your eyes to a wider morrow.
Ways that are weary, days that are dreary,
Toil and pain by faith ye have borne;
Hail, hail—victors ye stand,
Wearing the wreath that the brave have worn.

"Life, strife—these two are one,
Naught can ye win but by faith and daring.
On, on—that ye have come,
But for the work of today prepariss.
Firm in reliance, laugh at defiance,
Laugh in hope for sure is the end;
March, march—swing as one,
Shoulder to shoulder and friend to friend."

"CLEAN UP DAY" FOR THE COUNTRY HOME

Farmer's Need of Preparedness is Fully as Great as That of the City Dweller.

Clemson College, May 9.—Many cities in South Carolina have been conducting clean-up days recently and everyday in reports, much valuable work has been accomplished in this line. Many of these cities have employed a number of men to work in the rural communities. And in the opinion of the Clemson college authorities the country needs cleaning up at the present time. The city has a regular department which gives its attentions daily to sanitary conditions, while in the country very little, if any, has a be life of sanitation. Many of the diseases that are now prevalent in the country could be prevented if the people would only take the time and use the means at their disposal. Many of the diseases from the town is not a difficult task and even a little attention to the home will make the task much easier. Much good can be accomplished and perhaps Doctor's bills averted, if some nominal sense, added to a few necessary tools in the premises takes precedence over the pocket.

Flies and the mosquito are the principle disease carriers, against which farmers have to fight. Are the farmers to work as in olden days up the way toward establishing sanitary conditions?

Flies like dry, loose and dusty manure and the wet and moist manure are the best and surest weapons. Full information on this subject can be obtained from Prof. A. C. Conrad's bulletin, "Controlling Flies," which can be had upon request. Any county demonstration agent in the state will be glad to demonstrate the use of the fly trap.

The mosquito offers a larger problem and the only thorough method of getting rid of it is to drain all the grassy lands of the farm and to keep the premises free of tin cans and other receptacles in which water can settle and serve as a breeding place. But keeping a place free of all standing pools of water and other possible breeding places will do much to stop down mosquitoes and therefore, malaria, which can be caused only by the mosquito.

The first step in getting rid of flies is to screen the doors and windows. The extension division of Clemson college will furnish information relative to cheap system of screening.

Disease seldom attacks people who live on clean premises.

For the second time within a year, Mary Matuskofsky of Bayonne, N. J., aged eleven, fell three stories while walking in her sleep and sustained only a slight injury to her right foot.
