U. S. CONSUL IN MEXICAN JAIL

REPORTS THAT SILLIMAN WAS SET FREE PROVEN TO BE FALSE

BRYAN GETS BUSY

Alarming Reports Filter In From Stormy Republic and Keep the Envoys Guessing

(By Associated Press)

Secretary Bryan called at the Argentine legation late in the day and spent two hours in conference with the South American envoys, discussing the continued detention of John K. Silliman, American vice consul at Bahillo by Mexican federalists, the Lobo Island incident and the case of the five South Americans under arrest at Vera Cruz for aiding upon United States sailors and marines.

Asks Consul's Release

Mr. Bryan insisted that the release of Silliman must be brought about at once. When asked about the matter later, he would not say what would happen if the vice consul were kept in prison, but he was gravely emphatic in announcing the government's attitude.

General Carranza and the Mexican rebels who seek his overthrow will not be represented at the conference at Niagara Falls, according to the official dispatch.

Disturbing elements continued to arouse interest throughout the day. General Funston at Vera Cruz was reported to be Brazilian minister at Mexico City to release some South Americans including three Brazilians, who had been arrested and are awaiting trial for "subversive" activities. American soldiers in Vera Cruz harbor. An appeal was made to Secretary Bryan by the mediating envoys in behalf of General Huerta because of reports that American forces had seized a military installation at Lagos Island.

Warrior Division Expected

The government maintained that Huerta violated the armistice in ordering his troops to march on Parricito toward the port of Tampico. From Tampico, where Mexican federalists and Huertista forces are preparing for a sanguinary struggle, came rumors of battle, while reports that Huerta's strength was waning in Mexico City and that the band leaders Zapata were about to attack its capital from the south served to arouse diplomatic concern of foreign nations. President Huerta's position might be in immediate danger of reversion to the old.

Another American Killed

Details of the killing of C. B. Hoadley, American and U. S. Williams, British by Mexicans at El Favor mine near Guadalupe, were given in a dispatch from the British consulate at Guadalupe, transmitted to the state department, today.

The dispatch said that Hoadley and Williams were stabbed to death and their bodies mutilated by enraged Mexicans after the foreigner had endeavored to search native laborers for the ore.

The foreigners were attacked while tracing silver ore from the mine; the search was in progress and Hoadley and Williams gave up their weapons, believing they would be spared.

Not Seen Anymore

Vera Cruz, May 11.—At least 1000 men were seen in the streets of Vera Cruz, a mob gathered between the British legation and the American consulate, who had taken refuge there, was delivered over. There were many killed.

The Brazilian minister notified the state department, and was that he would only surrender if he was empowered by the government to do so.

The American legation in Vera Cruz has been closed since the mob broke into the city. There are no reports of any more deaths. The federalists, however, are taking steps to prevent public order in the city. It is reported that the British minister has been ordered to leave the city, and that the American legation is being evacuated. The situation is very tense, and it is expected that more violence will occur in the near future.

TWO MALICIOUS MEN DID DAMAGE

Woman and Her Blind Husband Were Injured When Horse Ran Away Last Sunday

It is hard to imagine that men could be so malicious as to cause a woman and her blind husband serious injury but such is the case, according to the story told by Mrs. Sturgeon Tucker at the Anderson County Hospital, Mrs. Tucker is in the hospital, suffering with a broken shoulder, head and her blind husband is badly injured as the result of a run away Sunday. The animal driven by Mrs. Tucker took fright at two motor cycles and Mrs. Tucker was too weak to regain control of the panic-stricken horse.

According to Mrs. Tucker's version of the affair she and her husband left their home at Fair Play to drive through this city to relative living in the lower part of the county. Her husband is totally blind and she was driving the horse. They came from a nearby road to the residence of Mrs. Tucker says that both of the men steered their machines in the direction of the buggy and seemed to be trying to come as close as possible without striking the buggy. The horse took fright and she was unable to hold him and when he ran she and her husband were thrown from the buggy. She says that neither of the riders stopped their machines or made any effort to assist them.

Mrs. Tucker was brought to the city and she and her husband were given medical attention.

The injured woman was thus carried to the Anderson hospital and the broken bones were set while the husband returned to his home at Fair Play.

The officers are attempting to find some trace of the motor cycle riders.

NATION PAYS HONOR TO DEAD

WILSON VOICES TRIBUTE TO THOSE WHO FELL AT VERA CRUZ

MANY EYES DIMMED

Great Crowds Turn Out at Fair York and Follow Coffins to Navy Yard

(By Associated Press)

New York, May 11.—New York joined the nation today in memorializing with simple dignity the heroes of the nineteenth blue-jackets and marines who gave their lives at Vera Cruz. As the most impressive funeral pageant since the Spanish war started from the Battery to the Brooklyn navy yard, it was as if the whole population of the city was there.

The "people" were still standing shoulder to shoulder in a community of grief. It was a spectacle of a city strangely transfixed and lifted out of itself.

In the line of marchers that followed the artillery caissons bearing the dead were the chiefs of state and city government and many more distinguished men of nearly every calling, but every eye in the throng that lined the way, turned first to the carriage where President Wilson rode close behind the last funeral car.

The procession left Washington during the night and stood at the intersection of the parkway and the Broadway highway, and the marcher roared "Up, up, up" that proclaimed the end of the ceremony.

Relatives of Dead Personnel.

On the stand with the president at the navy yard were relatives of the dead sailors and marines, mothers, sisters and wives, but in all the throng of mourners, none seemed more deeply touched by the spirit of the day than the widows who were sent the jackets of the navy to wear for their country's honor at Vera Cruz.

The president was left the privilege of making the nation's grief and the nation's pride that those who died in the performance of duty had done for their country a service not to be measured by their individual deeds.

"The feeling that is uppermost," he said, "is one of profound grief, and it is one of the things that should have been done for them."

Returning to it is probable that every automobile will be in by 9 o'clock and the members of the high school will have enjoyed a delightful afternoon from start to finish. They all appreciate the Mr. Burdett has been able to arrange this trip.

LABOR LEADERS WIN IN COURT

GOMPERS, ET AL, VICTORIOUS IN KICKS BOYCOTT, CONTEST

OPINION BY HOLMES

Justice Wright Had Sentenced Defendants on Charge of Contempt in 1907

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 11.—Ending years of bitter legal fighting, the supreme court today set aside the sentence imposed by the District of Columbia supreme court upon Samuel Gompers, John Morrison and John Mitchell, for alleged contempt of court in 1907, for violating injunctions against alleged boycotting of the Duke's Store and Hange Company.

Holmes Believes Opinion.

Justice Holmes announcing the decision, said that even if the statute did not cover contempt, the necessity for the speedy disposition of such cases was a sufficient justification for the rule that by analogy contempt proceedings must be begun within three years after the committing of the offense. Justices Vandewater and Justice Holmes said the controversy turned upon the question of whether contempt of court is a crime barred by the statute of limitations which provides that no person shall be prosecuted for an offense unless by indictment or information brought within three years.

He rejected the argument that the statute applied only to cases that could be prosecuted against by indictment or information, and explained that the court had decided these words are controlled by the substantial purpose of the statute that no person should be prosecuted for an offense not committed within three years.

The court rejected the argument that the offense continued until the end of the labor boycott against the company in 1910. The offense charged, Justice Holmes said, was not a continuing conspiracy to boycott, but specific acts.

The conduct of Justice Wright who imposed the sentences in the lower court, are being investigated by the house committee under resolution in impeachment.
