Throughout the day yesterday telegrams of sympathy poured in to the family from all sections of the country and some especially touching telegrams were received from officials of the Southern railway. A message of sympathy was also received from the Order of Railway Conductors, of which Capt. Smith had been a life long member.

POLITICAL NOTES

Friends of H. Elliot Summers, Jr., of Pendleton yesterday suggested his name as a candidate for the state senate. They asked The Intelligencer to state that they wish to see him make the race. Whether he has been sounded out on the proposition or not they did not state. They say that if he should come out it would make an entire kaleidoscopic change in the line up and there would follow some changes that would be real newsworthy. Mr. Summers was elected to the house last fall and served a part of one term. He is one of the most progressive farmers in the county, and has a beautiful home near Pendleton which he is having overhauled and modernized. It is one of the most homelike locations in the state. Mr. Summers is a brother-in-law of Governor Blewett and has in general the same political views.

Supervisor J. Mack King has been laid up for several days by order of the doctor. Mr. King has not a very strong throat anyway and the dust and continued dry weather have given him a severe cold. He was in the city yesterday for the first time in several days. He says that he is much pleased with the outlook for his election to the office he now holds, although there are several aspirants. He feels that he will win on the first ballot. Mr. King says that he finds that the people realize that he went in under great handicap, and had the nerve to tackle what most folk designate a "political grave yard" and he expects to be given a full term in order that he may demonstrate constructive policies.

Capt. J. M. Dunlap, the gallant color bearer of Gen. Miles who refused at Petersburg, Va., to hand over the colors of the regiment to Gen. Lee himself, is at present a member of the board of county commissioners. He has been urged to offer for election as one of the township commissioners, but he says that if he has to pull out all over the county hunting for votes he would rather do without the office. He does not know exactly what the new law means. Some people say that the people in the section vote for their own commissioner, and that's what he thinks it should be, while others think that the people of the county as a whole vote for the commissioner.

At the convention of the South Carolina exhibitors held at the Seaside Hotel, Charlotte, N. C., on May 19th, J. B. Bristow, proprietor of the Bijou Theatre of this city, was elected president of the South Carolina Association. The North and South Carolina exhibitors held a joint convention in Charlotte on the above named date. Mr. Bristow reports one of the largest crowds ever assembled at one time in the North Carolina City. He talked very interestingly to a reporter for The Intelligencer last night on his arrival in the city, concerning some special features that he had secured to run at an early date. Mr. Bristow has booked the production of the Famous Players Film Company, and in the next few days will announce the titles of his features that he has secured, stating the exact date that they will appear.

Among them are Hearst's "Annie," featuring Mary Pickford, and by many critics is the greatest production of the year. Also the Count of Monte Cristo and "The Sign of the Cross."

Anderson people are fortunate in having such a trio of motion picture men, as each of the three have of late been making every effort to secure the very best in motion pictures. And from the programs published daily in this paper, it seems that they have succeeded.

Germany Watching Russia For Signs In More Ways Than One

St. Petersburg, May 21.—It is not only a possible military opponent that Germany is uneasy about Russia. The tone of the press daily shows that there is much anxiety over the possibility of a Russian attack on the Baltic coast.

Map of Mexico From Vera Cruz to Mexico City

The map shows the route of the army of division in Mexico City from Vera Cruz through Cuernavaca for approximately 200 miles under conditions for the most successful of troops. It became taking such a long time to get to Mexico City as it was not until the 10th of May, 1914, that the principal units of the army were in Mexico City. In the war with Mexico in 1914, General Woodfield Wood's army captured Vera Cruz on March 22, 1914, and entered the City of Mexico on April 12 of that year. The army marched from Vera Cruz to Mexico City via Cuernavaca, where it remained during the night of the 11th. From that point on there was violent fighting with the main defenses were carried off.

News Is Stranger Than Fiction

By MOSS

SUPPOSE all the news of all kinds the world over were wiped out for a month—utterly obliterated. Yes, it would ruin business, for it would do what would make this old positively STUPID.

Why? Because ADVERTISING IS NEWS, and we must keep pace with the news of our world.

Remember advertising—THE FIRST AND LAST—has displaced news, and is a special sale of news.

Advertising is POSITIVELY and ABSOLUTELY news.
