The Land of Broken Promises

By DANE COOLIDGE

WE feel that we are indeed fortunate in being able to announce this truly remarkable story for serial publication in this paper.

It is a stirring story of the Mexican revolution in which this portrayal of western character has painted vivid pictures of the scenes of carnage in war-infested Mexico; the plight of American refugees in border towns; the wantonness of both the Mexican federal and revolutionary troops, and in fact gives a graphic and truthful description of present conditions and all through the medium of a powerful story. Mixed with the hair-raising adventures of two Americans is a passionate love story.

CARRANZA MUST TALK AMERICAN

Mediators Cannot Get Much Information From His Adroitly Worded Statements

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 1.—More explicit information regarding the attitude of General Carranza than was contained in his last communication by Juan P. Uretil, or the official statement to the press telegraphed from Durango tonight, is awaited by the mediators before deciding upon the subject of constitutionalist representation here. This information may be obtained from the Washington government.

The diplomats claim that from the very outset they have kept the interests of the constitutionalists in mind and have planned to give them a great share in the new government as its proportionate with their strength.

The American delegates argued at length with the mediators today about constitutionalist participation. At the conclusion of the conference, Justice Lamar said that he was "hopeful" and that the views presented were "not so far apart."

Upon the developments of the next two days depend the trend of the entire peace program. Should the constitutionalists remain obdurate and refuse to meet the terms fixed by the mediators, the negotiations here will not be disrupted on that account for the United States, it is known, will not insist to such a degree as would upset what has already been accomplished toward obtaining a change of administration in Mexico.

TO PROTECT RICE BIRDS

Government Will Not Allow Them To Be Killed Off.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Notices have been issued by the U. S. Department of agriculture calling attention to a proposed amendment in the federal regulations for the protection of migratory, insectivorous birds. Under the new rule reed or rice birds can be shot in September and October in the states of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and South Carolina. The law requires three months' notice of this change. If it is decided to adopt it, the rule will be officially promulgated at the end of that time and will go into effect on September 1, 1914.

The effect of this change will be to extend to sportsmen in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware the privilege of shooting the birds during a period of two months. This they can now do in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and South Carolina. As the season is so short it is not believed that the birds will suffer appreciably in numbers.

In the late summer and early fall, they migrate to the far south where they are known as reed or rice birds. They are regarded in the states where they can now be shot as offering good sport.

Washington, June 1.—The United States department of commerce has just issued a comprehensive report on "South America as an export field" which is of special interest at this time in connection with the work being done by the Southern Railway Company and the companies associated with it in developing trade with South America by way of the Southern ports served by their lines.

This report contains some interesting information as to the methods pursued by the United Kingdom and Germany which are the two great competitors of United States in supplying South American markets, and President Harrison of the Southern Railway Company today called attention to the following extract from it as containing valuable suggestions for southern manufacturers and merchants who are interested in the trade opportunities of South America:

"The Germans owe a great deal to their banks, which lend active assistance to schemes of trade promotions; and the facility with which shipments are financed and credits handled through them has been noted as one of the greatest German assets in building up their South American trade. The most important influence for effecting this result, however, has been the thorough manner in which the Germans have investigated the special features of each particular market and the pains they have taken to see that their goods fitted in with what the people desired. It is the established custom for young men from Germany who intend to engage in the export trade to spend some years in South America as a part of their commercial education, learning the language and studying the habits of the people. Through them a first-hand and detailed knowledge of the trade is acquired and the information gained is closely followed. There are also in Germany many private and semi-official associations devoted especially to the furtherance of the German export trade, and these not only disseminate information as to the kind of particular articles required by the trade but often subsidize agents to South America and other foreign fields who make a study of market conditions. The co-operation of all German influences in South America toward the one object of furthering trade has often been remarked, and it has resulted in the present high commercial position of the country in all parts of the continent. The promotion of the United States trade in South America does not necessarily depend on following either English or German methods, but, as in the case of these countries, both the investment of American capital and the closer attention to details on the part of American exporters have been important factors in the trade increase of the last few years."

Message of Condolence. Washington, June 1.—President Wilson today cabled a message of condolence to King George on the sinking of the Empress of Ireland.

CUP DEFENDERS.

Will Begin the Month's Tuning up Process Today.

New York, June 1.—The three-month period of tuning up and trial races for the three yachts, candidates for the position of America's cup defender, begins on Tuesday, with the races of the New York Yacht Club off Glenn Cove, Long Island. Between June 2 and August 22, no less than 45 days of racing are scheduled for the Resolute, Defender and Vanitie. During the month of June the races in which the cup defense candidates will compete are considered in the light of practice and tuning up contests, but beginning early in July the cup committee will consider each race in which these three yachts appear as trial events and the showing made from day to day will have a direct bearing on the final selection of the yacht which will oppose Sir Thomas's Shamrock IV, off Sandy Hook in September.

The two principal features of this long schedule are the round-robin series off Newport, July 8 to 15 and the final trial contests over the same course August 15 to 22. In the July series each yacht will race in turn against the others while in the August races each day's contest will be a three-yacht race. In case, however, the cup committee should reach a decision regarding the best boat of the trio at any time previous to August 22, it is expected that the remaining dates will be cancelled in order that the cup defender may have more time for dry docking, overhauling and other final preparations for the international regatta off Sandy Hook scheduled to start on Sept. 10.

THE REPEAL BILL NEARING A VOTE

Senator Simmons Claims It Will Receive 52 Votes, Not Counting Doubtful Ones

Washington, June 1.—Developments in the senate today are based on the belief that a vote would be taken by Saturday night on the canal tolls exemption repeal bill. Although an effort to secure unanimous consent for a vote at 4 o'clock Friday failed, Senator O'Gorman opposing the repeal, announced that, beginning Wednesday, the bill would be kept constantly before the senate until it was disposed of.

With the adoption of this plan the bill will come up automatically at 2 o'clock each day and not be displaced by appropriation bills or other measures. During the day conference between Senators Kern, Simmons and Lodge at which the forces for and against repeal were reckoned, led to an announcement by Senator Simmons that he expected his bill to receive fifty-two votes. Senator Simmons declared he did not include any senators counted as doubtful and if his prediction is fulfilled the repeal bill will have a majority of nine.

ANTI TRUST LEGISLATION

Is Being Pushed In the Senate By Mr. Newlands.

(By Associated Press.) Washington, June 1.—Senator Newlands, chairman of the Interstate commerce committee, which has charge of the drafting of anti trust legislation, announced to the senate today that he expected to make this legislation the unfinished business before that body votes on the Panama tolls exemption repeal bill.

MENACE TO NAVIGATION

Hull of the Empress of Ireland Must Be Dismantled

Quebec, June 1.—Commander Tweedie, of His Majesty's ship Essex, which has been aiding in the search for the bodies, declared today that the Empress of Ireland could not be raised. He expressed the belief that the hull will have to be dynamited to prevent it from becoming a menace to navigation.

The services of divers from the Essex have been offered to the owners of the Empress. These divers may be used in an effort to recover a part of the valuable cargo and the bodies of some hundreds of persons believed to be imprisoned in the sunken hull.

BODY OF LAWRENCE IRVING

Distinguished English Actor Drowned in the St. Lawrence

Quebec, June 1.—The body of Lawrence Irving, the English actor, was picked up last night on the west bank of the St. Lawrence below Rimouski. This information was given out today at the Canadian Pacific offices. Irving's face was bruised almost beyond recognition. A signet ring with the initials "L. I." led to the identification. One hand still clutched a piece of cambic, probably from the clothing of his wife, whom he was making desperate efforts to save when they were last seen alive.

A BLOODY ANCHOR

Montreal, June 1.—The sharp point of an anchor, projecting from the twisted bow of the St. Storstad, may explain why that vessel did such terrible execution when she rammed the Empress of Ireland. An examination today of the collier's shattered plates revealed the anchor jammed in a position where it could have tipped through the hull of the Empress like a great can opener. The anchor and portions of the battered steel surrounding it bore stains of blood.

TO MAKE INQUIRY

Into the Responsibility For Last Marine Disaster

Montreal, June 1.—Now that the first burst of excitement and grief over the sinking of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Ireland has partially spent itself, the public generally is settling down to await the result of the governmental inquiry to fix the responsibility for the disaster that resulted in the loss of nearly a thousand lives. A royal commission of three was appointed today to investigate, beginning June 9th, the ramming and sending to the bottom of the St. Lawrence river early Friday morning of the Empress of Ireland by the collier Storstad.

Pending the convening of the commission of inquiry, Captain Lindsay, dominion wreck commissioner, will continue the preliminary investigation begun today by taking testimony and assembling evidence for the commissioners. The owners of the Storstad will offer a bond of $240,000 and ask that the collier be released from arrest. The $240,000 which is based on the tonnage of the collier, represents, according to the contention of counsel, the maximum liability of the Storstad for the damage accruing to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

TAFT'S PLAN UPSE T

Had Endeavored to Preserve Oil Lands For the Navy.

(By Associated Press.) Los Angeles, Cal., June 1.—A withdrawal order by William H. Taft in 1909 while president, exempted from entry government lands in California variously estimated in value at from $250,000,000 to $1,000,000,000, was declared invalid in a decision by Judge Maurice T. Dooling of the United States district court at San Francisco. The former president had planned to provide a great source of fuel for the American navy by exempting the oil land from entry by private locators. The decision gives the Midway Oil company and the Standard Oil company, principal defendants, undisputed possession. Similar actions now pending will be affected by the decision.

Historic Edifice Razed in Name of "Liberty" By English Suffragettes

Hertley England, June 1.—Suffragettes today burned the historic parish church of St. Mary's, Wargrave, three miles from here, on the Thames. All that remains of the structure, which was built in 1538, is a portion of the tower and the scorched walls. Just inside the ruins firemen found a hammer and a heap of suffragette literature with a placard: "Stop persecuting women."

The only property saved was an ancient register and a few church ornaments. These were rescued by the vicar, the Rev. Basil S. Batty, who rushed through the flames to get them.

The church contained many priceless treasures, including some bells four centuries old which melted in the flames.
