FIRST POLO GAME IN THE SERIES TODAY

British Challengers and Americans Line Up For Fight—Odds On Defenders

(By Associated Press) New York, June 12.—With England in the role of challenger and the United States as defender, the first international trophy contest of 1914 will be staged at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, Long Island, tomorrow, when representative polo teams of the two nations meet in the initial struggle for the silver cup emblematic of world supremacy in this sport.

Although betting odds favor the Americans, 7 to 5, this is due principally to injuries and subsequent delays experienced by the English team. Had the first game been played last Tuesday as scheduled the two teams would have taken the field virtually on even terms so far as wagering was concerned.

Lord Wimborne, has intimated that the challengers will start tomorrow's game confident of giving the American four a hard contest. The English ponies, it is said, are beginning to feel the effect of the recent hot spell. Several have developed tendon strains and bone bruises. American players and ponies are on edge and although the 1914 four is considered as strong as that of last year, it is thought that the two Waterburys, Lawrence and J. M. Devereux, Milburn and Rene La Monte will be able to match or possibly outrank the English team in either offensive or defensive play. This margin of safety or superiority is conceded to be slight.

A record sale of seats, assures an attendance of fully 40,000 spectators. The leading hotels of both this city and Long Island were filled tonight with polo enthusiasts, many of whom have come from distant parts of the country. Seats are at a premium and ticket speculators are offering big bonuses for desirable sections.

Wagering is not overbooked. The odds generally quoted are 7 to 5 on the American four to win the series of two games out of three with 10 to 8 quoted on an American victory tomorrow. Many small wagers were being made tonight at 5 to 3.

The teams as they will take the field tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock are as follows: England: No. 1, Captain H. A. Tomkinson; No. 2, Captain L. S. G. Cheape; No. 3, Major F. W. Darrett; Back, Captain Vivian Lockett.

America: Rene La Monte, J. M. Devereux, Milburn and Lawrence. Substitutes, England: Lord Wimborne; John A. Thrall, American; C. C. Rumsey, Malcolm Stevenson, H. C. Phipps.

revolutionists continued fighting and ammunition for General Villa to be used in the campaign against San Luis Potosi had been unloaded from the steamer Anilla at Tampico and was en route to Torreon by rail.

Some constitutionalist leaders asserted they looked for only one more important battle, that at San Luis Potosi. Even that, they believed, would not compare in ferocity with Torreon, Tampico or Saltillo.

With regard to ammunition being shipped from the United States, President Wilson made the position of this government clear in an executive order directing that no vessels be cleared from American ports for Mexico and also that the embargo at border points be enforced strictly.

It was pointed out in this connection however, in several sources, that ammunition might reach Mexico through submarine vessels clearing for Havana or other foreign ports and then re-clearing for Mexican ports. The United States could interfere with such shipments.

REPEAL NEEDS NAME OF PRESIDENT WILSON

HOUSE ACCEPTED SENATE AMENDMENT VOTE WAS 216 TO 71

Signature of Wilson Will Make Exemption From Canal Tolls Historical (By Associated Press)

Washington, June 12.—Only President Wilson's signature is necessary to repeal the clause of the Panama canal exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls.

The long and bitter fight in congress came to an end today when the House, after debate and without the formality of a conference, accepted by a vote of 216 to 71 the senate amendment specifically reserving all rights of the United States may have under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty or otherwise.

The president is expected to sign the measure Monday. Three months ago he addressed the house and senate in joint session, urgently asking for repeal of the exemption clause that the nation might keep its treaty obligations.

Speaker Clark was out of the city today, but he and Vice President Marshall will attach their signatures tomorrow and send the bill to the White House.

Before ending the contest by concurring in the senate amendment, the house voted down 171 to 108, a proposal advanced by Representative Moss, of West Virginia, to attach to the repeal a flat declaration of the right of the United States to exempt its vessels from tolls and of the sovereignty of the United States over the canal zone.

There were flashes of heat today in the debate which characterized the original consideration of the measure. Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader, although voting for the senate amendment, said that congress should never have made this "un-American surrender" and called the amendment "ineffective and negative."

Republican Leader Mann, who had vigorously opposed repeal, supported the amendment, declaring it left the entire question of the rights of this country to be determined in the future.

Representative Glass, of Virginia, attacked the Democratic leaders who opposed the measure. He denounced the "outrageous assaults made on the pressed indignation" at the leaders of the democratic side who have asserted their own colleagues because they would not follow them into the camp of the republican party in advocacy of a republican doctrine.

"Mr. Speaker," he added, "I think you will search the record of this country to find such a spectacle as we have found here in this congress—the leaders of the democratic party deserting their party and standing shoulder to shoulder with republican leaders against a democratic president."

Twenty democratic members voted against the motion to concur in the senate amendment. They were: Brockson, Broussard, Cobry, Delrick, Donohue, Driscoll, Dupre, Establin, Fitzgerald, Callvan, Harris, Kitchen, Lee, of Pennsylvania; Mitchell, O'Leary, O'Shaughnessy, Patton, of New York; and Kelly, of Connecticut.

Thirty seven republicans three progressives joined the democrats in support of the motion they were: Republicans: Bartholdi, Barton, Britton, Burke, of South Dakota; Butler, Davis, Dillon, Eash, Frear, Gardner, Gillett, Good, Green, of Iowa; Greene of Vermont; Hamilton, of Michigan; Hamilton, of New York; Haughey, Heigens, Humphrey, of Washington; Johnson, of Washington; Kinkaid, of Nebraska; LaFollette, Lenroot, McKenzie, Madden, Mahn, Morgan, of Oklahoma; Nelson, Platt, Plumley, Prouty, Slomp, S. W. Smith, of Michigan; Steenerson, Stevens, of Minnesota; Sutherland and Volstead.

Progressives: Lindbergh, Ripley and Thompson, of Illinois, voted for the motion.

Financial and Commercial

Stocks and Bonds

New York, June 12.—Speculative conditions today favored the long side of the stock market. Operations were on the same restricted scale as heretofore, but in spite of the slackness of demand the market moved upward. Quiet strength was apparent in almost every quarter. A few shares such as the Harrimans, Steel and Canadian Pacific moved up a point or more. The average change, however, was small and even the moderate gains at the day's high prices were cut down when the list eased off in the closing hour.

Exchange rates continued to rise. Demand sterling made another high record since 1907 at 4.89 1/2. Money rates held firm with higher quotations for long time loans.

In the bond market there was unusual activity in several issues, which commonly do not figure extensively in the dealings, such as Lake Shore debentures and St. Louis and San Francisco refunding 4s. Prices in the main were well sustained.

Total sales, par value $2,597,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

New York Cotton

New York, June 12.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled today and fluctuations were irregular. Quite a sharp early break was followed by an even sharper reply, but the market weakened again in the late trading when the confidence of recent buyers seemed to be shaken by reports of bank failures in Chicago and private wires reporting rains at two or three points in Alabama. The close was steady, but nearly the lowest point of the day and 5 to 11 points under the final figures of Thursday.

Disappointing Liverpool cables and liquidation of July contracts by Wall Street and Western interests appeared to have opened at a loss of 1 to 2 points and old crop about 1/2. Bull points net lower during the early trading. The weakness of 2 1/2 July seemed to promote some speculative liquidation of new crop lot series and the late months sold about 7 to 8 points net lower. A few July stop orders were executed on the break, but the contracts were taken at a premium over August, and as soon as the July selling became less active, the general list rallied.

Cotton futures closed steady:

Table with columns: July, August, October, December, January, March. Rows: Open, Close.

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, June 12.—The price of cotton was fairly upheld during today's morning session but liquidation of long contracts under showers in the Atlantic States was against values. In the afternoon the close was at the lowest of the day, a net loss of 3 to 5 points. In the early trading crop accounts were unfavorable and the weather reports indicated no change in the drouthy conditions which the bulls considered have resulted in much crop damage east of the Mississippi river. Prices were at their best around noon when the trading months were 8 to 11 points over yesterday's last figures.

High temperatures in important portions of the belt caused much bullish comment and stimulated buying for both accounts. Bull weevil reports from Alabama were also a feature of the day's news.

Cotton futures closed steady: July 1914; October 1914; December 1914; January 1915; March 1915. Sales on the spot 22,000 bales.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, June 12.—Cotton seed oil was firm early on covering of shorts, but eased off later in the session under selling of August and September for long account induced by the break in cotton and easier tone to lard. Final prices were two points higher to 3 points lower. Sales 12,000 bales.

Weekly Cotton

New York, June 12.—The cotton market has been less active during the past week and fluctuations have been irregular, but since the reaction of 50 to 55 points from the recent high, prices have worked higher on increased demand, renewed bull support and covering. December contracts sold at 12.98 today or about 35 points above the low level reached on the break of last Monday and within 12 points of the high record for the season. Improving weather and crop accounts from the Western belt have encouraged selling, but there has been little or no indication of Southern offerings here against prospective crops, and as the scattering buying interest accumulated last month had been materially reduced on the break of the previous week, there was not much pressure against the market. At any rate, contracts were readily absorbed and toward the end of the week the trade showed increasing nervousness over new crop prospects east of the river, owing to continued dry weather in most sections and reports of the extremely high temperatures in the West. Immediately prevailing crop conditions, bullish disposed operators continue to emphasize the unfavorable start as reflected in the falling condition figures, and some think there has been as much buying on the fear of unfavorably weather in the season and a generally bullish view of requirements, as on any particular item in the week's news.

In some sections there is a disposition to compare eastern prospects with the bumper crop year of 1913. In May and June weather conditions to date have been somewhat similar, but the recent government report showed a very much less favorable start in the Eastern belt States than at the corresponding period three years ago. Unfavorable private reports from this section have been numerous, while there have also been some reports of acreage abandoned or heat damage to a sappy plant west of the river.

Dun's Review

New York, June 12.—Dun's review will say tomorrow: "Official promises of another prosperous year on the farms tends to strengthen confidence in the general business outlook. The government report this week made a splendid exhibit and in the 'case' of wheat abundance was given of the 'great yield' that the country has ever had. With the increased wealth derived from the soil, the purchasing power of the agricultural community will be enhanced. An enlarged railroad freight traffic is indicated by the 'total harvest' and since funds here are abundant, supply no difficulty should be experienced in financing the marketing of crops.

"In regard to the monetary situation much significance has been attached to recent developments, gold is being withdrawn from this country in substantial volumes without exerting any material effect upon rates for accommodation.

"Absence of uniformity continues to characterize trade advice, but considered in a broad sense, favorable reports predominate.

"Failures this week are 294 against 259 last year; failures in Canada 33 against 39 last year."
