NEAR DEATH BY SMOTHERING

But Husband, With Aid of Cardui, Effects Her Deliverance.

Draper, N. C.—Mrs. Helen Dalton, of this place, says: "I suffered for years with pains in my left side, and would often almost smother to death."

Medicines patched me up for a while but then I would get worse again. Finally, my husband decided he wanted me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, so he bought me a bottle and I began using it. It did me more good than all the medicines I had taken.

I have induced many of my friends to try Cardui, and they all say they have been benefited by its use. There never has been, and never will be, a medicine to compare with Cardui. I believe it is a good medicine for all womanly troubles.

For over 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings and building weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a fair trial. It should surely help you, as it has a million others.

Get a bottle of Cardui to-day.

BENNETT FIXED PLANS OF DEATH FOR HIS FAMILY

Concealed Body and Lured His Mother-in-Law to Spot—Triple Crime

Atlanta, Ga., July 3.—Three victims of murder and suicide were found in a wooded and unfrequented locality near here today. The dead were S. F. Bennett, a carpenter about thirty years old, Mrs. Flossie Bennett, his 17 year old wife, and Mrs. Mattie Tolbert, 49 years old, the dead man's mother-in-law.

Notes found in Bennett's clothing and investigation by the police and coroner indicated he had forced his wife to drink poison and then strangled and clubbed her to death, then lured the dead girl's mother to the scene and killed her with a shot gun after showing her the body of her daughter, and finally shot and killed himself. One of Bennett's notes said his wife had taken poison, but the authorities do not credit it.

Wednesday afternoon Bennett took a walk with his young wife to the wooded section where the bodies were found. He later returned here alone and yesterday induced his mother-in-law to accompany him to the locality, saying he wished her to identify some clothing a negro laundry woman had refused to return to his wife. His notes indicated that after killing her he spent last night at the scene of death and then shot himself early today. A single barreled shot gun was found tied to a stump near his body. One of Bennett's notes addressed to Samuel Tolbert, his brother-in-law, said that the triple tragedy was the result of interference in Bennett's family life by his mother-in-law and others. The couple had been separated several times since their marriage about a year ago. It was Bennett's second marriage.

OCONEE NEWS. From the Keowee Courier. Court will convene in Walhalla next Monday morning.

James Driscoll, who for a number of years lived in the Dugan place on the summit of Stump House mountain, died last Sunday and was buried in the Stump House mountain burying ground.

Recent fire alarms have produced sensations here. On the occasion of one, Harry E. Hughes, jumped into his automobile and headed for the engine house, where an entrance was forced, a number of tools and the chemical engine moved out of the way and with other assistance of others, hitched his car to the old fire engine and yanked it down town faster than it had ever made a trip before. The old "water wagon" worked like a charm, too, giving a splendid stream from a main street cistern that had the fire out in short order. The roof of the house was almost destroyed over the kitchen, but otherwise slight damage was done. The automobile turned the trick that saved the building and possibly others.

Master Frank Sloan, young son of Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Sloan, had the misfortune to fall and break his collar bone last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hughes left this morning for Charleston where they will spend a week or ten days with relatives and friends. A part of their visit will be spent also with relatives at Mount Pleasant and Sullivan's Island. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. West of Columbia, arrived in Walhalla Sunday afternoon about 7 o'clock having come up from the Capital City in their hand-luggage touring car in 12 hours, including stops. They left Columbia at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Porcher are visiting at the home of I. H. Harrison and will be here among relatives and friends for a week.

Miss Sallie Goodman of Staunton, Va., who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shelor, had the misfortune last Friday to fall from a doorway into the yard, badly dislocating her shoulder. When the alarm of fire was given from premises not far distant, Miss Goodman hurried to the door, and it was then that she fell. She is quite an aged lady and this fact adds to the seriousness of her injury. She is, however, doing well, and we trust will soon recover from the effects of the fall.

Holcombe of Atlanta, Ga., and three brothers and two sisters, J. T. Bowen and Miss Texie Bowen of this county; Mrs. L. N. Brery of Richland, S. C., and two brothers in Arkansas. Mrs. Holcombe has resided on her farm, five miles east of the city after the death of her husband some fifteen or twenty years ago until last November, she and her three single daughters moved to the city of Greenville. Her late husband, Col. R. E. Holcombe, was quite a prominent citizen of this county. He was the founder and the first inhabitant of the town, now the city of Easley. He built and conducted the first store in the town from 1873 to 1878, and was prominently connected with the business interests of the town for a number of years. Mrs. Holcombe was a lady of many excellent traits of character and was admired by a wide circle of friends.

James Scittle, of the governor's staff that precipitated the first confusion. When first whiff of the gathering storm had blown over another gust swept the speaker when he began to flay the governor for the part he had in the trial of Dr. Leokora B. Saunders. It was only by skillful tactics, and by stinging replies, and with the assistance of the anti-Bleese forces that the speaker was able to resist the onslaughts and to fairly beat his antagonists at the game.

Candidate for the Senate Couldn't Be Howled Down

Gaffney, July 3.—Today for the first time since the senatorial campaign opened there was a concerted and well directed effort to howl down one of the speakers. The candidate was Mr. W. P. Pollock. It was the placing of the non-enforcement of law in Charleston directly at the door of the governor's office and the asking the members of the audience if they wished to be lined up with V. Chicco the king of blindtigers of market street and with

EASLEY ITEMS.

From the Progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Platte, of Oakland, California, are visiting relatives in the city at present. Mrs. Platte has been away from South Carolina for sixteen years, having resided in California a number of years and spent thirteen years traveling in New Zealand, South Sea Islands, Australia, and many other places of note and interest in the tropics. It is needless to say that they have seen much picturesque and beautiful scenery. Mrs. Platte was very happily received by the members of her family in this section consisting of a sister, Mrs. Smith, and the following brothers: R. B. Jones of Easley, Mannie, Berry and Add Jones of Anderson county and Rich Jones of Piedmont.

Little Misses Gladys and Jessie Ragsdale are visiting friends in Anderson this week. Claude Wyatt of the United States navy, is at his father's home in Easley at present on a short furlough. Joseph E. Leach, Esq., announced this week for the legislature. Mr. Leach is a rising young lawyer of this city and if he should be "unfortunate" enough to be elected, we believe he will make equally as good a lawmaker as he is an advocate at the bar.

Of interest to many in Easley is the announcement of the marriage of Postmaster Arthur G. King of this city and Miss Sallie Thompson. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents near Pendleton on August 5th.
