HEATED SQUABBLE OVER PUBLICITY

The Testimony of T. D. Jones Was Bone of Contention for Five Hours

MY PRAYER

(Coraline Reynolds in Los Angeles Graphic.) Let me be true enough to meet each honest eye

And if my neighbor does those things I think are ill, Let me not judge! Who knows what tangled taunting skein Fate may have woven to have meshed his heart in pain—

IT COULDN'T BE DONE Somebody said it couldn't be done. But he with a chuckle replied: That "maybe couldn't," but he would be one

Who wouldn't say till he'd tried. So he buckled right in, with a trace of a grin

On his face. If he worried he worried it. He started to sing as he tackled the thing

That couldn't be done—and he did it. Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that—"

At least no one ever has done it! But he took off his coat and he took off his hat

And the first thing we knew he'd begun it. With a lift of his chin and a bit of a grin

Without any doubting or quailing. He started to sing as he tackled the thing

That couldn't be done—and he did it. There are thousands who will tell you it can't be done

There are thousands who prophesy failure; There are thousands to point out to you, one by one,

The dangers that await to assail you. But just buckle in with a bit of a grin

Then take off your coat and go to it. Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing

That "cannot be done"—and you'll do it. —Edgar A. Guest.
