TO SUFFERERS HAIL STORMS

RELIEF MAY BE GIVEN BY THE GENEROSITY OF THE PEOPLE PROCLAMATIONS

Governor Blease, Senator Smith and Congressmen Trying To Do Something

The hail has been worse in some counties than in Anderson. In some sections of Anderson it has been severe and has ruined growing crops that would have produced thousands of dollars. Senator Smith, some of the congressmen and Gov. Blease have already taken steps to assist the good people in other counties who have suffered such heavy loss. The people of Anderson are not beggars and it may not be that they will require any assistance, but we direct the attention of our officials to the heavy losses in this county last week, especially in the Mt. Tabor section, west of the city; in the McCarty section six miles south of the city and on the L. D. Harris place, between Anderson and Williamston. Some of the crops may yet make a portion.

In York county the hail was so severe that 11 beef cattle were killed on one farm and gullies 10 feet deep were filled with hail stones. A dispatch from Columbia yesterday says:

In Hall District. O. K. LaRouge, secretary of a hail insurance company of Marion, was in Columbia yesterday, en route to the hail stricken district in the upper part of the State. Mr. LaRouge says his company carries only a small amount of insurance in the section covered by the disastrous hailstorm of July 6, and his trip is not for the purpose of adjusting any losses but to make a close investigation and full report for his company and at the same time advise with the farmers and planters who have sustained losses, offering suggestions as to the advisability of planting the lands in some other crop or cultivating what is left of the crop damaged. Mr. LaRouge has had nine years experience in adjusting losses of this kind, and feels that he can be of some service to the people in the district covered by this disastrous storm. He expects to be in Rock Hill Tuesday, Gaffney Wednesday and Laurens Friday. Senator Smith has visited the hail stricken section of Laurens and Congressman Finley has introduced a bill to assist the people of York who suffered such heavy loss. Governor Blease has shown his earnest interest in the matter by issuing yesterday two proclamations, one for York and one for Laurens, appointing committees to receive and to disburse contributions.

The proclamation states: "Whereas a severe storm of wind, rain and hail devastated within the past several days, a large section of the county of York, doing great damage to crops, and in many instances wiping crops out of existence completely, leaving many farms strecken and many people destitute without food and without means to help themselves; and

"Whereas, these people are unable at this late day, to replant their crops, and are without means to do so, even if it were possible, and they are now sorely in need of help; "NOW, THEREFORE, I, COLE L. BLEASE, Governor of the State of South Carolina, do hereby ask and request all citizens of our State, who are able and willing to do so, to contribute according to their means, to assist these people in this their time of need and great distress, and do request that contributions be sent to any of the following gentlemen:

CANDIDATES SPEAK ON PUBLIC SQUARE

MEETING WILL BE OPENED PROMPTLY AT 10

GOVERNOR IS FIRST

All of the Candidates Arrived in The City Last Night and Rest for Occasion

The candidates for the United States senate will speak in Anderson today commencing at 10 o'clock. The meeting will be held under the two beautiful willow oaks just in the rear of the court house. S. Dean Pearson, chairman of the county democratic executive committee, will preside. Each speaker will be allowed 45 minutes. The first speaker will be Governor Blease. Alphabetically the order will then be Senator Smith, Mr. Jennings and Mr. Pollock.

The party came from Abbeville yesterday where the meeting was well attended. Senator Smith spent the night with J. S. Fowler, who aided him in his campaign six years ago. Governor Blease and party came by night. He was introduced by Sheriff Ashley. Mr. Dominick also made a speech there and took well with the crowd. It is said that something like 700 voters and a number of ladies composed the audience.

The other candidates are visiting Anderson for the first time. Mr. Pollock is a resident of Chesterfield county. He has practiced law at Cheraw for 25 years. He represented his county in the general assembly several times. Ran for congress two years ago against D. E. Finley, who has been unentitled, and has made quite a reputation for himself as a stump speaker in this campaign. Lang D. Jennings is a native of Sumter county, and is now the mayor of that city under a commission form of government. He set out in this campaign to defend the new rules governing the democratic primary and is said to be a very effective speaker. The rain of last night is expected to make farm work impossible today, and a large crowd is expected. It was stated yesterday that Senator Smith's friends in the county were preparing some kind of demonstration complimentary to him.

Governor Blease also is among his friends today as this county has always given him strong support.

TOWNVILLE TRUCK IS DOING THE WORK

HAULS MERCHANDISE THERE FROM STORES HERE

HAS A GOOD START

This Is the Kind of Service That Anderson Needs To Clemson College

For months The Intelligencer has been hailing on the desirability of a truck line from here to Clemson College to haul parcels of merchandise. Such a truck line has been inaugurated between Townville and Anderson, and its future will be watched with interest. The following has been given out by the chamber of commerce relative to the Townville line. The initial trip of the Anderson-Townville auto freight and passenger service was made this morning when the large Reo truck, with a capacity of 1,000 pounds, with Mr. J. E. Carnea at the wheel, left Townville at 8 o'clock, arriving in the city of Anderson shortly before 10 o'clock. The first trip over the route was made "light," the return trip to Townville was anything but light. The merchants and manufacturers and farmers of the Townville section gave the owners and proprietors, Whitworth and Carnea, bills for what they wanted brought back, and when the truck departed on its return trip it was loaded down with lumber, sugar, tobacco, and in fact all sorts of groceries; heavy and light, etc. The truck carried "tonnage" all right and the proprietors expressed themselves as being well pleased with the first day's results. We asked where they got the idea to establish this auto service, and they replied that a similar service was inaugurated between Carneysville and Landonia, in Georgia, some time ago, and it has worked out a satisfactory and paying investment. The distance between the two Georgia towns is only 10 miles, while the distance between Townville and Anderson is approximately 18 miles. The Georgia service consists of three or four round trips a day. The proprietors of the Anderson county service stated today that they plan to make two round trips a day between Anderson and Townville. They have equipped their truck, with seats for passengers and a nice top has been secured, which will make the ride between these points very pleasant. "We go just fast enough to have a nice breeze," declared Mr. Carnea. "I did not change my gear from high on the trip. The roads are not as good as they should be, but we managed to make the trip in an hour and three quarters. Loaded, we will make the trip in about two hours. "It is our intention to leave Townville at 8 o'clock in the morning and arrive at Anderson about 10 o'clock every day," said Mr. Whitworth. "We should get our load together by noon and our schedule, which we will adopt as soon as we get straightened out, will probably read for us to leave at 12 o'clock. We will make another trip in the afternoon." The rate for freight between Anderson and Townville is 15 cents per 100 pounds, while the passenger rate is 50 cents, the round trip being $1. The truck will have its capacity of 30 to 40 passengers in the morning, for reservations have been made already by that many who want to come here for the senatorial campaign speaking.

The proprietors expect to make side trips on Sundays and other holidays. Last Sunday the truck carried 26 passengers from Landonia to Tallulah Falls. Secretary Whaley of the chamber of commerce stated yesterday that the proprietors of the truck should be given every encouragement. He hopes that it will be only a short while before a similar service is inaugurated between Anderson and the Highlands and between Anderson and other points.

HIDING PLACE OF $54,000 UNKNOWN

Woman Held By Police Refuses To Tell Where Money is Hid

New Orleans, La., July 14.—Mrs. Charles C. Craven, who the police say admits she has hidden $54,000 in cash and jewelry, alleged to have been obtained by her late husband in several robberies, was arrested here today as a suspicious character. Her husband, Charles Craven, was killed in a clash with a railroad detective near Wildwood, Fla., five months ago. The detective was trying to force Craven for riding on a freight train.

According to representatives of a detective agency who sided in the arrest of the 20 year old widow, they had watched her movements in Atlanta for several days, hoping she would reveal the hiding place of the money and jewelry she is supposed to have buried. She buried this near Savannah, Ga. the police today, she told them. She is held simply as being a suspicious character and she refuses to say where she has hidden the money. Even in face of her alleged admissions the police are at a loss to know on what charge she might be permanently held.

Secretary Whaley of the chamber of commerce stated yesterday that the proprietors of the truck should be given every encouragement. He hopes that it will be only a short while before a similar service is inaugurated between Anderson and the Highlands and between Anderson and other points.
