The Weather.

Washington, July 16.—Forecast: South Carolina: Local thunder-showers Friday and probably Saturday.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Happy the man that, when his day is done, lies down to sleep with nothing of regret. The battle he has fought may not be won. The fame he sought be just as fleeting yet; Folding at last his hands upon his Happy he is, if hoary and fore-spent, breast. He sinks into the last, eternal rest. Breathing only these words: "I am content."

ENROLLMENT IS NECESSARY

Enrollment books close Tuesday, July 28. White democrats 21 years of age (or those who will reach that age before the succeeding general election), who have been residents of the State for two years and of the county for six months prior to the succeeding general election and of the club district 60 days prior to the first primary following their offer to enroll are entitled to enroll in the book of their club district to vote in the primary election, provided they are citizens of the United States and of South Carolina.

Democrats who wish to enroll in order to vote in the primary elections must present themselves in person before the secretary of the club or before the person having custody of the book of the club district in which they reside. They must sign the roll, giving their full name, age, occupation and place of residence.

In case the applicant for enrollment is unable to write, he must make his mark on the book of the club district in which he resides, and the person having custody of the book will put his name on the club roll.

BEEF CATTLE GETTING SCARCE.

In driving through the high tablelands just beyond Walhalla a few days ago, the thought occurred to us that here is the place where beef cattle could be raised in number sufficient to make the South rich. And there are in Anderson county thousands of acres which yield but an indifferent profit on cotton that could be made to produce great wealth if given over to cattle ranges. Bermuda grass grows in a flourishing manner here, and saving the soil from erosion. By using the native grasses many barren hillside could be converted into rich pasturage, and in the spots where the soil is richer alfalfa and grain could be produced.

Something must be done or the world in a few years may go meat hungry. Witness the rise in prices in the last few years. There is nowhere a greater opportunity than in the South. A dispatch from New York says that the rise in the price of meat, particularly beef, is due to a nation-wide scarcity of cattle, according to persons in New York who have a special acquaintance with the problem.

"I haven't the figures available," said Dr. Townsend of the New York staff of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry in a recent interview when asked how the number of cattle on the hoof now in the United States compared with the number a year ago. "Those figures are kept on permanent file only in the Department of Agriculture in Washington, but it is my impression that a comparison would show a marked falling off."

"Of course we look first of all to the law of supply and demand to govern prices, and although that law is sometimes complicated and obscured by various circumstances, it still rules in the main aspect of things."

"In part the shortage of beef cattle is due to the steady progress of years, which is increasing the population of the West and transforming the open cattle ranges to small ranches or irrigated farms. The farmer who runs only a small bunch of cattle can't market them as cheaply as the old-time cattle king who had the range of half a State.

"The high price of corn in the last few years has had something to do with it. You must remember that, it takes a year or more to produce a beef animal, we are only feeling now, in the local meat markets, the result of the conditions that prevailed a year or so ago, and had their effect on the production of calves."

"Last summer the general drouth throughout the West cost the lives of a great many calves which otherwise would have grown up to help supply the hungry mouths of New Yorkers this summer. All these things have had their effects."

THE CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

The state campaign has reached the half way point, and the people of the state will heave a sigh of relief when a month hence they read the news that the campaign has ended. Believe us, it is getting "mighty tiresome."

In the senatorial race there seems to be but one proposition. Has Senator Smith served his people well enough to deserve to be returned?

If he has made good, the answer is simple. If he has not made good and deserves defeat, then the question is—Who is the logical man?

If governor Hines has made a good governor, it appears that he is the logical man. The election depends upon those two propositions, it would seem. His three opponents are naturally trying to prove that Senator Smith is not the man. As to that, we will not at this time offer any advice. The people heard the addresses and can judge a man, as the newspaper editor can.

There is but one thing to be done—vote for the best man for the job.

"BOYNE WATER"

The outbreak that was expected in Belfast Monday is a recurrence of the troubles that always come on July 12th, Orangemen's day. Sunday was the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. On the Boyne and the Shannon, two beautiful Irish streams, great battles were fought between the Catholics and the Protestants. Three miles west of Drogheda on the 12th of July, 1690, William of Orange, with 40,000 men met and vanquished James II with 26,000 men. William, the Protestant, thus ended the reign of the Stuarts, as James fled to France.

The significance of the battle was celebrated in a doggerel "Boyne Water" the tune of which has continued, especially on the anniversary of the event, to inspire Orangemen and to irritate militant Catholics. Belfast is in the protestant section of Ireland and Orangemen's day celebration is always accompanied with more or less bloodshed as the singing of "Boyne Water" is the signal for the use of shillalah and black thorn and cranlums are cracked.

Feeling just at this time is running particularly high because the Belfast people or Protestant Irish, descendants of the Ulster Scots, do not desire "home rule," preferring to be under a crown than under a Catholic Ireland.

TO GRAIN FESTIVAL.

We again call the attention to the "First Annual Grain Festival" to be given in the city next Tuesday in connection with the regular trades day program.

This is no new proposition, but was planned last fall before the seed were planted and generous announcement was made at the time. All farmers in the 3rd congressional district were invited to contest for the prizes.

Not less than one bushel of oats must be submitted for inspection by the judges. There may be many who have not prepared to enter this contest. To all such we would suggest that they come to Anderson anyway. They will become interested in the system of grading the oats and in awarding the prizes and the visit will prepare them to enter the contest next year.

Congressman Lever, Prof. W. W. Long of Clemson and Col. E. J. Watson will be among the speakers. J. S. Fowler will preside over the exercises, so this part of the day will also be very interesting.

Mr. Lever will explain the bill he recently got through congress to provide for agricultural extension schools. Hoke Smith of Georgia fathered the bill in the senate. This is an entirely different bill from the one by Senator E. D. Smith to regulate the cotton exchanges, and the two bills are sometimes confused as Mr. Lever was interested in both when they got to the house.

The following prizes in cash will be awarded: Given by Furman Smith, wholesale seedsman, Anderson.

- 1. First best bushel of oats, $100.00 2. Second best bushel of oats, $50.00 3. Third best bushel of oats, $40.00 4. Fourth best bushel of oats, $30.00 5. Fifth best bushel of oats, $20.00 6. Sixth best bushel of oats, $10.00

- 7. Best bushel of oats from Anderson county, $25.00. Given by the Anderson Chero-Cola 8. First best peck of wheat, $3.00 9. Second best peck of wheat, $1.50 10. Third best peck of wheat $1.00 11. First best peck of rye, $2.00 12. Second best peck of rye, $1.00

Horse racing in this state has at least been progressive—45 days the first year; 100 days the second year.

THIS IS A GREAT COUNTY.

There are 17 Traction Engines on Anderson Farms.

W. H. Gwinn, representing the International Harvester Company, was in the city last night and stated that he had seen a published statement from Commissioner Watson that there are 21 tractor engines in use on the farms of the state and that 11 of them are in Anderson. Mr. Gwinn states that there are 17 in this county; for he knows them, each, individually and generally, and he thinks that Anderson is the greatest agricultural county in the state.

DEATH OF MRS. HUTTO

Occurred at Spartanburg Wednesday Morning.

Spartanburg, July 16.—Mrs. W. D. Hutto died at her home on North Church street Monday at 11 o'clock. She had been in failing health for several months, had been seriously ill about two weeks, and her death was not unexpected. The end came very peacefully. Mrs. Hutto was 51 years of age.

Mrs. Hutto was Miss Dora Anderson, daughter of the late Major George W. Anderson of Williamston and was married to Dr. Hutto in 1883, and lived in Williamston until the family moved to Spartanburg eight years ago. Her death will carry sadness to many friends in her old home at Williamston, as well as to the large circle of friends she had made during her residence in this city. Her gentle ways and unselfish disposition made her a favorite in every circle in which she moved. Her beautiful life was devoted to the varied duties that grew out of the relations in which she was placed. She was a member of Central Methodist church of this city, and had been devoted to her church from childhood. She was active in church work as long as her health permitted. But it was as a mother that her devotion shone with peculiar lustre. In addition to her sons, Harry, Edwin, William, George, husband, she leaves a family of six Raymond and Robert, two daughters, Dorothy and Virginia, the little girls being only six and nine years of age. The funeral service was conducted by Dr. R. E. Stackhouse from the residence on North Church street at 2:45 Thursday, and the body will be taken to Williamston for interment.

TRIP WAS APPRECIATED

Walhalla People Express Their Feeling.

That the trip to Walhalla accomplished much is shown by a letter that has been received by Porter A. Whaley, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The Walhalla folks are greatly pleased with the new service that has been inaugurated, and are pleased with the feeling that now exists between that town and Anderson.

Following is the letter that came to the chamber of commerce Thursday:

Walhalla, S. C., July 15, 1914. Mr Porter A. Whaley, Sec. Chamber of Commerce, Anderson, S. C.

Dear Mr. Whaley:— Yours of the 14th inst. received and noted.

I beg to express appreciation on behalf of the people of Walhalla, and of myself personally, of the resolutions passed by your chamber of commerce.

We trust that more good may result from this day's meeting and mingling together of the people of the two counties together with our friends from Highlands and Cashiers. It would be well if we had more occasions of this kind, for it would contribute to the unity of spirit which would mean the accomplishment of greater and better things for both communities. I feel that we are still in the days of small things and that the future has in store greater things for this section.

With personal regards, I beg to remain, Yours very truly, R. T. Jaynes.

MR. HIOTT AT NEW PROSPECT

Will Succeed Rev. O. L. Orr as Pastor of Church.

The congregation of New Prospect church five miles west of this city, announced the acceptance of the call extended to the Rev. D. W. Hiott. Mr. Hiott has several charges in the county, and is one of the best known Baptist ministers of the upper part of the state. It is announced that the Rev. J. T. Mann will conduct services at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m., next Sunday at New Prospect church and again at 11 o'clock Monday morning. At the conclusion of the Monday morning service Mr. Hiott will take charge of the revival meeting, which will be continued for several days. The Rev. Mr. Hiott is well known and has many friends in the city of Anderson who will learn with pleasure that he is coming nearer the city. His work during the recent past has been principally in the northern section of the county.

ATTENTION DEMOCRATS

Have you placed your name on the club roll? If not you cannot vote in the coming primary election. You have only until July 28th to enroll, so if you have not already done so, go to your club secretary and sign your name. Do it now, for you owe that much to your country. If you fail to enroll let no man rise up to criticize the rules, for if you are disfranchised you are disfranchised your self. It is the desire of the executive committee that every citizen of Anderson county enroll, and if you have not done so, do it now lest you forget.

Travel Is Good And Success Seems Assured.

Capt. W. "Jule" Anderson stated last night that the gas-electric train is doing a fine business. Last Sunday there were 299 passengers. The travel is not so heavy on week days, but every train carries a number of passengers and the success of the new service seems assured.

After the reading of the reports on the W. M. U. Training School, the Y. M. A.'s of Homea Path gave in the form of a play "The Beginning of a New Session at the Training School." This was indeed very real, and I feel brought a greater love for our work there.

Dr. Kinard, President of Anderson College, spoke in the interest of the college, and urged that we strive to make it a high standard institution.

One of the most impressive and enjoyable features of the day was a Demonstration by the local Sunbeams. State Mission was presented by Rev. J. Dean Crane, representative of State and Home Missions.

Thursday Afternoon.

The last part of a meeting sometimes dull, but that cannot be said of this meeting for the greatest interest, and enthusiasm was manifested until the very last.

The "Call of the Home Land" was very forcibly brought to the ladies of the W. M. U., by Mrs. C. S. Sullivan. Miss Lucile Burriss made it very plain in the paper on "Equipment For the Foreign Field" that there are still many things could be added to the equipment of the Foreign fields in the way of hospitals, school buildings, publishing houses and church buildings.

RAILROAD EXHIBIT CAR

Anderson County Must Make Creditable Showing.

The agricultural department of the chamber of commerce is very anxious to have all farmers who will do so, to bring exhibits to their office of various agricultural products on or before August 1st, to be used as exhibits in the special car which the Atlantic Coast Line railway will operate as an exhibit car through New York and the east this fall, visiting state fairs in all leading eastern cities. Any kind of a good product will do, according to J. W. Rothrock, agricultural demonstrator jointly for the United States government and the chamber of commerce. All farmers in this county who desire to do so are asked to send in exhibits of cotton, grain, fruits, etc. A card will be attached to same.

The chamber of commerce is anxious to have Anderson county well represented in this exhibit car, and if the farmers will assist, the county should be well represented. All products desired to be exhibited can be left at the rooms of the chamber of commerce or with Mr. Rothrock.
