THE FARMERS UNION TO MEET WEDNESDAY

DELEGATES FROM ALL PARTS OF STATE EXPECTED

VISIT TO CLEMSON

The Program Will Be Very Interesting--National President Barrett Is Expected

The annual meeting of the State Farmers' Union will be held in this city beginning Wednesday, J. Whittier Reid, the state secretary, is expected heretoday to make arrangements for the delegates. E. W. Dabbs of Sumter is state president. A very interesting program has been arranged, including a trip to Clemson College. It is expected that between 80 and 100 delegates will be here from all parts of the state.

It is said that the Anderson meeting will be an important one. Many matters of great importance to the members were left unfinished at the meeting held last year, and those, with new matters, will be disposed of here. The attendance in Anderson is expected to exceed the attendance at any former meeting of the union.

President Barrett of the national union is expected to be present during the sessions.

The Program. The following announcement has been made by order of the state executive committee of the union:

"It is the purpose of the officers of the State Farmers' Union to make this annual meeting a 'heart' to heart' conference on the good that the farmers' union has done in South Carolina and on plans for its increased usefulness. To this end we request every local union in the state to be in good standing and to have one or more members attend the state union meeting as well as the usual delegates to which the county unions are entitled. We have not invited distinguished speakers to address the state union either on co-operation or the many topics of good farming that make a farmers' institution helpful, believing that in thus turning over the sessions of the meeting to those who have made the union what it is, and who are working for its future, more good will result than by any addresses however brilliant or distinguished the speakers may be. This Anderson meeting, held in the county where the first local union was organized in South Carolina, is to be a meeting of, and by, and for the people. It rests with the rank and file of the membership all over the state to make it a success that will mark a long step in advance by the farmers' union in South Carolina.

Wednesday, July 22, 8:30 p. m.—Enrollment of delegates, addresses of president, report of secretary-treasurer report of executive committee.

Thursday, July 23, 9 a. m.—What the union has accomplished since it was organized. 1. Reports from local unions. 2. Reports from county unions. 3. Reports from state officers. 10 a. m. Visit to Clemson College. Return to Anderson by 6 p. m. Reports concluded and remainder of the meeting devoted to the questions: 1. Is the union worth while? 2. What is being done to increase its membership and enlarge its usefulness? (a) Discussions by local unions; (b) discussions by county unions; (c) discussions by state officers.

Friday, July 24, 9 a. m.—Discussion concluded. 12 p. m. Election of officers, an installation; place of meeting; adjournment at will.

Y., and he says the results are even better than expected. He has carried as many as seven passengers in trial flights. Lieutenant Porte and Designer Glenn H. Curtiss have discussed the feasibility of holding a trial flight to test the ability of the engine of the America to run for twenty hours, the time it must remain in the air in order to reach the Azores. Victor B. Cheshire Requests Opportunity to Deny Rumor.

Col. Victor B. Cheshire has handed The Intelligencer the following statement with reference to some rumors he has heard:

"It is much more merciful to stab a man in the bosom with a dagger than to stab his reputation in the back and lie on him. It is being circulated over Anderson county that I have turned against Bleese. The parties who originated this are a set of contemptible liars. I am for Bleese and will vote for him on August 25th if I am able to get to the ballot box. While I do not sanction everything that the governor does, and have never hesitated to speak out in meeting when I cared to, Bleese is my man when he goes to Washington as choice for the senate for the reason that he will put South Carolina on the people's representative."

English Agriculture.

As Somersetshire is devoted chiefly to dairying, cattle raising and sheep-herding the Somerset horned sheep, the Devon long wools, and the hardy Exmoor breed are there found in perfection, as well as herds of nonpedigreed shorthorns for the production of the famous Cheddar cheese. Agriculture is extensively carried on in Gloucestershire and Wiltshire also, but one does not there find the variety of Somerset.—London Mail.
