STOCKS AND BONDS

European War Confirmation Caused Panic Unequalled Since 1907.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, July 28.—To find a parallel for the panic conditions which swept over today's stock market it is necessary to go back to the autumn of 1907, when securities values crumbled away because of disastrous domestic conditions. The impelling factor today is the crisis in Europe, which reached its climax in Austria's declaration of war against Serbia.

The shrinkage of values was materially assisted by short selling and impaired margins. Canadian Pacific fell until it yielded a total of 19 3/4 points with 4 to 6 point losses in all parts of the internationalist. Appreciable gains were increased by further heavy gold exports to Paris and London. Foreign exchange rates were utterly demoralized. Many brokers declined to make quotations at all.

New York Cotton

New York, July 28.—The much deferred announcement that war between Austria and Serbia had been declared came at noon today with demoralizing effect upon cotton prices which broke 36 to 50 points under last night on the news, or nearly $2 a bale on new crop positions, making new low levels for the present bear movement.

July contracts showed the extreme decline on the theory that spot cotton would be first to feel the effects of European war. Rumors involving other large continental powers in the controversy added to the feverish condition of the afternoon market when trade was on a large scale including heavy liquidation, foreign selling and commission house pressure.

It was feared as a result of the foreign exchange market being more or less disorganized by the European developments there might be unusual large hedge selling in this market as soon as the new crop is ready to move. Domestic crop news was distinctly bullish, including an absence of rain in Texas and an unfavorable weekly weather report in which Texas cotton was said to be deteriorating badly.

The forecast of cloudy conditions in Western Texas relieved the situation somewhat in the late forenoon, but many unfavorable crop advices were privately received from various parts of both the eastern and western belts.

It was said that the south Texas and South Georgia had made offers of new crop cotton for September shipment to some of the local spot people and that this cotton had been offered to Liverpool but without producing results. The Liverpool market was excited over the war news and Liverpool houses sold quite freely on this side.

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, July 28.—War news forced the price of cotton down 38 to 39 points today, the market closing easy at practically the lowest levels of the day. The opening was at a decline of 4 to 6 points and the market remained down throughout the session.

There were several partial recoveries but each unfavorable rumor and report stimulated fresh selling and caused the decline to widen.

The market fell to its lowest level on rumors that Russia had declared war on Austria. The market took rather calmly the declaration of war by Austria on Serbia and even reacted after the first burst of selling.

The tone was fairly steady during the greater part of the day because of buying by shorts who wanted to realize profits and also because of weekly weather and crop reports from the government, which were rather more unfavorable than expected in their comment regarding the effect of drought in various sections of the belt.

Cotton futures easy. Closing bids: July 12.50; August 12.22; October 11.91; December 11.60; January 12.00; March 12.09.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged. Sales on the spot 160 to arrive noon.

Cotton Goods

New York, July 28.—Cotton goods markets were quiet today. Silk buyers were instructed to move carefully. Ribbons were active. Men's wear lines both plain and fancy are being opened steadily.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, July 28.—Cotton seed oil was strong for nearby deliveries on active covering of shorts and professional buying, inspired by the strength in lard. Late months were only a shade above last night. July shorts paid up to 7.35 for that delivery. Final prices were 1 to 12 points net higher. Sales 13,700 barrels.

The market closed firm. Spot 7.00 bid; July 6.90 1/2; August 7.02 1/2; September 7.08 1/2; October 6.77 1/2; November 6.54 1/2; December 6.54 1/2; January 6.54 1/2; February 6.57 1/2; March 6.57 1/2.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, July 28.—Cotton spot irregular. Good middling 7.61; middling 7.13; low middling 6.65. Sales 6,000; speculation and export 500. Receipts 8,000.

Grain & Provisions

Chicago, July 28.—War excitement today resulted in wheat transactions far up in the millions and in a swift rise of values. The market closed feverish at the topmost point reached, 8 1/4 to 9 1/4 above last night. Other net gains for the day were:

Corn 1 1/2 to 2 1/4; oats 1 1/4 to 1 5/8 and provisions generally 3 to 27 1/2.

Money On Call

New York, July 28.—Mercantile paper 5. Sterling, unsettled, 67 days 4.58; demand 491.5; 182 50. Commercial bills 4.50. Bar silver 53 3/8. Mexican dollars 41. Government and railroad bonds weak.

Call money firmer, 2-14 1/2; ruling rate 2 1/4; closing 2-14 1/2. Time loans strong; 60 days 3 1/4; 90 days 3 1/2-3 3/4; eight months 4 1/2.

CROP CONDITIONS

Washington, July 28.—Rain is badly needed by growing cotton in many localities, especially in the southwest, according to the weather bureau's weekly review, issued today. Local showers have maintained the generally good condition of the crop in some sections but in many parts of the central and eastern belt, dry weather has retarded the plant, and in Texas and Oklahoma considerable deterioration resulted from the drought.

Conditions in Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, are summarized as follows: Virginia—Hot, dry weather was unfavorable for the progress of vegetation. Corn, tobacco and garden stuff are at a standstill. Good soaking rains are needed.

North Carolina—The rainfall was generally light, and scattered. Temperatures were high. Cotton has made satisfactory progress and the early planted is fruiting well. Corn and truck need rain.

South Carolina—Excessive heat with nearly unbroken sunshine marked the week. While crops generally are in good condition, plentiful rains are needed everywhere. The army worm is damaging forage in Charleston county.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

Washington, July 28.—Senate met at 11 a. m. Debate was resumed on the trust bills.

Investigation of charges of railroad discriminations in the south was continued before a committee. Republican conferences, decided not to filibuster against the trust bills but to hurry adjournment.

The conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill was adopted. Adopted conference reports on the general deficiency, sundry civil and Indian appropriation bills.

Rescued at 5:50 to 11 a. m. Wednesday. House met at noon.

Consideration of conference reports on appropriation bills was resumed. Operation of the "picking board" were further investigated by the naval committee.

The sundry civil conference report was accepted and the general deficiency report was considered. Representative Kahn, introduced a resolution to invite foreign delegates to the international engineering congress in San Francisco in September, 1915.

All further proceedings in the lobby investigation were dropped. Adopted conference reports on general deficiency and sundry civil appropriation bills.

Resumed consideration of general dam bill. Adjourned at 5:10 p. m. to noon Wednesday.

WAR IS DECLARED BY AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

the Russian and French embassies are located.

France Preparing for War. Paris, July 28.—The French government and people appear to be quietly preparing for war, while awaiting Russia's decision. Troop trains are ready and army representatives are on duty in telegraph, telephones and postoffices. The average citizen has read in the newspapers his general instructions concerning mobilization; he long has had his orders instructed precisely when and where to report for service.

The cabinet met late today and received reports of the ministers. Any decisions were kept closely guarded. Abel Ferry, under secretary for foreign affairs, is en route to Dunkirk tonight to meet President Poincaré and Premier Viviani who will arrive there at dawn.

According to what is believed to be responsible opinion there remains the possibility that when Austria has occupied some Serbian territory she will announce her intention not to proceed further, but to hold what she has taken until Serbia gives guarantee that she will observe Austria's wishes. Russia would not then be likely to intervene. It is argued, except diplomatically. Negotiations appear to be going on at present between Austria and Russia.

On the announcement of war tonight Paris became animated. There were patriotic demonstrations in the capital and many other cities throughout the republic, but there were also demonstrations against the war.

Russians Enthusiastic. St. Petersburg, July 28.—The fact that Austria had declared war became known here tonight. Thousands of people then gathered. Cheering wildly, they marched through the main streets to the British and French embassies where there were scenes of enthusiasm. Mounted police eventually scattered the crowds. The Russian government tonight issued the following official communication:

"Numerous recent patriotic demonstrations prove the firm pacific policy of Russia finds a sympathetic echo among all classes. The government hopes, nevertheless, that the expression of feeling will not be tinged with enmity against the powers with whom Russia wishes to remain at peace."

High Prices Cause Row. Vienna, July 28.—An abnormal rise in the prices of provisions today caused great indignation on the part of the public who flocked to the markets to lay in stores. Vegetables in many cases troubled in price. Pooling ran so high that in many instances stall keepers in the markets were mobbed and the police were called out to restore order.

Official arrangements have been made to take care of the families of reservists called to the colors. It is reported that Emperor Francis Joseph has ordered the court removed from Ischl to the capital.

What Newspapers Say. London, July 28.—A rumor was current in Paris last night that the German minister in Belgrade had been assassinated, inquiry, however, disclosed that the minister had merely left Belgrade for Nish.

The correspondent of The Daily Chronicle at Semlin, telegraphing Tuesday, said there had been no active hostilities between Austria and Serbia beyond the exchange of shots between river and frontier patrols.

The London morning newspapers fully realize the gravity of the menace threatening Europe. Editorially they admit that Austria is justified in chastising Serbia, but they argue that any attempt to destroy Serbia's sovereign rights would plunge all of Europe into war.

The Daily Mail thinks unless the war is localized, Europe is faced with the greatest catastrophe in its history. The Daily Telegraph considers the German emperor holds the fate of Europe in the hollow of his hand.

The Morning Post in a pessimistic vein asks: "If Austria does not want to annex Serbian territory what is the political purpose of her war? There must be more other motive than mere revenge. It seems that Austria is deliberately challenging Russia with the approval of Germany."

New York, July 28.—Thousands of Serbian and Austrian residents of the United States have placed themselves at the disposal of their respective countries, according to the announcements made today by the consuls here. Telegrams from San Francisco and various cities in the middle states caused the Serbian consul general to estimate that about 10,000 would respond immediately to a call for recruits. At the Austro-Hungarian consulate, it was approximately 15,000 men of all the nationalities that go to make up the Austro-Hungarian Empire had signified their intention of volunteering should they be needed.

The Serbian consul general was notified that 5,000 men at Wilmerding, Pa. were ready to start for home when needed.

Emperors Manifesto. Vienna, July 28.—A manifesto issued by the Emperor after stating it had been his fervent wish to dedicate his declining years to preserving the Empire from its burdens and sacrifices of war, says:

"Providence has decreed otherwise. The intrigues of malevolent enemies compel me in defense of the honor of my monarchy and for the protection of its dignity and the security of its possessions, to grasp the sword after long years of peace."

The manifesto refers to Serbia's ingratitude for the support of the Emperor's ancestors afforded to Serbian independence; how Serbia for years had harbored a "policy of open hostility" to Austria; how Austria's association of Bosnia and Herzegovina called forth in Serbia outbreaks of the bitterest hatred.

with extreme consideration and leniency only requested Serbia to reduce her army to a peace footing and promise to tread the paths of peace and friendship.

Recalling that Austria forboreance two years ago enabled Serbia to reap the fruits of the struggle against Turkey, the emperor adds:

"The design to tear from us by force, insupportable portions of Austria, Hungary has been manifested with ever increasing clearness."

"The manifesto," it adds, "is the criminal propaganda which has extended over the frontier, aiming at the destruction of the foundations of loyalty and exciting growing youth to deeds of madness and high treason."

It continues: "A series of murderous attacks in an unorganized and well carried out conspiracy, whose fruitful success wounded me and my loyal people to the heart, forms a chain of blood track for those secret machinations which were operated direct in Serbia."

Declaring that a plan must be put to these provocations he says: "In vain did my government make a last attempt to insist Serbia to desist. Serbia rejected our overtures. I must therefore, preserve the peace of arms to secure those pledges which some can secure tranquility to new states within and lasting peace without."
