Miss Ross, supervisor of rural schools of Wake county, N. C., is on a visit of ten days to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Neely. Miss Kee's headquarters are at Raleigh, N. C. She has just finished conducting the primary department of the North Carolina summer school at Raleigh. Miss Kee is a native of Rock Hill and was reared in the splendid atmosphere of Winthrop College and it is but natural that she should have succeeded so well. She is a sister of Mrs. Neely.

The extra campaign meetings for county officers arranged by I. T. Holland, candidate for probate judge, have been well attended. The meetings were at night when the mill people are not at work. The probate meeting was transferred to Riverside as the regular meeting at Palmer was thought sufficient.

ELECTRIC CITY SPARKLETS

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

New Building Already Rented.
One of the handsomest business buildings that Anderson has ever had is now rapidly nearing completion—the Watson-Vandiver building on North Main street. This building has large and commodious stores and is a very handsome structure, both inside and out. The brass trimmings for the front, are to cost about $800 and yet remain to be put in position and then the building will be completed. It has been announced that three of the storerooms have already been rented. One will be occupied by the job printing department of The Intelligencer, one will be occupied by John W. Linley, while W. E. Bray will open a handsome soda fountain and ice cream parlor and cigar store in the third. The fourth room has not yet been rented. This is easily one of the prettiest buildings in the city.

Consolidation of Country Schools.
Anderson's county board of education met yesterday morning in the office of J. B. Felton, superintendent of education. The meeting of the board was called for the purpose of considering the advisability of consolidating the Airy Springs, Mountain Springs and Mount Airy schools. All these schools are located in the same section and some believe that it would be a splendid thing for the community if they should be consolidated. However, on the other hand some of the school patrons are opposed to the plan and it was therefore decided at yesterday's meeting that an election would be ordered for the purpose of giving all the patrons of the three schools an opportunity to express their preference.

New Agent.
For P. & N. has been ticket agent for Piedmont & Northern lines in this city since the Interurban made its first run, has resigned the position and has accepted the position as teller with the Farmers and Merchants Bank. Mr. Latimer is a splendid bookkeeper, well known and popular around the city and will make friends with the patrons of the bank. And it is understood that he will be succeeded as ticket agent by W. E. Reddin, now agent at Riverside Junction. The new agent will probably assume his duties tomorrow.

Order Revoked Concerning Cafe.
Sometime ago orders were issued to the effect that hereafter the cafes of the city must be closed at midnight each night. A storm of protest was evoked at the time and Gys Antonikos, proprietor of the Piedmont cafe, secured counsel. His attorneys went before members of the council and convinced them that to issue such an order was a mistake, and it was then revoked. The cafes will now remain open as long as they formerly did, which was about 2 o'clock.

August "Complan" Has Been Issued.
The August issue of the "Complan" made its appearance yesterday and it was a very welcome visitor to the hundreds of homes in the mill villages. This issue is one of the best that the Y. M. C. A. has ever gotten up and it contains a wealth of reading matter. It deals with the Fourth of July celebrations held by the mill people and with the various picnics that have been held this month. The editorial columns contain the announcement that the next issue will be devoted to things educational and for that reason the September issue will be awaited with more than ordinary interest.

Clemson People Visited Anderson.
A party of Clemson people, together with a guest from Omaha, spent part of yesterday in Anderson. Those composing the party were Prof. and Mrs. Henry W. Barre, Prof. Orr Watson and Miss Tillotson from Omaha, a sister of Mrs. Barre. Prof. Barre is State Botanist and he and Mrs. Barre both have many friends here, while Prof. Watson is also popular in Anderson. The party spent the day riding around the city and seeing the sights and they say that Anderson is growing prettier every day.

Columbia People Visiting Relatives.
Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Burtis and son, Charles E., Jr., have been spending sometime in Anderson, the guests of Mrs. Amanda Watson at her home just south of the city. Before her marriage Mrs. Burtis was Miss Watson of this county, and at one time Dr. Burtis was pastor of the First Baptist church of Anderson. He left Edgefield for Columbia and is now pastor of the First Baptist church of the capital city. They have many friends in Anderson and received a hearty welcome here.

Bulley Family To Have Reunion.
One of the most interesting events of the coming month for a number of Anderson people is the Bulley reunion which is to be held at the home of B. J. Poole, three miles north of Anderson, on Thursday, August 6. All members of the family are invited to be present and take part in the pleasures of the day.

Optical Store For South Main Street.
The lot next to Mr. Ortman's Bakery will be improved with a modern two-story building to be used by Dr. I. M. Israelson for his growing optical business. Dr. Israelson has leased the place for a number of years and he will install the latest modern optical instruments for the examination of the eye, he intends to make it one of the best optical parlors in the state.

Kiddies Elated Over Vaudeville.
The children of Anderson and truth to tell, many of the grown folks too, seem to be mightily elated over the announcement that Anderson's motion picture shows are shortly to put on vaudeville attractions in addition to the regular motion pictures, and the children of the city are hard at work at everything promising to yield the coveted coin to enable them to see the first show. Indications are that the opening vaudeville nights will draw bigger crowds than Anderson's motion picture houses have yet been able to show.

Pistol Got Negro Into the Courts.
Not content with simply "tooting" a pistol, Oscar Williams did not think that such an offense against the law was sufficient and proceeded to shoot once or twice. He was promptly seized by the officers of the law and yesterday hauled before Magistrate Broadwell for a hearing. He was tried and found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or to spend the next few days of his valuable time on the rock pile. He paid the ten.

Ralph Smith Fast Improving.
Anderson people will learn with interest that Ralph Smith, a well known young man of this city, is now on the road to recovery after a severe attack of typhoid fever. Mr. Smith was taken to the Anderson county hospital about three weeks ago and has been very ill, but it is said now that his condition is satisfactory and that he will soon be taken to the home of his father, Furman Smith. This will be good news to the young man's friends.

Will Rebuild Burned School.
J. B. Felton, county superintendent of education went to Denver yesterday for the purpose of meeting with the trustees of the Smith school and considering the plan for having a new school building erected. It will be remembered that lightning struck this school three weeks ago and burned the building to the ground. It is planned to begin at once on the erection of a larger and more comfortable school house than the Denver district has had before.

Effect of War Is Felt Here.
The effect of the war in the east has been felt upon local conditions already. Furman Smith for two days has found it almost impossible to get any flour or grain and Mr. Jas. P. Gossett, president of the Brogan mills in the east, has been unable to get the price of cotton and cotton goods. Cotton went down approximately $20 a bale on the New York cotton exchange yesterday, the most marvelous break in the history of cotton.

Completed The Annual Report.
J. B. Felton, county superintendent of education, and his assistants, yesterday completed the annual report of the funds expended in the educational work of the county for the year beginning July 1, 1913 and ending July 31, 1914. The report shows that Anderson's educational institutions are in fine shape and the people of the county have evidence enough that the schools have done enough work in this county during the last year to warrant every expenditure made.

Pendleton People Will Hear Speeches.
Because of the fact that some of the candidates for congress from this district could not reach Pendleton on Monday, August 3, the date for their meeting was changed and both the candidates for congress and the candidates for county offices will address the people of Pendleton on Tuesday, August 4. It is expected that a big crowd will be in attendance.

Back From The French Broad Camp.
Much benefited in health and in knowledge by reason of their stay in the North Carolina mountains, Ben Ledbetter, Leo Seligman, David Raat and Robert Burris have returned to the city from a summer's stay at the French Broad Camp in North Carolina. The Anderson boys say that they never had a better time in their lives than they did on this trip.

Local Stores To Change Managers.
It was announced yesterday that a new manager would assume charge of the A. W. Bailey Five and Ten Cent store in this city next Monday. Carl Madsen, who has been in charge of this popular store has been succeeded by T. A. Hill who comes to Anderson with the highest recommendations in the mercantile business and is said to be very capable.

How To Cure a Sprain.
A sprain may be cured in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle. For sale by all dealers.

WORLD'S MARKETS CLOSED TO AVOID COMPLETE RUIN

believed New York would once more attempt to absorb what the rest of the world chose to thrust on it. The decision, however, was not reached at a meeting of the governing board of the exchange, but in a secluded room at the office of J. P. Morgan & Company.

Like Father, Like Son.
Mr. Morgan, following the example set by his father, when he did so much to stay the panic of 1907, met there a group of the mightiest financiers in New York. There was opposition to the suggestion that the exchange should be closed. Many of the exchange governors who were in constant communication with the group of men in Mr. Morgan's office, scouted the idea.

The debate went on behind closed doors, while all Wall street through which word of the meeting rapidly had spread, waited anxiously for the decision. On the floor of the exchange wildly excited brokers rushed back and forth, shouting. In almost every brokerage house in the street there were crowds of men, some eager for the chance to buy stocks at low prices, others in dread of disaster should the market be opened.

Decided to Close.
Then came the news that Germany had declared a state of war in the empire. Even before this news the decision had virtually been reached. Word went forth that the board of governors had decided to close the exchange.

Mr. Ely made the announcement. A few minutes before ten he mounted the rostrum in the board room. The clamor instantly hushed. The brokers massed in a silent crowd, facing him. As the gong clanged for the opening, Mr. Ely made his brief announcement.

For an instant, while the significance of his words was sinking, there was no sound. Then there came a shout of relief.

A second conference of bankers was held late today in Mr. Morgan's office. but no further action was decided upon. During the day the foremost men of Wall street kept in close touch with one another, in an effort to effect an adjustment of the situation as speedily as possible. It was said that the present position of the banks was unusually strong; that none was in need of assistance and that nothing of an alarming character need be apprehended, whatever the developments in Europe.

"Little Board" Stays Open.
For half an hour the Consolidated Stock Exchange, usually known as the "little board," was the only open securities market of the world. The Consolidated opens half an hour before the New York stock exchange. A comparatively small amount of business was done during the first half hour today, at prices which showed only a small change. The Consolidated closed as soon as word came that the "big board" would not open. The coffee exchange, the produce exchange and the metal exchange quickly followed suit.

The stock exchange took steps early in the day to discourage in every way possible the formation of an outside market for its securities by venture some or irresponsible traders. It issued a notice to members pointing out that the constitution prohibits dealing on any other exchange in the city or publicly outside of the exchange, either directly or indirectly, in securities listed or quoted on the exchange. Private transactions, it is believed, will continue in moderate volume as long as the exchange remains closed.

Foreign exchange was more demoralized than ever before, but it did not prevent the engagement of more gold to the extent of about $3,550,000; all for London, it is said.

Excessive Insurance Rates.
Bankers took up the matter of gold exports in several conferences today and a meeting of foreign exchange bankers will be called shortly to consider the proposition of cancelling or at least postponing the fulfillment of future contracts in exchange. Insurance companies continued to ask $10,000 per million and even this selected some risks. It was declared that the whole question of gold exports took a new phase when it became known that ships of the English, German and French lines would be pressed into service of their respective governments in case of hostilities.

All problems arising from the status of call loans were solved when it became known that loans of character accounts made before the closing of the stock exchange, hold over automatically, until operations there are resumed.

Two good things North Anderson has done for Anderson—

1st— It has given the young men of Anderson an opportunity of owning homes in a most desirable neighborhood—at a modest cost.

2ND— It has relieved in a measure the scarcity of houses for rent, thus giving the new comer a chance to get a place to live.

MANY NEW HOMES NOW BEING BUILT

West End Portion of City is Rapidly Becoming a Little City Within Itself

Marked progress is to be seen on every hand in Anderson and building activity is by no means confined to the business district of the city. In all parts of the city new homes are now going up and houses appear, almost overnight, where none formerly stood. The city is not on a boom, but is making steady progress ahead and the population is increasing at a very rapid rate.

Those who have been all over the city within the past few days say that one of the most interesting portions of the city is West End. This part of Anderson was practically nothing but a waste spot until the land was bought some time ago by the Anderson Real Estate and Investment Co., and they paid for the land exactly ten times what it brought ten years ago and cut it up into 50 lots and then began to improve it. Since that time, they have sold 24 of the lots and now eight houses have been erected and are in course of construction. By reason of their selling method the company has enabled many a man to own his own home.

This is merely one portion of progressive Anderson. Dozens of other sections are making equally as rapid progress and if the present growth continues, Anderson will be a city of 40,000 population within the next five years.
