

"Nuff Sed" THE PALMETTO HAS IT! WHAT? THE BEST VAUDEVILLE IN ANDERSON

To say that the atmosphere in North Anderson is different, that it has a refreshing and freeness to it, that is not to be found in the city, is not merely a talking point but a fact—

Is not this air great! is the way Col. J. N. Brown expressed it while in North Anderson a few days ago.

AS FRANCE SEES IT.

Thinks the War Will be a Short One, and Why. (Paris Dispatch to The New York Sun.)

The general feeling that France is destined during this war to get full revenge for 1870 and the confidence that is expressed on all sides has made a marked impression on all Americans still marooned within the city. The Sun's correspondent has been stopped a dozen times today and asked by American tourists to be sure and mention in his dispatches the fact that French calmness in the presence of a great war is the most noticeable thing about the city and its inhabitants.

Hourly the impression is gaining strength that the war will not last long, cannot last long, because Germany, cut off as she is, will soon be forced to capitulate or starve to death. There is even a well defined feeling here that when the pinch of famine comes, if the Kaiser does not submit of his own accord, he will be forced to do so by popular revolts within his empire.

In this party all the young ladies were from Greenville, S. C. They were Misses Bess Barney, Mrs. A. H. Dean, Miss Ames Grady, Miss Jean Harris, Miss Florida Harris, Miss Etta McGee, Miss Mary McGowan, Miss Tudor Perry, Miss Flavilla Perry, Miss Ellen Perry, Miss Annie Poole, Miss Jennie Porcelyn.

The banks of Anderson have received a supply of the exposition medals and they say that the demand indicates that these medals will all be sold within the next few days.

one thing that the business men of the city gave their attention to and even the war news was relegated to the rear for the day. But for people had time to discuss such a sordid thing as business and the politicians and the near-politicians were in their glory.

Poor Mrs. Brown.

Rudquard Kipling undoubtedly inherits his ready wit from his maternal grandfather, the Rev. George B. Macdonald, a Wesleyan clergyman, whose name as a raconteur and wit has been handed down to posterity.

It was related of this gentleman that in the days when he was courting the lady whom he afterward married, the father-in-law-to-be, an aged Methodist with extremely strict notions in regard to the properties, was injudicious enough on one occasion to enter the parlor without giving any warning of his approach. The consequence was that he found the sweetheart's occupying a single chair.

Deeply shocked by the episode, the old man solemnly said:
"Mr. Macdonald, when I was courting Mrs. Brown she sat on one side of the room and I on the other."

"Well, sir," said young Macdonald, not a bit perturbed, "that's what I should have done if I had been courting Mrs. Brown."

There will be no extra charge for a wife. An extra charge is made only when a room is occupied by two men. The price of each room is posted on the wall so that patrons may know that rates are the same to all. The prices of rooms with bath are: from $1.50 to $5.

A printed notice is posted in each room that salaries are paid to employees and that they are forbidden to receive tips.

The bedrooms have special equipment in the way of running ice water and a vending machine, which supplies these articles for 25 cents each. Tooth brush, tooth powder, cold cream, talc powder, shaving soap and safety razor.

Drinks are served to women in the Pompeian room. Men, unattended by women, are not permitted in the room.

Thieves on the Farm.

In addition to planting only crops which rob their soil of its fertility, some farmers keep on their places large numbers of thieves of the worst sort. Boarder cows, idle hens or mules and other unprofitable animals belong to this class. They consume more than they produce. Then there are the weeds, which spring up behind a farmer's back and will steal the plant food out of the soil if he does not cultivate constantly.
