

ON THE MOVIE SCREEN

SCENE FROM "JIM WEBB, SENATOR."

POLITICS is the theme of "Jim Webb, Senator," a three reel drama in which King Baggot plays the lead. The play shows the rise of a young country lawyer to a place of high power, from which his downfall was about to be accomplished. The woman through whom the schemers thought to control the statesman was saved through love, and the downfall of the lobbyists was made complete.

A woman afflicted with a nervous malady caused her to wink at inappropriate times furnishes the incidents that cause much amusement in "A Troublesome Wink." Victoria Forde plays the principal role, and the wink, as she does it, is distinctly alluring.

Heien Dunbar declares she intends to learn how to cook. Miss Dunbar's maid left her recently, and she has been put to much inconvenience. She says when she learns the mysteries of cooking she will dispense with a maid altogether.

Royal A. Walsh, who plays heavy leads for the Reliance and Majestic Companies, is both a soldier of fortune and an experienced actor. He ran away from home at the age of fifteen and worked his way around the world. His first appearance on the stage was with Robert Mantell's Shakespearean company in Galveston, Tex. Before joining the Mantell company Walsh played baseball for one season with the Galveston team of the Texas league. He is still fond of the national pastime and plays in the California Motion Picture league.

Matty Roubert, the "Universal Boy," recently received a letter from an uncle who owns a theater in Winnipeg and who recognized Matty in a comedy film. The uncle had not been heard from by the family for several years.

Virginia Pearson and Owen Moore play the leading roles in the film version of "Aftermath," the play by Professor Hervey of Columbia university.

DELIA CONNOR.

Delia Connor has had much experience in motion pictures and her friends are numerous all over the country.

Flirting with death seems to have become a popular diversion with Evelyn Selbie. She has been lost in the mountains on horseback alone, rescued from a whirling pool that no one dared to enter but she and she has been the only passenger to occupy a seat on top of an old stagecoach when it took a wild ride through boulder floored rivers in a production called "The Crazy Prospector," some months ago.

M. C. von Betz, while working in the last scene of "Seven Sealed Orders" fell on the stairway and broke his leg. He will be in the hospital for several weeks.

On and Off The Screen

SCENE FROM "PROWLERS OF THE WILD."

"PROWLERS OF THE WILD" is a stirring three reel release in which the capture of jungle beasts in Africa forms the background for a great photo play plot.

Edward Jose, who took the part of Judge Harding in "The Stain" and the Lieutenant in "The Corsair," is taking one of the principal parts in a new picture directed by Frank Powell.

Great-grandfather Huxley, an old soldier, is neglected by his grandson and his wife. He feels he is in the way and seriously contemplates suicide. One night, when the grandson's wife is giving a party, the house catches fire, and the old man rescues their two children from the burning building. The grandson and his wife realize just how much the old man is to them, and they do all in their power to make his last days happy. "At the Foot of the Hill."

Broncho Billy is foreman on Roger Newman's ranch and is in love with his daughter, Mae. Newman finds this out and discharges Broncho Billy and sends Mae to visit his brother in the east. Broncho Billy kidnaps Mae from the stagecoach, and they marry, squatting on Newman's land. Newman finds this out—not that Broncho has married Mae, but that he has squatted on his land. He intends to get even, so takes Mae's pony and puts it in Broncho Billy's corral. He then accuses Broncho Billy of horse stealing and is nonplused. All this occurs in "Broncho Billy Puts One Over."

Sophie Clutts secures a position at the Snakeville hotel as waitress. The men forget their food for Sophie's soothing talk and winning manner until she finally puts the hotel on the blink, in "Snakeville's New Waitress."

MARY FULLER.

Now that Mary Fuller has completed her "Dolly of the Duilies" series she is taking a much deserved rest, but expects to star in another series of feature plays from the pen of Acton Davies in the fall.

In "Getting Solid With Dad" Fred Lusk wants to marry Nell Nelson, but he is not able to get along with her father. A friend gives Fred a fine cigar, which he in turn gives to father. The cigar turns out to be loaded and explodes in the old man's mouth. It looks as if it were all off, but one day Fred finds dad leaning over a bridge rail and tips a thug to throw the old man into the water. He makes a rescue in three feet of water. Father lets Fred and Nell get married then and there.

SCENE FROM "THE WEAKLING."

"THE WEAKLING" is one of the Alice Joyce series and is laid in the Kentucky mountains. Miss Joyce and Tom Moore play the leads.

"The Meal Ticket" is a serio comic exposition of the blessing of work. Colloquially a "meal ticket" describes a means of support and the little show girl was the breadwinner for her busy father and brother. When the income of the two was threatened the brother contrived a scheme, which, strangely enough, resulted in the happiness of all.

"The Man and the Master" shows that in the strife between capital and labor justice may be submerged in personal prejudice, but through the guidance of a higher power man is brought to regard his fellow as a brother, and then it is when we find the realization of the true brotherhood of man.

In "The Tangle" Dolores loves Tom, the American. But she also flirts with Pedro, one of the attendants of the old monk. Tom objects as strenuously as any of the Latin blood. He and Dolores quarrel, and he leaves her. She sees Pedro slip through a gate with a knife in his hand and follows him. As she comes to the gate Pedro is not in sight, and the old monk is apparently dead on a nearby beach, bloodstains lie upon the tiled floor.

Dolores dies to Tom and asks him to kill Pedro for his monstrous deed. Tom soon discovers that Pedro has only killed a chicken, and the quarrel is made up.

"Chip of the Flying U" one of the most popular of the celebrated E. M. Bowers "Flying U" ranch stories, has been filmed. It is a three reel comedy, full of fun and laughter, with Kathryn Williams and Tom Mix portray the leading characters.

M. O. PENN.

M. O. Penn has built up quite a reputation for himself as a dramatic heavy. He also takes occasional leads.

"The Hosts of the Sea" is an oceanograph. On the interesting film under this title appear some of the sea's most grotesque and freakish products. Strange little crustaceans such as the calliana, squilla, dwarf crabs only an inch long, tiny swordfish, etc., are all shown in their native haunts by the aid of really fine photography.

Arrangements have been made for the film production of that charming and most beautiful and inspiring play, "The Roseary," as produced by Rowland and Clifford and played in every large city in the United States.

MARKET REPORT

NEW YORK . . . . .
New York, Aug. 26.—With no material progress expected in the direction of reopening the cotton exchange until after the arrival here of the Liverpool delegation at the end of the week, local brokers were chiefly interested today in discussing the possibility of an effective Southern heading movement under such conditions as suggested by the Washington conference.

COT SEED OIL . . . . .
New York, Aug. 26.—Cotton seed oil was again higher. August selling up 40 points on belated short coverings, while other positions advanced 7 to 18 points on continued good absorption by the consuming interests and inability to secure crude. Final prices were 25 points higher for August and 4 to 15 points up on the balance list. Sales 13,600 barrels.

DRY GOODS . . . . .
New York, Aug. 26.—The demand for bleached and brown cottons showed signs of reviving today. Sheets were in steady demand. Heavy cottons for the bag trade were sold moderately for future delivery. Domestic yarns were quiet, but firm. Fair quantities of burials changed hands for prompt shipment.

CHICAGO GRAIN . . . . .
Chicago, Aug. 26.—Board of Trade markets affected by the war, reacted to new high levels today, led by wheat, which closed 5 1/2 over yesterday. Corn advanced 1 3/8 to 2c, and oats 1 5/8 to 6 1/4; while provisions were 7 1/2 down to 57 1/2 higher.

STOCKS AND BONDS . . . . .
New York, Aug. 26.—Additional steps looking to the relief of the foreign exchange situation were taken by international bankers today but definite details were lacking. It is understood the $3,000,000 of New York city obligations which fall due the first week in September will be met by the purchase of exchange in this market.

Arrangements are under way also to facilitate shipments of grain and other commodities to Europe in larger volume. Some banks have decided to issue long bills against future grain shipments. Most of the grain now going abroad is consigned to France, while England is taking small amounts of cotton.

Prospects of the cotton situation, Southern banks, assets were active borrowers today and aside from numerous renewals of loans which mature between now and the end of the month many new loans were reported. To meet these fresh demands it is likely local banks will have to increase their reserves of emergency funds.

Announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad of its intention to further curtail its passenger service along
