DEEPLY GRATEFUL

I am deeply grateful to th epeople of South Carolina for the magnificent vote given me on Tuesday. In making my race for lieutenant governor. I took an outspoken stand for clean politics and good government in South Carolina, and from every stump I proclaimed the gospel of law and order. I regard my handsome vote as an endorsement of that position.

Getting into the second race with a big vote and good lead, gives me much satisfaction of course, but to know that the principles for which I and others fought have triumphed gives me greater joy. I am willing to trust the people, believing that on September 8th they will make the victory complete.

E. B. C. SNIPES LOST HOME BY FLAMES

Beautiful Country Dwelling Completely Destroyed By Fire Last Night About 11 O'clock

Shortly after 11 o'clock last night Anderson people observed a conflagration to the northwest of the city and investigation revealed the fact that the home of E. B. C. Snipes, about five miles from the city, was in flames. Neighbors gathered from nearby homes and did everything that they could to save the place but the fire had made such progress that the building was doomed.

This was one of the prettiest small country houses in the county. The house was a six-room, one-story building and was modern and complete in every respect. It was probably valued at from $3,000 to $4,000 and the furniture lost last night adds to this loss. It is understood that Mr. Snipes carried some insurance on the building.

It was impossible to learn last night anything concerning the origin of the fire and it is hardly probable that members of the Snipes family can throw any light on the origin of the fire, as they had already retired.

CHICORA COLLEGE

Will Reopen on September Ninth With Increased Enrollment.

Greenville, Aug. 28.—Chicora College opens September the 9th at 10 o'clock. If any pupils who expect to attend have not yet applied, they will please notify the president at once.

The summer has been spent on the campus in painting, calcimining and general repair work. The buildings have been thoroughly gone over and every room freshened up. The College has never been in better condition for an opening.

A full school is expected as usual. A very large per cent of the pupils of last year will return and about the usual number of new applications have been received.

Nearly all of the members of the last year's faculty will return and in addition to these there will be, Miss Lillian L. Swygert of Columbia; Miss Mary Epps Robertson of Virginia; Miss Ida Patrick of Clinton; Miss Pearl Reeves of Ridgeway and Miss Joanne V. Perry, of Greenville.

The prospects are very good for a very pleasant and successful year. Chicora has had a remarkable growth and is limited in its number of pupils only by a limitation of its dormitory capacity. When it moves into the new plant on a large campus, as it is hoped will soon be done, it will continue to grow and to increase its usefulness.

The college is on a 14-unit basis for entrance and is the only college for women owned and controlled by the Presbyterian church in South Carolina.

It has a loyal constituency, a loyal student body, loyal alumnae, and is looking to the future with great promise.

At The Theatres

Palmetto Theatre. Manager Pinkston, of the Palmetto Theatre, is to be commended upon the splendid attractions that he has succeeded in bringing to Anderson. Last night saw the close of the best week the Palmetto has as yet experienced. The Crawford & Humphreys' Ton Girls were the drawing card all of last week. The shows were clean, classy and up-to-date in every respect. The popularity of this troupe was proven by the large attendance at each performance. Seats were at a premium after the first performance. For this week the Palmetto has a double bill. Two separate troupes that come with the highest recommendations are the features of the week at the Palmetto. See ad. at top of page 8 of this issue for full particulars.

Bijou Theatre.

The Leroy Osborne Musical Comedy Co. completed a weeks stand at the Bijou last night. During the entire week this company has played to a packed house. Manager Bristow promises something good for this week. A big company in Tablett will furnish the amusement for theatre-goers at the Bijou the entire week. From posters and descriptive letters sent in advance, the show this week at the Bijou promises to be the best that has yet been put on at this popular playhouse.

BARBED WIRE DID NOT WORRY THEM

Police Had Busy Time Trying to Bring Crap Shooters In and Then Let One Get Away

The police officers "sussed a rat" last night when it was reported to them that several negroes were gathered at the home of Frank Johnson on Daniels street. Officers Aiken, Gunter, Sanders and Stewart set out for Daniels street and when they arrived there they found a game of "skin" going on in earnest. The officers made a sudden swoop into the room and it is said that negroes scattered in every direction. One officer said that he distinctly saw a negro carry an entire sash out of a window with him, and notwithstanding the fact that there was a heavy barbed wire fence just outside the windows, every negro took a jump. The officers succeeded in catching four of the gamblers while four others got away but the policemen say that the four at large are so badly cut up from the contact with the barbed wire that they will yet be caught.

The officers started for town with their prisoners and as they passed a meat market on Main street they observed a negro woman on the floor of the place, dead drunk. She too was taken in charge and carried to the city hall.

While the officers were getting the cois assigned for their prisoners they neglected their captives and Bank Black, one member of the party made a successful break for liberty. He got out of the chief's office in the city hall into the street before the officers knew that he was gone and succeeded in making a get-away, but the officers say that they will have little difficulty in apprehending him today.

CLEMSON "BOYS" ARE HAVING GREAT TIME

ALL ENJOYING RETURN TO COLLEGE

BUSY SESSIONS

Lyceum Course, Band Concerts, Ball Games and Other Events Occupying Attention

Many are the tales coming to Anderson of the big time that the 500 Clemson students of days gone by, are having at the famous old institution this week. Men from every part of the state are present for the home coming and every minute of every day is taken up with some pleasant event.

The clans have gathered and the fun is on. Hundreds of old Clemson men are there from all parts of South Carolina and of this nation, and men representing every profession and calling in which real men take part. The men look prosperous and happy. That they love Clemson is shown in many ways. In fact their presence there shows that they are loyal. Not a single long face has yet made its appearance. The men all are tagged with the college colors pinned on with the famous tiger head, and they all tell their names when they meet. In groups of varying size they gather and pass the time between student numbers on the regular programme.

There were moving pictures on the parade ground last night, and a large crowd enjoyed the amusing scenes presented. In barracks last night some were "turned" or in the old days when having was indulged in at Clemson. Much time was taken up in telling of the various stunts that were pulled off. Old fights were recounted, sometimes by the very men who faced and defaced each other "Behind Barracks." And strange to say, each fellow is now anxious to give the other credit for putting up the better fight.

The chapel exercises yesterday morning were conducted by Professor C. M. Furman, one of the five members of the faculty who were there at the opening of the college. The exercises were after the fashion of twenty years ago. This morning the exercises will be conducted as they have been during the past year. There will be singing, the giving of the news of the day by Col. Josiah Cummins, and the regular scripture reading and prayer by Professor W. S. Morrison.

President Riggs made a most appropriate and happy opening address yesterday morning, speaking out of a heart full of joy at the sight of so many loyal sons of Clemson. He told the old boys of the increased affection they always had for the members of the faculty after the separation at graduation, and of how the faculty are so ready to forgive any little annoyance they may have felt when the boys were cadets.

The five men who were at Clemson at the opening of the college are Dr. F. H. E. Sloan, so long treasurer; Col. M. B. Hardin, Professors C. M. Furman, W. S. Morrison, and R. N. Brackett. These are to be the receiving line along with the president. The love the old boys have for these men was evidenced yesterday morning when the audience broke into applause as soon as Professor Furman arose to conduct the morning worship. President Riggs also came for a hearty round of applause when he arose to make the announcements for the day.

There are so many events of interest that it will be impossible to chronicle them all. A picture of interest is that posted by C. H. Snider, of Horry, showing the burning of the main college building May 22, 1894. A photographer by the name of Pater-son happened to be here and he secured a very large picture. Many of pictures are being shown, some of which should be collected for the museum.

The Alkahest Band of Atlanta is furnishing free concert. Marvin Williams, a noted humorist, gave a lecture yesterday morning that kept his large audience in a roar of laughter much of the time. Powell Hale and the Benton Lyrics will give entertainments tomorrow morning and evening respectively. There will be band concerts morning, afternoon and evening every day. A baseball game between the ancients and the Medicevals will be played tomorrow afternoon, and a game between the victors and the Moderns will also take place tomorrow. There are several athletes of note in attendance.

CONDENSED PASSENGER SCHEDULES PIEDMONT AND NORTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY. Effective August 16, 1914. Anderson, S. C. Not a "Little Known" Smith. In rejoicing over the defeat of Governor Cole Blease of that state for the Democratic nomination for United States senate, in South Carolina, a Pittsburgh contemporary announced this amusing discovery: The successful candidate is one Smith, a member of the state senate, little known, but recognized in the state as a supporter of respectability. What! Ellison DuRant Smith a member of the state senate and "little known!" Alas, for fame and the only Democratic member of the United States senate who, when the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was in debate for amendments, did not at some stage or another vote to protect an industry in which his state was interested! All the others flew the revenue only or free trade track when the tariff became a local issue, but Senator Smith, being a raw cotton man, and no duty either proposed or necessary on that product, was able to see his way clear right through. Speeches he made, moreover, and his clarion voice might have been heard almost to Pittsburgh, so penetrating is it and so freely did he use it. The idea of saying Senator Smith is "little known!" He is one of the most regular members of that body in attendance, a hard worker, one of the five Smiths of the senate and chairman of the immigration committee. He is the son of a minister and the brother of a bishop and of a presiding elder. He is a merchant and a planter, a former member of the legislature, and has been in the senate five years. He "became a national figure" on account of his activity from foot forward in various cotton associated movements to protect the crops, to prevent ruinous speculation and to assist growers in raising and handling that staple. This is the second time he has gone into a senatorial primary, the first one being in 1908, when he had a majority of nearly 30,000. He was but 30 years old when he went to the legislature and not 43 when he entered the senate. Finally, if he had never done anything else but keep Cole Blease out of Washington, that is a public service to the nation of positive merit. —Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.
