SHERLOCK HOLMES, JR., MAN OF MYSTERY, STRANGER IN CITY

He Will Mingle With The People And Is To Be Seen During Waking Hours. Magic Words That Will Capture Him.

The Anderson Intelligencer vouches that Sherlock Holmes, Jr., the man of mystery is a total stranger in Anderson and he is the same gentleman who has been impersonating the part in various cities where the proposition has been worked.

You are the mysterious Sherlock Holmes, Jr., of the Anderson Daily Intelligencer?

These are the magic words with which to make this mysterious gentleman acknowledge his identity and receive $25 cash from The Intelligencer for your trouble.

How to Use Sentence.

In using the above sentence, no words must be added or taken from or arrangement changed. They must be said exactly as published, otherwise Mr Holmes will not acknowledge his identity. Simply go up to the man you suspect and holding the last issue of the Anderson Daily Intelligencer in your hand use the sentence as above published, and this paper vouches that Mr. Holmes will immediately acknowledge his identity, and the money will be promptly paid even should you get the right man within fifteen minutes after the contest starts.

When Sherlock Holmes, Jr., arrives in Anderson he will make himself very much at home. You are liable run across this elusive gentleman in the most unexpected places, for Mr. Holmes is a sociable fellow and is never so happy as when mingling with the people. You may meet him in the post-office, stand near him in any number of the prominent mercantile houses, sit near him in the play house and, in fact, meet him anywhere and everywhere.

A Run for Your Money.

That you will have a run for your money goes without saying. Mr. Holmes will not be captured without an effort. He has traveled far and has operated in many cities, going for nine days in Memphis, Tenn., with thousands of people looking for him, for over two weeks in Richmond, Va., while in a smaller city in a neighboring state, the authorities even employed a Pinkerton man to round up Mr. Holmes, and even he did not succeed in doing so until the night of the last day of the contest.

Sherlock Holmes, Jr., will tell you through the columns of The Intelligencer each day where he goes, whom he sees, what he does, and in fact gives you each day a complete history of his doings the day previous and in many ways, to be announced later, gives you opportunities to capture him.

Remember, now, The Intelligencer vouches that Sherlock Holmes, Jr., The Man of Mystery is a total stranger in Anderson. That he comes here solely for this contest and that all statements by this paper in regard to him are absolutely correct.

There is but one genuine Sherlock Holmes, Jr., and he is the gentleman who is coming to Anderson for the Daily Intelligencer.

Keep your eye on this paper, for The Man of Mystery will be circulating among you almost before you know it.

ELECTRIC CITY SPARKLETS

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

Change Occurred In City Officers.

Yesterday was Sept. 1, the date set aside for the city officers to lay down their duties as such or to assume their new duties, as the case might be. All of the transfers of duty took place, and today there are several new men to be seen on the police force, while a few familiar faces are absent. Dr. John P. Majer has assumed his duties as city meat and milk inspector, succeeded by Dr. J. C. Mitchell and J. W. Sammonds has taken up the duties as chief of police, succeeding Chief W. C. Lee. Several other changes have already taken place. The new officials were sworn in at the city hall yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock and short addresses were delivered by the mayor and other city officials, in which they assured the new members that they were ready to stand behind them in what they did.

Wants Tigers To Serve Their Time.

A reporter for The Intelligencer, in discussing the liquor question with Solicitor Kurtz P. Smith, yesterday asked the solicitor if he favored putting these cases under the jurisdiction of the Magistrates. Mr. Smith says that it would not be a good plan and believes that instead of helping the situation it would do harm. He says that the only possible way for South Carolina to ever settle the problem of handling the liquor cases is to amend the law so that when a defendant is convicted for the second time on a charge of selling liquor, it will not be possible to impose a fine. Instead of this, the law will read so that the prisoner will be sentenced to serve a term in the county changing or in jail. Solicitor Smith believes that this will settle the question and to a large extent do away with liquor selling and many seem to agree with him.

To Serve Sentence For Breaking Law.

Six negroes were taken from the city jail to the changing yesterday morning, all of them to serve time for playing "skin" and one of them to serve an additional ten days for resisting arrest. These negroes were rounded up Sunday afternoon on the charge of gambling and the following were sentenced to serve for the next 30 days on the roads of Anderson county: John White, Jeff Lee, Haskell Davis, Will Walker and Doc Williams. When the officers flushed the bunch Charles Young fought a hand-to-hand battle with Officer Sanders before submitting to arrest and he was accordingly sentenced to serve for 40 days on the public works. The negroes around town have reached the point where they are afraid to rattle a "set of bones" at all.

Poor People Had Big Night.

The evening which the officers of the local Salvation Army post arranged for the poor people of the city was the big success of the week and Ensign Belcher was yesterday congratulating the other members of the post on what they were able to do. Mr. Belcher estimates that over 200 gathered at the Salvation Army hall for the evening and listened to the program, which consisted of songs and recitations and addresses. Following this, ice cream and soft drinks and sandwiches were served. Mr. Belcher said yesterday that the people of the city responded very liberally indeed to his request for funds, with which to stage the event, and he desired to thank them most heartily for the help they had given. It is probable that another such evening may be arranged at an early date.

Instructor Here From Kentucky.

Prof. R. E. Tucker, who is a member of the faculty of the Kentucky Military Institute, located at Lyndon, in the suburbs of Louisville, has arrived in Anderson to visit his father, G. L. Tucker. Prof. Tucker is instructor in mathematics and says that he likes his position here. He was a graduate of the Citadel in the class of '91 and is an able military school man.

Janitor's Job Is Much Desired.

Judging from the number of applications received for the position of janitor at the Anderson county court house, the position must be a lucrative one. It was said yesterday that over fifty applications had been received and every day more people call and inquire as to how to get the job. W. A. Clamp, formerly janitor at this building, resigned in order to accept a position on the police force and since that time the county board has not been in session and therefore no successor to Mr. Clamp has yet been chosen. The board will meet next Monday and at that time they will select some man out of the 50 to get the job.

Calvin Pleaded With Anderson.

Paul H. Calvin, one of the live stock agents of the live stock department of Clemson college, was in Anderson yesterday and while here told a reporter for The Intelligencer that he was well pleased indeed to learn that a stimulus had been lent the livestock industry in this county and that an Anderson county exhibit is to be held. He spoke in the highest terms of the Anderson county farmers. Mr. Calvin came to this country several months ago and lent assistance to the livestock dealers and raisers and he was warmly welcomed yesterday.

Fall Changes Are Being Made.

The merchants in this section of the country and all other business men usually make their changes, when there are any of any importance, on the first day of what is properly termed the fall season and therefore yesterday brought some new faces to some of the establishments of the city while the other establishments have changed their bases of operations and are now located in new buildings. With the number of stores now being completed, it is probable that other changes will soon occur.

Campain Party Had Big Time.

For the last ten days a party of Anderson people have been enjoying life at White Water Falls, where they established what was known as the "Anderson Camp." All the people in the party were from this city and the congeniality and comradeship made the occasion more pleasant than it might otherwise have been. Among those composing the party were: Mrs. Robert Ligon and Miss Mae Ligon, Mrs. J. E. Sadler and Miss Mary Sadler, Miss Linda Thompson, Miss Linda Anthony and Messrs Ligon, Marshall and Fant.

First "R" Month Has Brought Oysters.

There is an old saying that oysters are only good to eat in the months beginning with the letter "R" and the cafe keepers of Anderson seem to think that this is true. The first fresh oysters to be put on the local market this season were advertised yesterday in Anderson cafes and the proprietors of the places say that they had a number of calls for the dishes during the day. Possibly the oysters are good to eat in September but a majority of the people of the city will prefer to wait until cooler weather arrives before they undertake any of them.

Regular Meeting of Philatheas.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Philatheas class of the First Presbyterian church will be held on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock with Mrs. Bennett Thompson on North Main street. All members are urged to be in attendance as this will be a meeting of importance and of more than ordinary interest.

Capt. Richards Is To Speak Saturday.

Mr. Hancock Is In Second Race.

Owing to some mistake in counting the votes cast for commissioner in district No. 1, the statement has appeared that Lawrence McGee was declared elected. This was an error, as Mr. McGee will have to run a second race for commissioner of district No. 1 with J. H. Hancock. The county secretary and the county chairman both regret that the mistake was made and it was not made with any intention of injuring Mr. Hancock's candidacy.

Has Entered The Real Estate Field.

H. G. Love, who has been connected with the J. Furman Evans Real Estate agency, has resigned that position and yesterday opened offices in the new Watson-Vandiver building on Main street. Mr. Love plans to deal in real estate of all kinds, but he will make a specialty of farm lands and he expects to do an extensive business in this line. He has had considerable experience in the real estate field and friends of his say that he will be in business for himself.

Capt. W. C. Willis Here Yesterday.

Capt. W. C. Willis of Yorkville, passed through Anderson yesterday on route to Atlanta. Capt. Willis is touring with his family and they plan to spend several days in Atlantic City. It will be remembered that the Yorkville man was a candidate for the office of Adjutant General of South Carolina in the recent primary election and he made a splendid run although he was defeated by the incumbent, Gen. W. W. Moore.

New Salesman Is In The City.

K. O. Wright arrived in Anderson yesterday from Greenville and began his duties as one of the salesmen for the Moore-Wilson Company. The new man has had much experience in the mercantile business, having held responsible positions in Greenville and also in Atlanta. The local firm feel that they were fortunate in being able to secure him.

Mauldin Company Will Do Wiring.

The Mauldin Electric Company, of Anderson was yesterday awarded the contract for wiring Ligon & Ledbetter's handsome new building on Main street, which will soon be completed. The contract is for about $700. Anderson people are beginning to realize that they can get local firms to do their work as well or better, than most of the out-of-town people. The Sullivan Hardware Company got the plumbing contract.

GERMANS PRAISED BY AMERICANS

Tourists Claim Only Courteous Treatment While in the German Empire

Rotterdam, Aug. 21.—Americans who find themselves in Germany during the first days of the European war were in no wise molested and the German government took every step to protect them. This is the substance of statements made here by Americans returning from Germany.

Several instances of abuse and personal danger were recorded but in every case the excitement to the declaration of war, mobilization and resulting high spirits of the people were responsible. Then, too, the few cases recited to the Associated Press correspondent occurred in out of the way places, and persons touring the empire in automobiles were the principal sufferers. German villagers unable to distinguish the Americans from the English stoned travellers, threatened them and molested them in the hotels, but as soon as it had been made clear that the victims of their wrath were Americans the most complete apologies were offered. In most cases the offenders were immediately arrested and summarily punished.

On August 5, the German emperor himself is said to have issued a decree according to which the burgomasters all over the empire were to be held personally responsible for harm befalling all foreigners, especially the Americans.

REVIVAL AT PENDLETON

Dr. Patent of Furman Is Preaching Some Great Sermons.

Rev. T. L. Smith, pastor of the Baptist church in Pendleton, writes The Daily Intelligencer:

"Dr. Edwin M. Foteat, president of Furman University, Greenville, is with us here now doing the preaching in a revival meeting with the Baptist church. He preached a great sermon this morning on the subject of prayer. It goes without saying that we are in line to receive many good things this week. Services, morning 10:30; evening 8:15. Public is cordially invited to attend these meetings till the house is full."
